

Following procedures prevents fines

By SUZANNE METSCHER

Before leaving Texas A&M for the summer, on-campus residents should follow certain procedures to avoid fines.

All residence halls and lounges will close May 10 at 6 p.m. for the summer break.

On-campus students must list room damages on inventory cards before they check out. This card will be compared with the inventory card the student filled out at the beginning of the semester in order to determine damages he will be responsible for.

The student may be charged the following fines:

- A $15 fine for failure to turn in room keys. The fine will not be refunded even if the key is found and returned.
- A $25 fine for failure to clear the room properly. This fine includes failure to sign inventory card, vacate the residence hall at closing time or check out with a staff member.
- A $10 to $20 fine for failure to clean the room properly. This fine depends on the condition of the room and includes failure to remove trash or discard property.
- A fine for failure to dismantle lofts, missing furniture, or properly maintain the phone and the room will depend on the extent of the damage.

Glenn Ferris, housing operations supervisor, says that not only should the students' rooms be clean, but they will be fined for dumping their trash or furniture in the halls.

To avoid a $20 reconnection charge, students who have long distance service with General Telephone Co. need to advise the company of any plans to remain in the same room for the summer sessions, Ferris says.

All phones will be disconnected May 10.

The cancellation deadline for on-campus housing for the first summer session is May 30, the second summer session is July 6 and the fall semester is June 1.

If a student forfeits his summer deposit, his fall reservation will automatically be cancelled.

To speed up checkout, Ferris says 30 minute loading zones will be established during finals week. All other rules regarding motor vehicles and bicycles will remain in effect.

A memorandum will be sent to the 5,000 dormitory rooms and will outline the checkout procedure in detail.

FBI investigates gunshot fired at district judge

Associated Press

WACO — A shot was fired at U.S. District Judge Walter S. Smith Jr. of Waco but the judge was unharmed, the FBI said Wednesday.

The FBI agent in charge of the investigation refused to comment further on the Tuesday night incident other than to say there was an "ongoing investigation."

Smith, who became a federal judge in December after serving almost two years as a U.S. magistrate in Waco, referred questions about the incident to the FBI.

John W. Dalseg, special agent in charge of the FBI in San Antonio, was meeting with the judge Wednesday evening in Smith's Waco office.

"I'm not going to comment other than to acknowledge that a shot was fired at the judge last night," Dalseg said.

Smith was the indirect target of a death threat last year made by a man who told a telephone operator that he was going to kill a federal judge.

who has spent four years in the Corps and has earned a commission in one of the U.S. Armed Forces.

Final Review, another Corps tradition, will take place on the Main Drill Field Saturday at 3:30 p.m.

Two military reviews will be held. In the first, the cadets march in their positions held during the 1984-85 school year. In the second review, each cadet makes his first appearance in the role he will assume for the 1985-86 school year, passing in review for the graduating class. This is the only time the Corps marches without a freshman class.

Another Corps of Cadets tradition, Boot Dance will be held Saturday from 8 p.m. to midnight in 212 MSC. This is the second time — the first being Final Review — that a junior cadet is allowed to wear his senior boots.
