Rose ties hit mark as Reds 'Ty' Cubs

Associated Press

CHICAGO—Pete Rose tied Ty Cobb's career record for hits Sunday, singling for his 4,191st hit in a game he wasn't even supposed to play and moving to the threshold of uncharted baseball territory.

The tying hit, his second of the game, came in the fifth inning against Chicago Cubs right-hander Reggie Patterson and was greeted by a huge standing ovation from the Wrigley Field crowd of 28,269.

"I was very happy all day with the way the people here received me," Rose said. "It was a very nice reception they gave me here."

Patterson, a minor leaguer until last Tuesday, said both hits came off screwballs.

The record-tying hit was a line drive into right-center field, the 94th hit of his 23rd season in the major leagues. Cobb set his record in 24 seasons, ending in 1928, when he had 114 hits.

"It's all part of the game. It's just another hit to me..." said Patterson, who was 8-10 with a 4.77 earned run average with the Cubs' Iowa farm club of the American Association. "He's the greatest ball player that ever played the game. It was a history-making event and everybody wanted to see him do his share."

Rose had two more at-bats after tying the mark but could not get another hit. He grounded to short in the seventh inning and, after a two-hour, three-minute rain delay, struck out with two men on in the top of the ninth and the score tied 5-5.

The game was called because of darkness after nine innings, the score still tied. At first it was announced as a suspended game, but the National League later said it would go into the books as a tie, with all the hits counting. If the Reds need the game in their pennant chase, a new, additional game will be played.

So, it's back to his hometown of Cincinnati for Rose in his record quest. The Reds open an eight-game homestand Monday night against San Diego.

A&M ticket office now offers 'Maroon Card'

The Texas A&M Athletic Department has announced it will offer an all-sports season pass for women's athletics.

The "Maroon Card" costs $20 and it will enable a fan to attend all women's volleyball, softball and basketball home games, excluding women/men basketball doubleheaders. A child under age 13 is entitled to free admission with an adult that has a "Maroon Card".

The cards will go on sale today at 8 a.m. in the MSC and at the A&M Athletic Ticket Office in G. Rollie White Coliseum.

Admission to a single event is $3 for adults and $2 for students.

In related news, the A&M volleyball team will travel to Huntsville Monday to battle Sam Houston State in its first game of the season.

The Aggies were scheduled to play the Bearkats in G. Rollie White Coliseum Monday, but, instead, will play them in Huntsville on Monday and in G. Rollie White on Sept. 24.

16" SOFTBALL TEAM CAPTAIN'S MEETING,
 Thursday, Sept. 12, 6 p.m., 167 Read Bldg.

RECREATION LOCKERS
 All recreation lockers that were not renewed by Sept. 4 have been cleared. If you did not clear your locker and may have left some items in it, you may pick up your belongings in 159 Read Bldg. until Oct. 4, 1985. After this date, all items will be brought to the MSC Lost and Found.

NEW INTRAMURAL POLICY
 Any faculty, staff or spouse who wishes to participate in the competitive intramural program will be required to purchase an intramural validation as well as a recreational ID. This validation will be placed on the recreational ID or validated faculty ID and will cost $5.00 per semester or $15.00 for the year. For more information please call the Intramural-Recreational Sports Office at 845-7826.

EAST KYLE OR READ BUILDING?
 No, the Intramural-Recreational Sports Office has not moved to a new building, we've just had a name change! Last year a decision was made to name East Kyle after Thomas and Joan Read. Official dedication ceremonies will be held Oct. 12. So from now on we are not East Kyle but the Read Building — not to be confused with Reed McDonald!
