White Sox whip Texas as Seaver breaks skid

ARLINGTON — His method was not pretty, but Tom Seaver of the Chicago White Sox got one step closer to a career milestone Sunday, courtesy of the Texas Rangers.

Seaver pitched the White Sox to a 7-6 victory for his first career win against the Rangers, leaving only three of 26 major league teams he has not beat.

"I sort of ran out of gas a little in the seventh," said Seaver. "I made some good pitches tonight. I made some bad pitches. I made a bad pitch in the first (a home run to Pete O'Brien). I made a good pitch to (George) Wright on a double play. I'm not terrific but I pitched well enough to win."

Terrific or not, Seaver, 33-10, picked up his 301st career victory in 6 1/3 innings and his first win in more than a month.

Seaver had not won since Aug. 4 when he beat New York for his 300th career victory. Since that time, Seaver had made five starts with two losses and three no-decisions.

He gave up three runs and eight hits while walking two and striking out three against the Rangers.

Bob James, who was last in a line of six White Sox pitchers, picked up his 24th save. He gave pinch-hitter Bobby Jones' three-run homer on his first pitch, but got the final two outs for the save.

"He (Jones) was looking for a fastball," James said. "This is the big leagues. He waited and jumped all over it. That's what happens here. You make a mistake and you're going to pay for it. I had a four-run lead and I went right at them. Interesting way to get a save."

Rangers starter Charlie Hough, 14-14, took the loss.

"Hough threw the ball well," said Ranger manager Bobby Valentine. "He got tired sitting in the dugout in the seventh. He went out there (in the eighth) and didn't throw a good knuckleball. He threw a nothing fastball that (Daryl) Boston hit. By the time I got to the mound, he was gone."

Rudy Law led off the Chicago first with a double, took third on a single by Boston and scored on an error by shortstop Wayne Tolleson. Greg Walker's groundout made it 2-0 and Fisk singled home the third run.

Then, with Luis Salazar on first after a forceout, Fisk stole home as part of a double steal with Salazar.

Fisk, who earlier this season became the fifth catcher in major-league history to steal 100 bases, stole home during the first and second in the eighth, setting up a two-run single by Jerry Hairston.

O'Brien hit a two-run homer, his 16th, in the bottom of the first before Salazar led off the Chicago seventh with his eighth homer.

White Sox reliever Dan Spillner walked Larry Parrish with the bases loaded in the seventh, making it 5-3.
