A&M Student Senate passes bill discouraging dead week tests

By FRANK SMITH
Staff Writer

The Student Senate Wednesday passed a bill which would discourage faculty violations of a University regulation on dead week and calls for instructors to use the last regular class period of the semester as a review for their final examinations.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Rudy Rodriguez, refers to a University regulation which says during the fall and spring semesters no tests shall be given during dead week, the week immediately preceding final examinations.

The regulation does not apply to "courses carrying one credit hour of theory or practice, laboratory credit hours, optional tests for special credit and make-up tests."

Jim Cleary, student government vice president of academic affairs, told the Senate a copy of the bill will be sent to the University's provost and vice president for academic affairs. He said the provost, in turn, will send a copy of the bill to all professors on campus.

Cleary said he met last week with the Faculty Senate Academic Affairs Committee and that it encouraged the student senators to word the bill so that it would be strict on violators of the regulation.

"We do have support in the administration and in the Faculty Senate," Cleary said. "This is a bill that will not languish and die once it passes."

Another bill which had been scheduled for Senate consideration, the bicycle regulation bill, was held in committee until the next Senate meeting.

As it currently reads, the bill recommends that riding bicycles on sidewalks be prohibited in an area stretching from Military Walk to Spence Street.

Carol Ellison, vice president of student services, said she is planning to schedule an Issues and Grievances Committee meeting next week, either by Rudder Tower or at the Ross statue to gain more student input on the issue.

The Senate also passed a bill recommending that lighting for the Street be improved by placing lights on both the north corner of the Hall and the east corner of the Dining Hall.

In other business, the Senate heard the first reading of which, if passed by the Senate, approved by the student body in spring elections, would require student Government members to take an oath of office before assuming their offices.

Heard the introduction of which would reduce the fall semester grade point ratio requirements for freshmen senators from 2.0 to 2.0. This would standardize grade requirements for members of the Senate.

Broker gives advice on starting business

By NELDA PENA
Reporter

The proverbial pot of gold is something that every entrepreneur seeks, a broker with College Station's A. G. Edwards & Sons Investment Brokerage firm said Wednesday.

Davis McGill spoke at Rudder Tower at a meeting of ENVE, The Society for Entrepreneurship and New Ventures. McGill said the best advice he could give to anyone interested in self-employment is to know the business he is entering.

There are many successes reported in newspapers every day, but there also are many failures, McGill said.

"They don't put the failures on the front page, not very often," he said.

McGill, who owns the Orange Julius restaurant located in Post Oak Mall, said the worst kind of business to operate in Brazos County is a new restaurant.

"They open up two and close down three," he said. It is very easy to get into the restaurant business, but there also are those people who find it easy to start a business, he added.

McGill advised the future entrepreneurs to have a business plan. The business plan will help to attract new investors, he said. It should consist of methods of marketing the product, the necessary personnel to satisfy the goals of the company, salaries, sales projections and most importantly, the break-even point.

A brochure of the new company also will attract investors, he said. Business firms generally will invest more money because they are most accustomed to risks, he added.

McGill said many new businesses have a problem with controlling interest in the company. The probabilities of keeping control of the shares of stock are very small, he said.

"It's only important to the guy who owns 51 percent," he said. "It's better to have five people with 20 percent than one person with 51 percent."

Another important aspect McGill discussed in self-employment is being comfortable with the subject of the business.

"Enjoy it while you do it!" he said. "Make it fun!"

McGill was Phil Gramm's campaign manager in the 1984 election and now is campaign manager for Republican gubernatorial candidate, Tom Loeffler.

He worked for A. G. Edwards for more than 20 years before becoming actively involved in politics in 1983. McGill currently is establishing a pie crust company in Houston.

Holiday Parade entry deadline extended

By TAMARA BELL
Staff Writer

The entry deadline for the Bryan-College Station 1985 Holiday Parade on Dec. 8 has been extended to Friday.

Debbie Cooper, parade chairman, says it's not unusual for the deadline to be extended, although the entry forms were sent out in October. She says prospective participants get caught up in Halloween and Thanksgiving and forget to mail in the entry form.

About 85 entries have been received by the Bryan-College Station Chamber of Commerce, she says. The chamber, which has coordinated the parade since 1933, is shooting for 100 entries, she says. Cooper says entries include the Ross Volunteers, the Texas Aggie Band and high school bands from Brazos County.

The $10 entry fee goes toward expenses incurred to put on the parade, Cooper says. This is the first year the parade hasn't received monetary support from the Chamber of Commerce. Cooper says the chamber requested that the parade be self-sufficient this year.

The parade's theme is "Home for the Holidays, 1836-1986" in honor of the state's Sesquicentennial, Cooper says, because the chamber wanted that theme.

Six judges will decide first and second place in eight categories, she says. Judging will be based on originality, use of design and color and overall entertainment quality.

Floats will be judged before the parade, she says. The bands will be judged on their performance during the parade. Trophies will be distributed to the winners and the overall best entry will receive $300, Cooper says.

The Sesquicentennial commission in Brazos County will present a $100 prize to the entry which best represents the Sesquicentennial theme, she says.

The parade will start at 3 p.m. on Dec. 8 at New Main and Texas Avenue. It will follow Texas Avenue into Bryan and end at Main East Mall, she says. Texas Avenue will be blocked off from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.
