

Lincoln Square and Creekwood

Sign your lease by May 31, 1986 and you will be eligible to win $500 worth of prizes!

Contact Agent for details 693-2720
Fall Pre-Leasing Now

HOMEMADE, DELICIOUS COOKIES

STRAIGHT FROM

Giant Cookies for all occasions
Chocolate Chip Flavor
M & M Flavor

Order yours today!
846-4300

15 Inches Round
16 Inches by 24 Inches Flat

STICKY CHINS COOKIE FACTORY

LOCATED AT NORTHGATE NEXT TO THE DIXIE CHICKEN

Schulman's Palace Theater
presents

Stage Center's Spring Vaudeville Review

May 1-10

at 8 p.m. Students w/ ID $3.50
Ticket info 693-0050

LADIES
this Bud's for you

Mon. & Tues. Ladies Nite

We'll give you a complimentary Flower, a glass of wine, and $1.00 off all Mixed Drinks $1.00 Draught Beer all night long

Now that's the way to treat a lady!

The BRAZOS CLUB 1503 S. Texas College Station 693-1736
Holiday Inn

graduation diplomas old family photographs
a lock of hair insurance policies coin collections birth certificates insurance policies pocket watches insurance policies
e's pearls baby shoes
autographs law schools
passports insurance letters
letters to bills of sale
certificates car titles
Confederate Grandpa
Baby's first mementos
extra sets war medals
clipping s bonds
plate state tra checks
treasures house keys

Safe Deposit Boxes FREE
With Safe Deposits at Lamar

If it's important to you, keep it. To keep it safe, put it in a fireproof safe deposit box at Lamar Savings, now FREE with new deposits to any type of account.

Deposit Box Size	New Deposit
3x5	$5,000
3x10	$10,000
5x10	$20,000
10x10	$50,000

The Future Belongs to the Pioneer

2411 Texas Avenue S.
College Station, Texas 77840
(409) 696-2800

Willie Nelson's picnic tickets Uncle Bob's secret bar-b-que sauce recipe cash store

'We screwed up': prison calls back released inmate

DALLAS (AP) — A man mistakenly released from a prison sentence for the drunken driving killing of a police officer prepared Tuesday to go back behind bars, his attorney said.

Through a series of errors, Dale Ross Looper, 33, of Hunt County, was released two years ago after serving only 10 months of a 10-year sentence for an involuntary manslaughter conviction stemming from a 1982 traffic accident that killed Lyndon Fred King in Grand Prairie.

Prosecutors and defense lawyers agreed that the man will surrender in Walker County and be transferred to the nearby Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville, said Pete Lesser, one of Looper's attorneys.

"I think the whole situation is unfortunate," said Lesser. "But I don't think it was done by malice."

Authorities issued a warrant for Looper's arrest when officials discovered that he had not served at least 3 1/3 years of the sentence.

Looper said he has stayed out of trouble during the time he has been out of prison.

"I can't go through it again," said Looper, who has worked as a mechanic and planned to open a gas station. "There won't be anything left of me for them to take to prison."

Lesser said he believes Looper is close to being eligible for parole because he is entitled to the time that he would have served had he not been released.

Looper struck King with his vehicle while the officer was investigating a traffic accident, according to investigators. Looper, who had two previous DWI convictions, was intoxicated and driving with a suspended license at the time of the accident, police said.

Two weeks after the April involuntary manslaughter trial, Looper pleaded guilty to an unrelated DWI charge and was sentenced to three years in prison.

Because the first case was still pending, state prison officials were unaware of its 10-year sentence and kept him only for the minimum time for the three-year DWI sentence.

"All I can say is that we screwed up," said Maj. Bob Knowles, the county's deputy detentions commander.

Parole records indicate that Looper told the parole board about his longer sentence. The error was discovered when a state appeals court upheld the involuntary manslaughter conviction and sent notification to county officials.

Warped

WE HERE IN THIS STRIP WOULD LIKE TO APOLOGIZE FOR THE MISERABLE PUN IN YESTERDAY'S STRIP, AND HOPE TO MAKE AMENDS TODAY WITH A VISUAL GAG, WHICH...

AAGH! WHAT IN THE WORLD?

FOUR BARRELS OF 'LIQUID PAPER' JUST TURNED OVER IN THE STORE ROOM!

by Scott McCully

Waldo

by Kevin Thom

Aggie brings string of credentials to new post as Air Force secretary

By Dawn Butz Reporter

One of the latest bumper stickers being sported on Aggie cars reads: "What do you call an Aggie after 5 years? Boss."

Add a few more years and a lot of hard work and you may be secretary of the Air Force, at least if you're Edward C. "Pete" Aldridge Jr., Class of '60.

Formerly undersecretary of the Air Force, Aldridge was nominated April 8 to his new position by President Reagan.

Aldridge, who has served as undersecretary since 1981, will replace Russell A. Rourke, who resigned April 7.

In a statement following the White House announcement, Aldridge said, "I will... ensure that the Air Force's combat capabilities — now and in the future — will meet any challenge. With the support of the president, the secretary of defense, the Congress and the American people, I know we will achieve these goals."

Aldridge was scheduled as a payload specialist for a secret military flight in March on the space shuttle Discovery. The cancelled flight would have been the first space shut-

Edward C. "Pete" Aldridge Jr.

He is scheduled to blast off from the West Coast military launch facility at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Born in Houston Aug. 18, 1938, Aldridge grew up in Shreveport, La.

While at A&M he was a member of Corps Squadron 7.

From A&M Aldridge went to the Georgia Institute of Technology, where he earned a master of science degree in aeronautical engineering in 1962.

Before joining the Department of Defense in 1967, Aldridge held various staff and management positions in the Douglas Aircraft Co. in Santa Monica, Calif., and in Washington.

In 1967 he joined the staff of the assistant secretary of defense for systems analysis as an operations search analyst and then served as director of the Strategic Defense Division until July 1972. He served as an adviser to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks in Geneva and Vienna.

He re-entered private industry in 1972 as a senior manager with Aerospace Corp. in Dallas.

In 1973 he was named to a management associate in the Office of Management and Budget.

Aldridge returned to the Department of Defense in February 1974 as deputy assistant secretary of defense for strategic programs. The March 1976 he was selected director of planning and evaluation.

As director of planning and evaluation Aldridge was principal adviser to the secretary of defense on the planning and program execution of U.S. military forces and port structure.

In March 1977 he was named president, National Policy and Strategic Systems Group, Systems Planning Corp., Arlington, Va. His responsibilities included coordination of the corporation's study and analysis activities in the areas of strategic and conventional forces and range strategic planning.

AN OPEN LETTER

TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY

Department of Intercollegiate Athletics — Aggieland, Texas 77843-1228

Jackie Sherrill
Athletic Director and
Head Football Coach

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE STUDENT BODY:

History books years from now will tell us that the 1985 Texas Aggie football team was responsible for establishing a new record of success in the Southwest Conference. The excellence and dedication of this team was a major ingredient in the string of victories leading up to the 50th Annual Cotton Bowl Classic. But this success would not have been possible without the undying support of the Texas A&M University student body. Your spirit and unflagging confidence stoked the fires that made this past season shine so brightly. This is the greatest student body anywhere. I salute you for your dedication to our team and our traditions. I thank you for your support in good times and in bad. It has been with your help that we have been able to set a standard of excellence for the future, and with your help we will maintain that standard. This has been a great year for the entire athletic program, but it would not have been possible without you... the students of Texas A&M University.

Sincerely,
Jackie Sherrill
Athletic Director and
Head Football Coach

JWS/nsj