

— ATTENTION —
SAFE — Society Against
Forced Enclosure
New Organization Forming —
Seat Belts May Be Safe,
But Our Rights Ain't! Send
$5 for Membership, Information,
SB 500, and "Society Against Forced Enclosure — I support Freedom of Choice" Bumper Sticker
P.O. Box 1819 Brownwood Tx. 76804

Thomas Sweet
 ICE CREAM & CHOCOLATE
 Presents:

CHOCOLATE

like you've never seen it before!

chocolate
 Porsche
 Rolls Royce
 Corvette

chocolate
 EVERYTHING

chocolate
 champagne bottles

available now • easily mailed

MERRY CHRISTMAS — Say It Best With A GIFT CERTIFICATE

"Do yourself,
 and a friend,
 a flavor..."

1702 Kyle South • (behind J.J. Muggs) • College Station

764-9044 7 days a week 11 am - 11 pm

A&M Student Y

is sponsoring a Youth Fun Day,
 a series of semi-competitive
 events, for Bryan-College Station elementary school kids.

Applications for Youth Fun Advisors are available at the Pavillion for all A&M students.
 To find out more, please contact the Student Y office in the Pavillion or come to the next informational meeting
 Nov. 6 at 8:30 in 501 Rudder
 Tower!

Bush exercises
 right to suffrage,
 votes in Houston

Associated Press

HOUSTON — Vice President George Bush, who successfully fought an attempt to prove he wasn't a bona fide Texan because he listed a Maine address on his income tax return, voted Tuesday in Houston's non-partisan city election.

Bush and his wife, Barbara, ending a five-day visit to their adopted home state, arrived at a precinct in west Houston shortly after the polls opened at 7 a.m.

Bush's voting eligibility came under fire just before the 1984 general election when state Rep. Clint Hackney, D-Houston, challenged the vice president's right to vote in Texas.

Hackney's attorneys claimed Bush had violated Texas law because he sold his Houston home in 1981, then purchased one in Kennebunkport, Maine.

Bush used his Maine address on his income tax return to gain roll-over proceeds from the sale of his $792,000 Houston home, Hackney's attorneys said.

The Internal Revenue Service ruled that Bush's principle residence was Washington, D.C., not Maine, and therefore he had to pay capital interest gains from the sale of his home.

Carl Smith, Harris County assessor and tax collector and the county official in charge of voter registration, allowed Bush to vote in the 1984 election, citing a state constitutional provision that says a voter can continue to claim state residency if he is serving the federal government elsewhere.

The vice president, who served as a congressman from Houston, voted in Houston in 1982 and 1984, listing a Houston hotel as his address.

At a hearing in June, Bush's attorneys presented documents proving Bush owned undeveloped land in Houston, had a Texas drivers' license and belonged to a Houston church.

County election officials ruled that Bush was a Texan and eligible to vote in the state.

Post Oak Mall celebrates Phase III opening

By KRIS SHEELEY

Reporter

Phase III of Post Oak Mall launched grand-opening celebrations for 13 new stores this morning with a ribbon-cutting ceremony complete with clowns, magicians and classical musicians.

Eleven stores are opening in the 145,000-square-foot addition, including J.C. Penney, which doubled its original size and moved from Manor East Mall in Bryan.

Cindy Brannen, marketing director for Post Oak Mall, said J.C. Penney has upgraded its store tremendously from the Manor East Mall site.

"J.C. Penney has hired 300 new employees alone," Brannen said. "The new addition to the mall has provided many new opportunities for employment and also will bring quite a bit of tax money to the community."

The grand-opening celebrations will stretch over a two-week period, continuing Thursday with "Meet the

"The new addition to the mall has provided many new opportunities for employment and also will bring quite a bit of tax money to the community."

— Cindy Brannen, Post Oak Mall marketing director.

Aggie Coaches Night" at 7 p.m. The event is co-sponsored by Post Oak Mall and KTAM radio. Four tickets to the Nov. 28 Texas A&M-University of Texas game will be given away.

On Friday there will be a style show featuring fashions from stores involved in the grand-opening, such as Benetton and Paul Harris. The Stagecenter Theatre Troupe Gunfighters will stage an exhibition during the day.

Saturday at 11 a.m., 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. and Sunday at 11:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m., Gordon, a character from Sesame Street, will be appearing. Throughout the day there also will be strolling Renaissance entertainers such as puppeteers, jugglers, a court jester and a story teller, as well as a caricature artist. The Society for Creative Anachronisms of Texas A&M will provide entertainment with a fencing and dancing exhibition from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

On Nov. 15 Post Oak Mall and KKYS radio will be sponsoring a "Wheel of Fortune" game at 7 p.m. On Nov. 16 the mall will be celebrating the March of Dimes "Healthy Baby Days," and jugglers will provide entertainment.

Throughout the two weeks, entries will be accepted for a drawing for a trip for two to Bermuda.

The other stores opening in the new section are Claire's Boutique, which carries women's jewelry and accessories; Extra Fashions by Cato, which specializes in women's large and half-size clothing; Paul Harris, which features casual and business wear for women; and the expansion of Summit Stationers.

Also opening are Natural Shoes, which carries shoes for women and children; Just Vis, which moved from a kiosk in another area of the mall; and Curves Shop, which features decorative items for the home.

Wyatts Cafeteria has also moved from its Bryan location to the Post Oak Mall.

Five new stores are opening in an existing section of the mall — Fire Grill; World Bazaar, an import store; Exotic Leathers, which specializes in leather goods; Flowering, which offers fresh cut and silk flowers and arrangements; and Woodcutter, which also expanded from a kiosk in the mall. Woodcutter features names done in wood and children's toys.

Shuttle astronauts prepare to bring Challenger home

Associated Press

SPACE CENTER, Houston — Space shuttle Challenger's international crew of eight packed up Tuesday for their landing in California, but five of the astronauts face more intensive medical tests on the ground after the end of the science mission.

Mission commander Henry Hartsfield and pilot Steven Nagel, assisted by astronaut James Buchli, will guide the stubby-winged shuttle to a landing at 12:44 p.m. EST today on a dry lakebed runway at Edwards Air Force Base.

Two West German scientists, Reinhard Furrer and Ernst Messerschmid, Dutch physicist Wubbo Ockels and American science astronauts Bonnie Dunbar and Guion Bluford worked rapidly Tuesday to complete the 76 experiments crammed inside the 23-foot-long Spacelab module in the shuttle's cargo bay.

Messerschmid and Bluford, the "red team" in the two-shift, around-the-clock operation of Spacelab, will close out the final experiment just eight hours before landing.

The "blue team" of Furrer, Dunbar and Ockels will awaken from their last sleep in space just in time to help complete the stowage.

Officials in West Germany, which paid NASA $64 million to carry the experiments into orbit, called the mission "highly successful."

They predicted that 90 to 95 percent of all of the science studies would be completed.

After today's landing, Challenger's five science astronauts will be taken quickly to a medical lab at the Dryden Flight Research Center, a NASA facility at Edwards.

Researchers there will start a series of tests to monitor how well Messerschmid, Furrer, Ockels, Bluford and Dunbar re-adapt to gravity after a week in the weightlessness of orbit.

Later the five will be flown to

John F. Kennedy Space Center for more elaborate tests.

ter will last for a week and the astronauts will return twice more in the following two weeks for additional tests.

During their week in space, the five tested themselves to measure how their bodies adapted to zero gravity.

The experiments included blood studies and a series of physical measurements and body movements closely monitored by instruments.

Four of the astronauts also rode a sled inside Spacelab that subjected them to acceleration forces equal to the tug of Earth's gravity.

They will undergo the same tests and measurements on the ground to determine how quickly their bodies shake off the effects of space travel.

Backyard 'crash lot' for 24 cars

Associated Press

AUSTIN — The former chairman of the Democratic National Committee and his wife are suing the state and the city of Austin, arguing that a freeway exit is a poorly designed that at least 24 cars have crashed into their backyard fence.

John C. and Wynelle Whites contend that the exit has made it impossible for them to rent or sell the house. The Whites are asking that the city and state buy it.

White, a political consultant in Washington, and his wife have owned the house as rental property.

Although the speed limit on the exit ramp is 25 mph and flashing yellow light and signs warn drivers of the turn, at least two dozen motorists have smashed into the fence, said G.H. Klossner, lawyer for the Whites.

See us and save $3⁰⁰ on the bigger look of personal posters from
Kodak

Your favorite 35 mm color photos will look even better as big personal posters from Kodak. Just bring us your 35 mm color negatives, slides or prints. You'll get back 20 by 30-inch personal posters from Kodak's own labs. Personal posters by Kodak make ideal gifts for friends and relatives. Offer good November 4-20, 1985. See us today for details.

Reg $17⁹⁵
Special $14⁹⁵

Northgate 846-5418

CAMPUS PHOTO CENTER

AD&D PLAYERS!
MSC NOVA CHALLENGES
YOU!

RECLAIM
THE GOLDEN STAFF
at NOVAACON

NOV. 9th & 10th
 events include: AD&D, Champions, Micro Armor, and MORE!

GAMING CONVENTION