Dorsett's back

Cowboy star apologizes for ordeal

Associated Press

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. — Running back Tony Dorsett, who returned to the Dallas Cowboys' training camp Thursday after a lengthy holdout, said he is sorry the name-calling got out of hand and that he couldn't be happier with his new contract.

"I never dreamed things would get as ugly as they did," said Dorsett, who had called the Cowboys "double-crossers" at one point during the negotiations. "I'm happy to be back and I never thought I'd say that about training camp. It's been an ordeal."

Dorsett has agreed to a new five-year contract that includes deferred payments going into the next century, but he declined to go into specifics.

"I'm not talking about my contract," Dorsett said. "I'm here to play football."

He said he decided to come back last weekend after watching the Dallas-Green Bay exhibition game on satellite-fed television.

"I just want to be a part of this team and I'm extremely happy," Dorsett said. "Through all this, there has been a lot of things said, some that shouldn't have been. Apologies have been made and I owe an apology to the fans of America."

The nine-year veteran added that "I have no bad feelings" towards the Dallas Cowboys, but he blamed the media for saying he asked to be traded.

"I was just considering that as an option," Dorsett said. "I never demanded to be traded."

Dorsett, who said he is at his playing weight of 185 pounds and ready to play almost immediately, said he is "on a mission now to help this team gain some respect. Last year we lost some and I'm back to help get back."

Dorsett was accompanied by Witt Stewart when he arrived here.

Stewart negotiated the contract with Cowboys President Tom Schramm on Wednesday after other agent, Howard Slusher, encouraged Dorsett to "stay" from camp at least another week.

Dorsett got into financial trouble with the Internal Revenue Service and made some bad investments that ate into deferred money he had taken up front. He was on the front end of a seven-year contract that would have paid him $450,000 a year.

His teammates welcomed him back to camp, Dorsett said.

"I don't think I'll have any problems with my teammates," he said.

ERAs as easy as ABCs for Dodger pitchers

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Their names are Welch, Valenzuela, Hershiser, Reuss, Honeycutt, Niedenfuer, Diaz and Howell. Those Los Angeles Dodgers pitchers combined for 52 innings over six days without allowing an earned run.

The string, which ended in the first inning of Thursday's 5-4 victory over Atlanta, surpassed the previous club record of 48 set in 1966 when

Hall of Fame members Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale led the staff.

"This is the most complete staff I've had since I've been here," said Tom Lasorda, who is in his ninth year as the Dodgers' manager.

"We've got five stoppers is what we've got," said catcher Mike Scioscia after Wednesday night's game in which Bob Welch ran his scoreless streak to 16 innings and dropped his earned run average to 1.67.

Welch, 9-1 for the season after elbow troubles in the spring, has had two complete games during the 52-inning streak that began last Friday night after he allowed a second-inning home run to Cincinnati's Nick Esasky.

Also sharing the honors are:

- Fernando Valenzuela, 13-8 going into a Thursday afternoon game against Atlanta, went all the way for a victory over the Reds Saturday night, allowing only an unearned run.

Landry expects Dorsett to pay fines

Associated Press

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. — Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry said on Thursday that holdout running back Tony Dorsett would still have to pay his $1,000 a day fines for missing 20 days of training camp.

Dorsett came to a settlement with the Cowboys Wednesday night, agreeing on a new five-year contract. "The fines are still intact and he has to pay it," Landry said. "You can't make an exception for a player."

Landry said, "I'm happy Tony is back. It's very good for him. It was the point where he needed to get back."

Landry said Dorsett wouldn't be used in Saturday's NFL preseason game against San Diego, but would play in an Aug. 26 game against Chicago in Texas Stadium.

"He has a lot of work to do and needs to play some against Chicago and against the Houston Oilers in the final preseason game," Landry said. "It will take him two to three weeks to get back into top shape for the season opener."

The Cowboys open the regular season Sept. 9 against the Washington Redskins in Texas Stadium.
