The haircut you want is the haircut you get.

At Supercuts, we've been trained to cut hair perfectly. So no matter how you like your hair cut, you're going to get the cut you like. Every time. We guarantee it, or your money back. That statement of confidence has helped make us America's most popular haircutters. Which only goes to prove that when you give people exactly what they want, they just keep coming back for more. And a Supercut is always $8.

We're changing the way America cuts its hair.

TDC can't cut budget full 13%, official says

Associated Press
 PALESTINE, Texas — The Texas Department of Corrections will only be able to comply with about half of the 13 percent budget cuts requested by Gov. Mark White, prison board chairman Alfred Hughes said Monday.

"This is a little different from other agencies," Hughes said. "Much of our funds are not discretionary. We've still got to feed inmates."

Hughes, speaking during a meeting of the Texas Board of Corrections, said the budget cuts for his department are still undergoing scrutiny and no decisions will be made for a couple of weeks. He said a special board meeting likely will be held next to approve the final cuts.

White has ordered all state agencies to trim 13 percent of their budgets in light of the state's oil-related economic problems.

James Lynaugh, deputy corrections director for finance, said the department already has put a temporary halt to promotions, transfers, rehiring and all hiring except for "critical positions," such as medical staff and corrections officers.

In addition, he said, all capital purchases have been stopped, out-of-state travel must have prior approval and department-paid mileage for personal car use has been halted to encourage use of TDC-owned vehicles.

"We need to finish an entire review before we make decisions (on the overall budget)," Lynaugh said. "In the meantime, we're attempting to enforce the governor's order," he said. "We'll do the best we can. But we will not impair TDC in regards to court commitment and health and safety."

The department is under a court order to improve living conditions for inmates and to construct new facilities.

Items that were eliminated, he said, include a new department administration building and projects like parking lots.

Hughes also said the department would not attempt to renegotiate the federal court agreement in hopes of trimming costs.

Students are no longer coming mainly from rural areas, he said, and country music is no longer the most popular choice on campus.

More choices are available now, he said, in College Station and also in cities like Houston, Austin and Dallas. Students would rather see the bigger shows in better facilities and spend the extra money, Reynolds said.

Because of this, he said the key phrase to improving the financial situations of Town Hall and other committees with similar problems is "marketing environment," which the Council must strive to gauge more effectively.

NASA still looking for remains

Remains of all seven had been located. They said recovered body parts had been taken to a hospital at Patrick Air Force Base, 25 miles south of here, where they were examined Monday by forensic experts from the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology.

The condition of the bodies was not known by the sources, but they said "we're talking about remains, not bodies."

The examinations were not only for identification, but also could help determine the cause of death.

The exact causes might be difficult to find because the bodies have been in the water for six weeks and may have been the victims of sea scavengers.

Those killed in the accident were commander Richard Scobee, pilot Michael Smith, Judith Resnik, Ellison Onizuka, Ronald McNair, Gregory Jarvis and Christa McAuliffe, a New Hampshire schoolteacher.

The sources also reported several of the crew member's private effects had been recovered, including personal tape recorders on which they had planned to record their impressions of the flight.

The crew cabin is a 2,525-cubic-foot, three-level structure made of 2,219 aluminum alloy plates welded together to create a pressure-tight vessel. It has no special reinforcements to better withstand the force of an explosion, but it is stronger than much of the fuselage because it is a single welded unit.

Representatives not in red

Texas' newest member, Jim Chapman of Sulphur Springs, Chapman, a Democrat, won a special election last year when Sam B. Hall Jr. left to become a federal judge.

Chapman, who has no opposition this year, reported cash-on-hand of $16,955.

Special-interest contributors gave the most money of the Texas delegation to Dallas Democrat Martin Frost, who serves on two powerful House committees, Rules and Budget.

Frost reported receiving $147,350 from political action committees in 1985, the bulk of it, $102,225, during the second half of the year.

In second place in PAC contributions was freshman Republican Mac Sweeney of Wharton, who defeated Democrat Bill Patman in 1984, though he had to rack up a large debt to do it.

By the end of 1985, Sweeney reported his campaign was in the black with $40,060 after receiving help from PACs to the tune of $104,550.

Sweeney, who serves on the House Armed Services Committee, reported raising a total of $397,910 in 1985.

Wright reported only $8,311 in his campaign coffers. Two Republicans and a Democrat are seeking to unseat Wright, the leading candidate to succeed Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts as House speaker in 1987.

UT acquires collection worth over $4 million for $900,000

AUSTIN — University of Texas officials announced Monday that the school has acquired for $900,000 a collection of materials showing what life was really like in the Old South from 1780 to 1900.

Historian Dr. George Wright of UT-Austin said no "serious student will be able to fully comprehend and write about slavery" without doing research in the Natchez Trace Collection.

The collection has been appraised at more than $4 million. Don Carleton, director of UT-Austin's Barker Texas History Center, said the anonymous owner of the collection donated the portion not covered by the $900,000.

The name of the collection is derived from the Natchez Trace, an Indian trail between Nashville, Tenn., and Natchez, Miss.

"Without question this collection — perhaps better than almost any collection in existence anywhere — documents the daily lives of Afro-Americans, first under slavery and then in the post-bellum period," Wright said.

HEALTH Through CHIROPRACTIC

WITH Dr. Richard B. Vance

WHAT IS A SLIPPED DISC?

Slipped disc is a stock phrase that people use for almost every back pain. Actually, the term is incorrect because a disc does not "slip" or go out of place. There are three types of disc problems that develop: degenerative disc; protruded disc; and ruptured disc. An actual rupture accounts for less than 2% of the most severe cases.

Chiropractors have the special knowledge, training and skill needed to eliminate the causes of back pain in more than 95% of the common back pain problems. Chiropractic is safe, painless and free from any side effects. Don't suffer needlessly any longer. See your Chiropractor.
