A&M's California spiker has early homecoming

By CHAREAN WILLIAMS
Assistant Sports Editor

SAN DIEGO — Texas A&M freshman Cheri Steensma left her heart in San Francisco. Well, not literally in San Francisco, but her hometown of San Ramon, Calif. is close enough.

Steensma, an outside hitter on the A&M volleyball team, got her first "homecoming" when the Aggies arrived in San Diego Thursday night for the San Diego State Tournament.

Although SDSU is more than a hop, skip and jump to San Ramon, she was none the less happy to be back in California.

"I'm getting to see my family," Steensma said, "and I am getting to see some old friends. I used to play with some of the girls on the California teams."

"I'm not going to get to go home until Christmas. That's a long time. My mom called the other day and said, 'Gosh, I knew you would go away, but I didn't know it would be this soon.'"

California is where Steensma's "home" is now, but it used to be Texas. So College Station isn't really a foreign land to her—and the freshman blues haven't hit her too hard yet.

"I used to live in Dallas, so Texas is like my second home," Steensma said. "I'll admit I got a little homesick this week, when I got some letters from home, but most of my friends have gone away to school, too. This is where I want to be and I'm happy. I really haven't had much time to be homesick."

She hasn't had time because her coach, A&M's Terry Condon, has kept her busy with setting, spiking, digging and running drills.

"Volleyball takes up my time and my energy," Steensma said. "It's a tough game. You've got to love it, that's for sure. I want to be the best I can be and that takes work and time. At times you get very fatigued. Sometimes you just want to sleep for days, but if I wasn't enjoying the game, I wouldn't be here."

Believe it or not, Steensma didn't even discover the game until she was 16.

cheerleader and play volleyball both. I chose cheerleading. My sophomore year, I tried out again and played on varsity."

Despite her short encounter with the sport, it didn't take long for the 5-foot-11 Californian to stack up the trophies and ribbons.

Steensma's numerous volleyball awards would make a day's conversation, but try these few for size:

- California High School Athlete of the Year.
- Leisher Award for outstanding volleyball ability.
- All-Area and Magazine Fall Athlete of the Year for 1984.

Whew. Even Joe Montana's high school football career didn't read that good.

So, how did Condon lure a promising California player out of volleyball heaven?

"To tell the truth, I really didn't know where I wanted to go after my senior year," Steensma said. "I got letters and one of them was from A&M. I heard all about the Aggie traditions, while living in Dallas. I came for a visit and loved it."

Arizona and San Jose State, among others, were the losers for Steensma.

"I knew all about the Aggie traditions and spirit," she said, "but I couldn't believe it when I got here. It was a lot more than I expected. I can't wait until I get to go to my first (A&M) football game."

A political science major, Steensma has definite plans for the future.

"Right now I want to go to law school," she said. "But who knows in four years? As for volleyball, I just want to improve this year. I want to be able to help the team. I need to be more aggressive and I know that. It's just a matter of doing it. I'm trying to get past the frustration point right now. This is a big step up from high school. I'm not the best I want to be yet."

"Yet" is the key word for Steensma. "I want to be an All-American," she said. "That's always been my goal. I hope to reach it someday soon."

That someday might be just around the corner.

"I tried out my freshman year, (in high school) and I made varsity," she said. "But, I couldn't be a well as they did athletically."

And NLU football has done well under Pat Collins, the man Crow recommended to succeed him as head coach. NLU posted 8-3 seasons in '82 and '83. The '83 season they were SLC co-champions.

When asked if having close contacts at NLU will give him mixed emotions when A&M and NLU tangle, Crow replied:

"Oh no," he said. "No question about it. I hope that Northern (Louisiana) plays well. I know they'll play hard. I hope they play well. But obviously I hope they play that well. I want them to make good showing."
