Georgia rips A&M in Blue-Gray tourney

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — No. 18 Georgia drubbed the Texas A&M men's tennis team, 6-0, in the opening round of the Blue-Gray Team Tournament Thursday.

A&M, now 12-8 overall, faces North Carolina today in the consolation bracket of the 16-team tourney which lasts through Sunday. UNC, which A&M already defeated earlier this season, 6-3, lost its first-round match to Southern Cal, 6-0.

"We did not play well," A&M Men's Tennis Coach David Kent said. "(Georgia) treated us like a poor relative today. The best we can finish now is eighth place, but we'll have to beat some Top 20 teams to even do that."

A&M lost four of its six singles matches in two sets. Only Aggies' Marcel Vos and Chris Stanich managed to take their matches to three sets.

Kent said the Aggies missed the court presence of their No. 2 singles player, Mark Smith, who is out for the season with an injured back.

"(The loss of Smith) is making more of difference than I thought," Kent said. "He was an awfully good player to lose. I think the team probably feels like they're starting every match from now on with a strike against them because Mark gave us so many good (singles) wins."

While the A&M men were getting swamped down South, the No. 22 Aggie women's team was being mauled in the mountains.

No. 16 Brigham Young ambushed A&M Thursday, 7-2, in the first-round of the BYU Invitational in Provo, Utah.

"The altitude got to us a little," A&M Women's Tennis Coach Bobby Kleinecke said. "It made us a little more defensive, while (BYU) was real aggressive and hit their shots."

The Aggies, now 14-5 on the season, take on California-Santa Barbara today.

Aguirre's hot shooting burns Knicks, 110-105

NEW YORK (AP) — When Mark Aguirre gets hot, he believes he can score from anywhere, and Thursday night, he almost did.

Aguirre scored 21 of his 38 points in less than 10 minutes of the first quarter as Dallas outscored the injury-jinxed New York Knicks 37-26 and held on for a 110-105 victory that clinched an NBA playoff berth for the Mavericks.

In the first period, Aguirre hit 8-of-11, including three three-point shots, the last of which was a 30-footer well behind the three-point circle.

"I felt real good in warmups and after I hit a couple of threes, I said, 'Why not keep shooting them?'" Aguirre said. "After you get in a groove, it doesn't matter how far away you are from the basket."

Dallas Coach Dick Motta said of Aguirre, "He was in a groove, that's for sure. When he's got it going, some of those long ones are like layups for him."

New York, which already had five players sidelined for the season because of injuries, suffered another setback when guard Rory Sparrow broke his left ankle in a collision with Derek Harper less than five minutes into the game. Sparrow will be in a cast for six weeks.

"I want to get out of this building before the epidemic spreads to us," Motta said.

When former Maverick Pat Cummings, one of the Knicks lost for the season, approached Motta, the coach said jokingly, "Stay away from me."

The Knicks, with center Ken Bannister scoring 35 points, 11 more than his previous career high, stayed in the game despite several Dallas moves to turn it into a rout.

Aguirre and Harper scored six points each during a 14-2 run that turned a 61-54 halftime lead into a 75-56 advantage.

But a 17-5 spurt for the Knicks, with Bannister scoring six and Trent Tucker seven of his 19 points, narrowed the deficit to 80-73 in the third period. A 10-2 run in the fourth quarter helped the Knicks get to within four on two occasions, but that was as close as they got as Aguirre hit three key baskets down the stretch.

The Mavericks, who got 15 points from Rolando Blackman, now have an 11-4 record in March, the most victories in a month in the team's six-year history.
