Train from Houston to coast restored

Associated Press

HOUSTON — It's been 20 years since the passenger train running from Houston to Galveston was put to sleep by the Gulf Freeway, but new plans are calling for the rail service to pull out this fall.

That's when Franklin Denson has scheduled his Texas Limited rail car service to begin.

Denson says he isn't daunted by the demise of passenger trains because his service isn't designed to compete with cars. Instead, the Texas Limited will be a rolling museum piece designed strictly for entertainment.

The diesel-electric engines will pull vintage Pullman, dining and club cars refitted for active service from the display yard at Galveston's transportation museum, Denson said.

Museum director Phil Hewitt admits to a slight case of nerves about putting his exhibits back into active service. Hewitt says that the Limited will carry people right into his museum and display the cars in the best possible way.

He calls the line a "rolling advertisement" for the museum.

The train ride between the two cities will run on the existing Santa Fe line and is expected to take about two hours, Denson said.

The investment banker says he's been negotiating for two years to get his dream on track. He has yet to set the cost of the train ride.

Faculty Senate passes scholarship guidelines

By KAREN BLOCH
Staff Writer

The Texas A&M Faculty Senate approved Monday University guidelines that would determine what scholarships can be called competitive academic scholarships.

House Bill 1147, the bill calling for a tuition increase at Texas colleges and universities, states that "a student who holds a competitive academic scholarship of at least $200 for the academic year or summer for which the student is enrolled and who is . . . a nonresident . . . is entitled to pay the fees and charges required of Texas residents . . ."

The University Scholarship Committee developed specific criteria to be used when determining if a non-resident recipient of a scholarship qualifies for the lower tuition rate.

Guidelines approved by the Senate are that:

A sufficient number of applicants including Texas residents must be given equal consideration to insure competition for the scholarship. The same criteria are used in judging both resident and nonresident applicants for the scholarship.

Promotion of academic excellence must be the primary consideration in awarding the scholarship.

Selection of the recipients, which are made by a collegiate or departmental scholarship committee, must be forwarded to the University Scholarship Committee for approval of the waiver. An outside donor may be consulted by the collegiate or departmental scholarship committee for input, but the outside donor may not make the final selection.

A fourth recommendation by the University Scholarship Committee did not meet the Senate's approval.

Senators said the stipulation that "international student recipients must not have entered a Texas college or university prior to June 19, 1979" was prejudiced and without reason.

If after the awarding of competitive academic scholarships it is determined that the above guidelines have not been followed, students receiving the scholarships may lose their waiver from nonresident tuition.

Democrats raising funds for District 1 runoff

Associated Press

AUSTIN — The big guns of the state Democratic Party traveled across Texas Monday to preach unity and sell Jim Chapman as northeast Texas' next congressman.

The targeted price tag was $100,000. U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, Gov. Mark White and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby hoped to help Chapman raise this sum at stops in Dallas, Austin and Houston.

Chapman, a former Hopkins County district attorney, meets Republican Ed Hargett in an Aug. 3 runoff to determine who will replace Democrat Sam B. Hall in Congress. Hall resigned to become a federal judge.

Hargett, an electrical engineer, was the starting quarterback for Texas A&M in its 1968 Cotton Bowl win.

Bentsen said there is "no question" that Hargett and the GOP would outspend Chapman.

Hargett, the only Republican contender, used a campaign chest of $750,000 to help garner 42 percent of the vote in the election while Chapman, who ran second with 30 percent, spent about $250,000. Chapman said he would spend about the same in the runoff.

The Democrat will be "adequately funded, certainly not the kind of money they have," Bentsen said, referring to the Republicans.

White said northeast Texans need Chapman in Congress, not a Republican who would spend his time "worrying about what the (Reagan) administration wants Congress to do."

While some observers have pegged the runoff as a test of GOP strength in the traditionally conservative Democratic area, Bentsen said he thinks "it's just one race."

Chapman agreed, predicting a turnout of about 20 percent, making it "perhaps a little presumptuous to say it is any type of signal as to whether realignment has occurred."
