Three horse shows to be held at A&M

By Joanne Biggs Reporter

Students can enjoy free entertainment this weekend at the Aggie Mini Circuit, three one-day horse shows sponsored by the Texas A&M Horsemen's Association.

The shows, which are approved by the American Quarter Horse As-sociation, will be held at the D.W. Dick Freeman Arena on FM 2818.

Karen Pruitt, an organizer of the circuit, says the best time for students to watch each show will be between 2 p.m. and 6 p.m.

"This is when some of the more exciting, rodeo-type classes such as barrel racing, pole bending, cutting, calf roping and team roping will be going on," she says.

Other classes scheduled are halter, showmanship, western pleasure, trail, horsemanship, reining and some English riding classes.

The Friday and Saturday shows will begin at 8 a.m. and the Sunday show will begin at 7 a.m. All three are expected to last until about 10 p.m.

"Students shouldn't be discouraged from coming if it is hot weath-er," Pruitt says. "The arena is covered and refreshments will be available.

Pruitt says students unfamiliar with livestock are encouraged to attend the shows.

"A&M has always been such a strong agricultural university," she says "but it offers a diverse group of majors now. I think a lot of students never get to see the agriculture side of it.

Melinda Harris, the association's president, says she anticipates the show will generate about $4,000: 'So far we have about 150 entrants," she says, "but we hope to have 200 by Friday."

The classes are divided into three categories - open, youth and amateur - based on age and previous show experience. Fifty classes will be in Friday's show, and 54 will be in shows on Saturday and Sunday.

Entry fees for the shows range from $8 to $85, depending on the class, and registration will be allowed throughout the show.

Harris says most of the participants will be from Texas, but she expects some entrants from other states.

Because the circuit is AQHA approved, only registered quarter horses will be allowed to enter.

"This circuit is pretty popular among horsemen because as it lasts three days, it gives them a good opportunity to earn points on their horses," she says.

'The number of points a horse earns during its lifetime can greatly increase its resale value," Pruitt says.

Pruitt says the horsemen's association does not sponsor the circuit merely to raise money for its social activities.

"The money we make each year is put into a fund to set up the following year's shows," she says.

"Organizing and working at the shows gives students experience for future jobs," she says. "It also gives them the opportunity to make con-nections in the horse industry who may help them find those jobs.

All work on the shows is done on a voluntary basis by the association's 100 members, most of whom are animal science majors.

Reagan leaves White out of conference on oil prices

AUSTIN (AP) — While agreeing ing held earlier this week in Dallas to meet with three oil-state governors to talk about slumping oil prices, President Reagan on Thursday snubbed Texas Gov. Mark White.

White, a frequent critic of Rea-gan's policies, has unsuccessfully been urging the president to impose an emergency tariff on imported oil.

White said he thought it was a mistake for some oil-state governors to be left out of the Reagan meeting, which is scheduled for next week.

"I think it is an oversight that all oil-producing states will not be included in the meeting, since these states have experienced a crippling loss of jobs and state revenue due to the dramatic downturn in spot oil prices," White said.

which was attended by several oilstate governors.

White said Oklahoma Gov. George Nigh, who will represent the Southwest, will be an effective spokesman for the region's interests. Nigh co-hosted the oil summit with White.

The Texas governor, a Democrat, said he hopes Republican Reagan will be receptive to the seven-point resolution that was adopted at the oil summit.

Among other actions, that resolu-tion called for:

• A temporary, variable tariff on imported oil and refined products. • Preservation of tax incentives for oil exploration, drilling and production.

Minister working to settle Southern Baptists' conflict

AMARILLO (AP) - The Rev. Winfred Moore, vice president of the Southern Baptist Convention, has offered a four-point plan that he says could restore harmony to the denomination.

Moore expressed interest in running for president of the denomination but wouldn't commit himself. Differences between moderate and conservative elements among the denomination's 14 million members flared into conflict during the 1985 annual convention in Dallas. Accusations were made that the moderate voice had been stifled by improper parliamentary procedures

At the convention, Moore was chosen vice president after he was defeated by the fundamentalistbacked Rev. Charles Stanley of Atlanta for the presidency

tion of power, appoint and parliamentary proceed He said his plan would the distribution of po clude smaller churches b no more than two indiv the same church to be asid on boards and agencies
