

Faculty Senate to discuss sick leave action

By MARYBETH ROHSNER
Staff Writer

A proposal to eliminate the designation of "graduate faculty" for some faculty members is one of the issues to be discussed at the Faculty Senate meeting Monday.

Senate Speaker Jaan Laane said he also plans to address the Senate on the status of the legal action against the state legislature for the elimination of accrued sick leave for approximately 1,700 members of A&M's faculty.

The Senate voted unanimously in an emergency resolution last month "to take legal steps to redress the grievances" of those faculty affected by the legislation.

The graduate council's recommendation to eliminate the designation of graduate faculty is based on the fact that departments usually do not hire new faculty without doctoral degrees and that all faculty are involved in teaching and research. The council will suggest to the Faculty Senate that all faculty of professorial rank be eligible to participate in graduate functions and therefore be listed in the graduate faculty.

The Senate also will decide on course additions and changes. In addition, it will discuss awarding posthumous degrees to those students who die while enrolled in courses that would complete that student's degree requirements. Laane said that at this time, no rules apply to posthumous degrees.

Also on the agenda is a resolution to continue the policy of not awarding honorary degrees.

The Senate meets at 3:15 p.m. in 601 Rudder. The meeting is scheduled to conclude at 6 p.m.

Dallas children complain that state fair too expensive

Associated Press

DALLAS — According to some Dallas schoolchildren, the Texas State Fair is unfair.

A 13-year-old student confronted city officials with complaints that prices at the fair are too high for kids.

Elizabeth Valdez, armed with 169 letters from other youngsters, took her case to City Hall Wednesday.

"My brother and I save pennies every year," Elizabeth wrote in her own letter. "This year we saved $53 worth of pennies and it isn't even enough to get on three rides."

State Fair general manager Wayne Gallagher said he agreed that prices are high, but said he is powerless to do anything about it.

He said fair officials in the past had "strongly suggested" ceiling prices for the food, but a vendor filed a federal lawsuit alleging price fixing.
