Odessa man charged in South Dakota killings

Associated Press

RAPID CITY, S.D. — An Odessa man was charged Monday with one count of first-degree murder and two counts of attempted murder in the Saturday morning shootings of three people.

Bond was not set Monday for Jimmy D. Weatherford, an unemployed carpenter. Weatherford requested a court-appointed attorney on Monday.

Angela L. Koricanek, of Odessa, Texas was found dead in a Rapid City home early Saturday morning. Two others, Talia Anne Haefs, 23, and David M. Engelbrecht, 25, both of Rapid City, were injured from gunshot wounds.

Weatherford said he was married to Koricanek.

A .22-caliber handgun was seized as evidence, according to reports.

Haefs and Engelbrecht were listed in serious condition Monday evening at Rapid City Regional Hospital. Haefs reportedly had a bullet lodged in her spine, authorities said.

Weatherford was charged with the first-degree murder of Koricanek and the attempted murder of Haefs and Engelbrecht.

Haefs was found next to Engelbrecht, who was shot in the head. Koricanek's body was found on a stairway connecting the upper floor of the house to the basement.

Department of Social Service personnel took custody of

According to police, Weatherford told police he acted in self-defense.

"He made several remarks, but I don't understand what (Engelbrecht) wanted to write a police officer."

Weatherford's pickup which had Texas plates, was spotted by a Pennington, sheriff's deputy on Highway 20, south of Rapid City, according to Keystone, according to police.

Weatherford barricaded in the truck's camper and persuaded him to toss out a gun on the truck's tailgate.

Security guards at Houston mall caught stealing

HOUSTON — Five security guards at Willowbrook Mall have been charged with stealing $150,000 in cash and merchandise at the Harris County shopping center during the past year, officials say.

A sixth man, who worked as an assistant manager of a mall game room, also was charged Saturday. Deputies from the Harris County Sheriff's Department said they were alerted to the thefts about two weeks ago when a store manager caught one of the guards stealing.

After an investigation, deputies began making arrests last week. Deputies said that the guards are believed to have taken cameras, video equipment, stereos, records, cash and jewelry over the past year. Only $5,000 worth of merchandise has been found, investigators said.

The guards charged with burglary of a business were Michael Gayler, 30; Edward L. Chronabery, 21; Johnathon West, 24; Arthur Hood, 21; and John Hoffpauir, 24. Bond for each was set at $5,000. Gayler and Chronabery remained in the Harris County Jail, a jail spokesman said Sunday.

The game room manager, Timothy Medidl, was charged with burglary of a business and remained jailed in lieu of $5,000, authorities said.

Sully's to feature hopefuls for student body president

The five candidates for Texas A&M's 1986-87 student body president will speak and answer questions at Sully's Symposium Wednesday.

The program is scheduled to start at 11:50 a.m. at the Lawrence Sullivan Ross statue in front of the Academic Building.

Each candidate will give a two minute prepared speech which will be followed by questions from the audience, says Stacey Allen, a spokeswoman for Lambda Sigma, the sponsor of the Symposium.

Allen says the program will end about 12:45 p.m.

This year's candidates are Cleary, a junior history major; Mike Hachtman, a senior trial distribution major; Roos, a junior accounting major; Brett Shine, a junior political science major; and Mike Starn, a senior agricultural education major.

Metromedia sells 9 stations

NEW YORK — Metromedia Inc. said Monday it has reached an agreement in principle to sell nine of its radio stations and Texas State Networks for about $285 million to an investor group headed by the president of Metromedia Radio.

Metromedia said, in addition to Carl C. Brazell Jr., the radio president, the investor group includes the investment firm Morgan Stanley & Co. and other members of Metromedia Radio management.

The transaction is being structured as a leveraged buyout deal, a target is being sought for borrowed funds that are used through the sale of its assets to its operating earnings.

The acquisition is believed to be the largest ever of a radio group, and includes stations among the top 10 markets, Metromedia said. The company said the deal will reach an estimated 44 million people.

Dr. 'Red' Duke will host PBS health show starting in April

Associated Press

GRAPEVINE — Dr. James "Red" Duke Jr. leaves a medical meeting and stops to chat about the latest activities of the bighorn sheep in of West Texas.

In almost the same breath, he discusses the consequences of pulmonary adema with another Texas doctor.

To most Texans, this is typical behavior for the general surgeon-wildlife conservationist who through television has become their personal physician. On April 5, the 58-year-old doctor will increase his patient list as he hosts the PBS mini-series "Bodywatch."

"The reason I do this other stuff is I'm basically a schoolteacher," said Duke, chief of trauma surgery and professor at the University of Texas Health Science Center at Houston. "I have taught all my life. I'm just a missionary from the Brazos Bottom."

The Brazos Bottom is the area surrounding College Station, the site of Duke's alma mater, Texas A&M University.

A spokeswoman for Duke's upcoming program said its executive director, Christopher Gilbert, saw Duke in an interview with NBC Nightly News host Tom Brokaw and knew the bespectacled Hillsboro native fit the part.

Duke said, "His (Gilbert's) concept about health is you ought to make it interesting, fun and not at all typical. And that's what I think."

Duke certainly is not typical. With his round-rimmed spectacles, lanky frame, shaggy reddish hair and bushy upper lip, Duke looks more like an apothecary than the respected Texas physician.

Despite celebrity status, Duke brushes off medical profession for TV glitter.

In fact, he calls himself a "loner" who prefers backroads and mountains to television lights.

Founder and president of the Texas Bighorn Sheep Society, which reintroduced bighorn sheep to Texas, Duke says he tries to mix his professional and personal interests.

He is the 20th president of the Boone and Club — started by President Theodore Roosevelt — responsible for establishing Yellowstone National Park.

Houston's Hermann Hospital Life Flight Unit is another Duke project. He serves as its director, currently trying to drum up support to expand the program statewide.

With so many projects, Duke's life is busy and schedule tight, but it's a pace he says he enjoys. "I have more fun working with all the people than 99 percent of the people who spend money trying to have fun," he said.

"But deep down inside, deep in my soul, I'm a real cut-up in the room."
