White: Reagan will discuss stabilizing oil prices in U.S.

WASHINGTON — President Reagan will meet with representatives of energy-producing states to discuss stabilizing oil prices, Gov. Mark White said Monday.

White asked Reagan to impose a tariff on oil imports. But House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Fort Worth, said there was no chance for an import fee unless Reagan changes his established policy.

White, in town for the National Governors' Association winter meeting, attended a White House session with the other governors.

If prices fall below $14 a barrel and stay there, about 125,000 wells in Texas will shut down because the cost of bringing up the oil will be more than the price per barrel, White said.

Texas is dependent on oil and gas severance taxes for about 13 percent of its revenues, and Comptroller Bob Bullock has already predicted a state deficit of $1.3 billion due to declining revenue.

Wright said he was seeking a meeting with all the congressional players to try to break free a budget reconciliation bill that would give Texas $434 million in offshore oil revenues.

UPS finally makes first intrastate delivery in Texas

AUSTIN — United Parcel Service on Monday picked up a package it has fought 20 years to deliver — a box from Texas to Texas.

In March 1966, UPS began its fight for permission to make deliveries from one point in Texas to another. Final approval came Monday, shortly before Texas Railroad Commission Chairman Buddy Temple shipped the symbolic first package — to himself.

The regulatory route took the case through the Railroad Commission twice and the state courts.

Opposition to UPS intrastate service was based on a 1931 state law requiring delivery companies to operate on regular schedules and regular routes.

UPS offers on-demand service and pledges to pick up packages anywhere in Texas.

The long-standing ban on UPS intrastate deliveries in Texas had drawn complaints from businessmen who said they needed the service.

Texas delivery companies have complained that the Connecticut-based company is a "greedy, brown giant" that threatens their livelihood.

"I don't believe anybody will be put out of business," Temple said. "There's plenty of business for everybody."

STUDENT GOVERNMENT TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY

STUDENTS OF TEXAS A&M:
Your student government wants to be just that-- yours! We will be conducting an informational survey to gain an insight into your concerns about our campus. We want to strengthen the communication link, and obtain a direct input from you so that student government can be more attuned to your needs. We will print the results of the survey as they become known to us, and what progress is being made.

We have a great desire to work for you, if you will work with us!
