Police say exhumed body is Mengele's

Associated Press
SAO PAULO, Brazil — A West German consular official Wednesday said his country's police were convinced the body unearthed near here two weeks ago was that of fugitive Nazi war criminal Josef Mengele.

An official from the consulate said, "Our experts are 99 percent sure that the body dug up at Embu is Josef Mengele."
The official requested anonymity, saying his information should be attributed to "West German consular officials" since he was not authorized to release the evidence.

Brazilian, West German and American experts have been working to positively identify a body exhumed June 6 from a grave in a small town near Sao Paulo.

He said the West German police, three of whom are in Sao Paulo, had "two dozen indicators and all of them were positive, the pattern of the story, the testimony, what was found in the grave."

Brazilian police have said they were "90 percent sure" the remains belonged to Mengele, who is blamed for sending more than 400,000 people to their deaths at the Auschwitz extermination camp during World War II.

West German authorities have said they were awaiting further evidence before declaring an opinion.

History today

Associated Press
Today is Thursday, June 20, 1985. On this date:
In 1837, Queen Victoria ascended to the British throne following the death of her uncle, King William IV.
In 1893, a jury in New Bedford, Mass., found Lizzie Borden innocent of the murders of her father and stepmother.
In 1980, boxer Roberto Duran scored a unanimous, 15-round decision over Sugar Ray Leonard to win the World Boxing Council welterweight championship in Montreal, Canada.

Navy to court-martial man for negligence

Associated Press
WASHINGTON — The Navy said Wednesday it will court-martial Dr. Donal M. Billig, the former chief of heart surgery at Bethesda Naval Medical Center, on four counts of involuntary manslaughter and 22 counts of dereliction of duty.

The manslaughter counts have been filed in connection with the deaths of four patients while Billig served at the hospital, the Navy said.

In addition, 10 other officers are facing or have already received disciplinary sanctions for their involvement in the recruitment or oversight of Billig.

A Navy statement on the Billig case provided the first official acknowledgement that Billig is suspected of providing inadequate care to patients that might have led to their deaths, but Navy spokesmen refused comment.

All of the disciplinary actions are based on the findings of a special board of review, convened in April by Rear Adm. William M. McDermott Jr. after Billig was relieved of his duties.
