Union leader says imports rob Texans of 50,000 jobs

Associated Press

AUSTIN — Texas has lost 50,000 production jobs the last five years, both union and non-union, because of imports, Texas AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard said Monday.

"We have a full-fledged recession in Texas at this time and one of the major causes is loss of manufacturing, chemical processing and refining jobs," Hubbard said in a statement.

Hubbard also noted that for the first time ever the Texas unemployment rate last month was a full percentage point higher than the national average.

"One of the primary reasons for the loss of jobs in Texas is imports," Hubbard said.

Hubbard announced Saturday at a "Buy American" rally in Austin that the Texas AFL-CIO was launching a long-range program to encourage Texans to buy products made in the U.S.A.
