Sherrill's new recruits report for orientation

By ED CASSAVOY
Sports Writer

For some 45 new Texas A&M students, classes are starting two weeks earlier to do a different sort of "cramming."

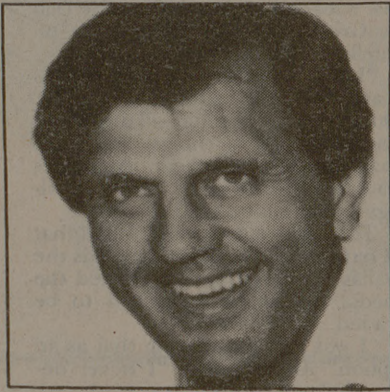

Freshman scholarship and walk-on football players arrived Thursday night for their formal introduction to A&M.

"As of today (Thursday) they'll be here," said A&M assistant sports information director Alan Cannon. "I'm not sure if the coaches have set a 9 p.m. deadline for the players (to arrive)."

Cannon said the new Aggies will spend most of Friday sorting out the academic side of their college career. Academic orientation and physicals for the athletes will continue throughout the day.

"The football atmosphere doesn't come until around 5 p.m. on Friday," Cannon said. "That's when the coaches get to indoctrinate them and the athletes get shoes and equipment."

A&M Head Football Coach Jackie Sherrill's interest will increase noticeably after the stroke of five.

A&M's Jackie Sherrill

"This is an exciting time," Sherrill said. "This is the first time that you really get to see your freshmen on your campus and in practice. He's now your football player and part of your program."

"We'll have three days to look at them in depth and have an opportunity to picture them as helping us this year or picture them helping us down the road."

Sherrill is expecting good performances from a number of the new arrivals.

James Howse, a 6-foot, 185-pound running back, was the leading high school rusher in Tennessee in 1984. Howse amassed impressive figures for state champion Oakland High School, rushing for 2,400 yards and 29 touchdowns.

Dallas Carter's Rod Harris brings a pair of good hands and 4.4 speed to the Aggie wide receiver corps. Harris was also considered one of the best kick and punt return specialists in Texas.

The Aggies also signed a number of top linemen.

James Dotson, a 6-2, 260-pound noseguard/tackle from Vicksburg, Miss., was all-state for three years.

And the Aggies are hoping Dallas Roosevelt's Richmond Webb, 6-6, 245-pounds, will prove himself at defensive end.

"Most people think that the freshmen are coming here to play football," Cannon said, "but the first part (of their orientation) is more on the academic-side, to just make sure everything is OK."

UH athlete receives probation

Anders to serve 3 years for firearm possession

Associated Press

HOUSTON — Benny Anders, a forward on the University of Houston basketball team last season, received three years' probation after pleading no contest to a charge of possessing a firearm on school property.

State District Judge I.D. McMaster issued the sentence Wednesday and placed Anders on deferred adjudication, which means he will have no criminal record if he meets the terms of his probation.

Prosecutor Cheryl Turner said the charge stems from a May 20 incident in which Anders allegedly pointed a gun at student Cedric D. Jones at a campus gym.

"They got into an argument because the guy wanted to play basketball with Benny," Turner said. "Benny didn't want to play. The argument got a little bit heated and the guy threw a starting block at him."

Turner said Anders then went to his car and got a gun. He allegedly returned to the gym and aimed a pistol at Jones.

A campus police officer arrived at the scene and Anders fled, the prosecutor said. Anders later led officers to the gym, which had been tossed in a gym shower, she said. The gun was cocked and fully loaded, Turner said.

A student court suspended Anders for the summer and fall semesters because of the incident, university officials said.

Anders said that after he returns to school, he will continue to study sociology and graduate, even if he is not permitted to play basketball again.

"Finishing school, that's my main priority," Anders said.

Rookie golfer leads Buick Open

Associated Press

GRAND BLANC, Mich. —Rookie Rick Fehr shot a 7-under-par 65 Thursday to take a one-stroke lead over Paul Azinger after the first round of the Buick Open at Warwick Hills Golf and Country Club.

Fehr, 23, a former Brigham Young University golfer star, has no card to play on the PGA Tour and the Buick Open is only his seventh Tour event this year.

However, a tie for ninth place in the U.S. Open, which was held about 80 miles away at Oakland Hills, helped Fehr earn $31,569 already.

That's more than the 150th man on last year's money list earned, which means Fehr can play the rest of 1985, even without a card.

Fehr, who has spent most of the season playing events in the satellite Tournament Players Series, made his last Tour start at the Sammy Davis tournament in July, where he missed the cut.

Fehr, of Seattle, started his round on the 10th hole and played the back side in 3-under 33 with birdies on the 12th, 13th and 14th holes. Playing the front nine in 4-under 32, Fehr birdied the 1st, 4th, 6th and 8th holes. He didn't card a single bogey during the round.

Five golfers, Bill Kratzert, Scott Hoch, Greg Twigg, Gil Morgan and Charlie Bolling, all were two strokes off the lead at 5-under-par 67.

Azinger, 25, the medalist at the PGA qualifying school last fall, needed 35 strokes on the front nine of the 7,014-yard, par-72 layout, then birdied the first four holes on the back side. He added another birdie on the 16th hole for a 31 on the final nine holes.
