Ags' intensity wavers in win

Bryant, Toney keep A&M out of Rice thresher

By KEN SURY
Sports Writer

HOUSTON — In Saturday's 43-28 win over Rice, Texas A&M's intensity throughout the game fluctuated like the New York Stock Exchange.

However, A&M's Anthony Toney and Domingo Bryant kept the Aggies from a severe Southwest Conference market crash.

Toney led A&M's rushing attack with 116 yards on 25 carries. That's only 20 yards shy of Rice's entire rushing output for the game — and it had 20 more carries.

"I felt we were running real good," Toney said. "We had run the plays that we had practiced all week. They (Rice) were doing the things that we practiced against, so we were ready for them. We were running hard, but good blocking helps too."

Toney said the offensive line, especially Doug Williams, Louis Cheek, Randy Dausin and Matt Wilson, opened up a lot of holes for him to run through. Even the tight ends threw some key blocks, he said.

"Yeah, they were throwing some good blocks when they tried to string the play out," Toney said. "They were holding their men pretty good at the line of scrimmage and we were getting some good yards on our inside game."

While Toney helped move the Aggie offense toward and across the goal line, Bryant did some goal-line crossing himself as he took one of his three interceptions into the endzone for an A&M score.

With 8:06 left in the third quarter, Rice quarterback John Roper tried to hit wide receiver Darrell Goolsby in the flat. The toss was a little high, and as Goolsby tried to get a handle on the ball, Bryant took it away and streaked 49 yards down the sideline for the score.

"The interception for a touchdown was the second of my career," Bryant said. "It feels even better than the first one. We both had a chance for the ball, I just stayed after it and the sideline was wide open."

The Aggies had only a 29-19 lead at halftime, and lost four fumbles in the second half, but the A&M defense forced four Rice turnovers. In addition to Bryant's touchdown, he and free safety Kip Corrington each picked off a Roper pass within A&M's 25-yard line, while linebacker Johnny Holland recovered a fumble at the A&M 33 in the last quarter.

Even with the good defensive play, Toney said he felt there was a loss in A&M's offensive intensity between the two halves.

"Well the first half was good, (but) the second half I didn't think we played as intense," Toney said. "We had the turnovers — the misses between the handoffs."

"For me it's a real letdown. I know when we had that fumble between me and Kevin I felt bad about that because we came away with no points instead of at least a field goal, which would have caused them to have to score at least another touchdown. Instead of that happening, they get the ball back, they drive down, and they score. And they're up and we're down because of the mistakes we made."

After Toney heard how SMU manhandled Texas, he commented, "(It) didn't seem like too much fun for Texas."

The Aggies will face the Mustangs this Saturday in Kyle Field, and Toney said the team will need to play more consistent and not make the mistakes they committed against Rice.

"We'll have to play well both halves — not just one half — if we're going to win," Toney said. "We can't afford to slow up in the second half (like last year's loss to SMU in Dallas)."

Bryant said other than keeping themselves in the thick of the SWC race, there's another incentive to beat SMU.

"It will be kind of like revenge because we haven't beaten SMU since I've been at Texas A&M," Bryant said. "We came close two years in a row (losses of 28-20 in '84 and 10-7 in '83), but they managed to pull it out some kind of way."

And what about the A&M defense against the SMU offense?

"I think we'll just play our regular package on SMU," Bryant said. "I don't think we'll do anything different. We'll just treat them the way we've been treating other teams this year."

Ag spikers set to host injury-plagued Owls

The last time the Texas A&M volleyball team played Rice, it enjoyed one of its best days of the season.

Not only did the Aggies stomp Rice 15-5, 15-6, 15-2 at A&M Court in only 46 minutes, but they ascended to No. 10 on the NCAA Top 20 poll.

Today the Aggies won't be able to duplicate that Oct. 14 day since the polls aren't announced until Tuesday. However, the No. 16 Ag (17-4, 3-1 in SWC) do have a chance to best their scores against Rice.

The Owls come calling tonight at 7:30 in G. Rollie White Coliseum. It will be the Ags' first home game since Oct. 16.

"It will be nice to play at home for a change," A&M Coach Terry Condon said. "With the Dunn Hall guys, we always have an advantage playing at home."

The Aggies' "7th Man" should be there in force since all fans with an A&M volleyball fan shirt will be admitted free.

Speaking of shirts, the Owls have plenty. All they need are a few good players to fill them.

Four Rice players are out with injuries.

"They're just real hurt right now," Condon said. "With all the injuries they have, they're playing with a lot of young players."

GO FROM COLLEGE TO THE ARMY WITHOUT MISSING A BEAT.

The hardest thing about breaking into professional music is — well, breaking into professional music. So if you're looking for an opportunity to turn your musical talent into a full-time performing career, take a good look at the Army.

It's not all parades and John Philip Sousa. Army bands rock, waltz and boogie as well as march, and they perform before concert audiences as well as spectators. With an average of 40 performances a month, there's also the opportunity for travel — not only across America, but possibly abroad.

Most important, you can expect a first-rate professional environment from your instructors, facilities and fellow musicians. The Army has educational programs that can help you pay for off-duty instruction, and if you qualify, even help you repay your federally-insured student loans. If you can sight-read music, performing in the Army could be your big break. Write: Chief, Army Bands Office, Fort Benjamin Harrison, IN 46216-5005. Or call toll free 1-800-USA-ARMY.

ARMY BAND. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.
