

Local museum hosts
'Hometown Oil' exhibit

3 In addition to the 'Hometown Oil' exhibit, the Brazos Valley Museum has a 'kaleidoscope of cultures' planned.

Aggie Players stage quality productions

4 A comedy, a musical and two Shakespeare plays are waiting in the wings for this theater group "by Aggies, for Aggies."

MSC committees bring art to A&M

5 The Visual Arts and the Literary Arts committees bring the performing, visual and literary arts to A&M.

Arts Council celebrates Arts Week

6 National Arts Week is Sept. 22-28 and the local arts council is celebrating during our own Brazos Arts Week.

Springsteen concert shows he's future of rock 'n' roll

7 Springsteen and the E Street Band played three and a half hours of energetic rock 'n' roll music in Houston.

Margit Ilika: A portrait of the artist

8 Did you know we had a world renown artist in our midst? This local artist tells us she's an Aggie at heart.

'Creator' better than other genius-gone-awry movies

10 This new film starring Peter O'Toole ranks high above this summer's collection of genius and science projects movies.

Movie directors help Spielberg with TV anthology

11 One of this season's more promising shows is Spielberg's "Amazing Stories," an anthology series with some big names.

at ease staff

Co-editors.....Cathy Riely
Walter Smith
Writers.....Wendy Johnson
Mary McWhorter
Tricia Parker
Lynn Rae Povec
Gigi Shamsy
Photographer.....Bill Hughes

from the co-editors

Art. The mere word sends shivers up the analytical spines of many people throughout this technocratic world of ours. Contrary to popular belief, the average art lover need not look like a frail, effeminate egg-head. The average art lover looks like the average citizen. Art, like beauty, is in the eye of the beholder. Just because the world loves Mona Lisa doesn't mean you can't prefer the Sunday comics. Art exists everywhere. In some places (like here), you have to dig to find treasures.