

INTERNATIONAL HOUSE OF PANCAKES RESTAURANT

All you can eat Daily Specials 10 p.m.-6 a.m.

All You Can Eat Buttermilk Pancakes

$1.99

Spaghetti and Meat Sauce with garlic bread

$2.99

*Must present this coupon

International House of Pancakes Restaurant 103 N. College Skaggs Center

Sunday: Drink Specials
Monday: 75¢ Draft Beer
Tuesday: $1.25 margaritas and fajitas
Thursday: Ladies $1.00 Well drinks
Friday: Drink Specials

No cover Mon-Thurs, Only $2.00 Fri, Sat.

Sundance

COLLEGE STATION HILTON and Conference Center 891 University Drive East • 693-7500

Why Choose Between

- Low Prices
- Good Service

When you can have

- Both
- at ComputerLand

DISCOUNTS UP TO 50% ON IBM, COMPAQ, AT&T APPLE, LEADING EDGE, EPSON, STAR, NEC, SYSDYNE...

ComputerLand There's only one Number One.

Dance Arts Society

Summer Schedule

Aerobics: Mon.-Thurs. at 7:00 p.m.

Tap: Time not yet available

Modern: Wednesdays at 8:00 p.m.

Ballet: Mondays at 8:00 p.m.

Jazz: Time not yet available

Dues: $25 for 8 weeks beginning June 18 or $2 per class without membership card.

Where: Dance Room, East Kyle

For more information call 696-6257

Class begins Monday, June 22

Sports

Heard surprises 200 field, Lewis

By Homer Jacobs Sports Writer

It's hard to believe Floyd Heard just finished his freshman year of eligibility as a Texas A&M sprinter.

In the last month, Heard has won two national 200-meter dash titles and qualified to represent the United States in the Goodwill Games in Moscow beginning July 5.

The last bit of Heard heroics took place at the USA-Mobil Outdoor Track and Field Championships in Eugene, Ore., this past weekend.

Heard qualified for a star-studded 200 final, which included Olympic champion Carl Lewis, after taking his preliminary heat in a time of 20.37 seconds.

"I was nervous, very nervous," Heard said.

But Heard never showed any indication of having butterflies in the stomach, as he burned up the track en route to victory in the 200, posting a wind-aided time of 20.03.

Lewis was hoping to win his third event of the meet having already won the long jump and 100-meter dash, but he finished a disappointing fourth.

Heard said he gained a lot of confidence for the 200 after his performance in the 100, where he turned in a solid 10.09 to grab fourth place.

"I didn't expect to do that high in the 100," he said. "I expected to get fifth or sixth."

No one really expected Heard to capture the 200 either with a field that contained Lewis and Roy Martin of SMU who holds the world's fastest time in the 200 this year at 19.97.

The race was Heard's first encounter with Lewis but not his last. He will soon team up with him in the 4x100 relay at the Goodwill Games.

Heard and second-place finisher Dwayne Evens (20.12) will represent the United States in the 200-meter dash at the Games.

"I've always wanted to make the USA team and go to the Goodwill Games," Heard said.

Heard's 200 time is the fastest in A&M history breaking freshman roommate Stanley Kerr's record of 20.10 established at the Southwest Conference Championships May 18 in Houston.

After Heard's trek to Moscow, he will return to Houston for the U.S. Olympic Festival-'86 that begins July 25.

Aggie Track Notes . . . Former A&M star Jimmy Howard, representing the Mazda Track Club, placed second in the high jump at a height of 7-7/8. Doug Nordquist of

Floyd Heard

Asics Tiger didn't jump any higher, but won the event based on his fewer misses at the height. Nordquist's jump set a new meet record to break Howard's old record established back in 1984.

A&M signee hopes to 'run' to Europe

GALVESTON (AP) — Most Americans traveling to Europe get there by boat or plane. Texas A&M signee Derrick Florence plans to get there by running.

Since leading Galveston Ball to a high school championship in track and field last month, setting a national high school record in the process with a 10.1 time in the 100 meters, Florence has turned his thoughts to faraway places.

His summer itinerary already includes Chicago, where he posted an impressive double win last weekend, and Baltimore, where he attempts this weekend to qualify for the U.S. Junior Nationals, set for July 27-28.

How fast Florence runs when he gets to Baltimore will determine if he joins the American contingent scheduled to compete this summer in Orlando, Fla.; Romania and Athens, Greece.

Florence, who has yet to lose a race this year, is about to step up to a higher level of competition than what he's accustomed to.

Saturday, he ran against some of the world's top schoolboy sprinters in the 15th annual Keebler International Prep Track and Field Invitational in Chicago and kept his streak intact.

Considered by many to be the country's top prep sprinter, Florence ran away from the field to win the 100 and 200 meters, recording times of 10.36 and 20.89 seconds.

Florence was invited as one of the top eight American pre-collegians at both 100 and 200 meters. The prestigious invitational meet in prior years has attracted such notables as Carl Lewis, Dwight Stones and Renaldo Nehemiah.

To earn a place on the Junior National team, which is sponsored by the Track Athletic Congress, Florence will have to finish among the top 13 in either of the events, says his coach, Ball High's Kermit Courville, who has continued to train Florence this summer.

The junior classification comprises athletes 19 and under, which means the field will include college freshmen.

Florence recognizes the degree of challenge, but is not one to minimize his chances.

"I should make the team," he says. "I haven't thought about losing. I'm undefeated this season, but I know it's going to get harder down the way. I feel the best hasn't been brought out of me yet."

Florence says his level of improvement should directly correspond to the level of competition he faces. The pattern of his previous races — he almost always starts from behind, chases down, then blows past the other runners — suggests that Florence will run as fast as he has to.

"That's what makes me run, to see somebody out there in front of me. I know I'm not going to be the first one out of the blocks," he said.

Florence knows that, now that he's out of high school, he's about to step into some fast company, but this won't change his mental approach to the race, he said.

"Every time I run, I'm thinking the guy next to me is faster than I am. I make myself the underdog," he says. "That makes me run faster. You never know who'll be feeling good that day."

Becker rips Argentine opponent on rain-drenched opening day

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Defending champion Boris Becker made a triumphant return to Centre Court Monday, capturing his opening-round tennis match in the 100th renewal of Wimbledon, which once again was plagued by rain.

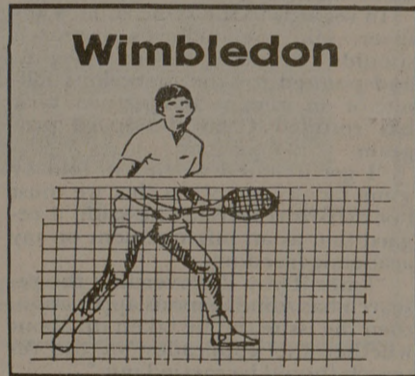

But Kevin Curren, who lost to Becker in the title match a year ago after upsetting both John McEnroe and Jimmy Connors, was upset himself, falling to another West German, Eric Jelen.

Becker, seeded fourth, crushed Eduardo Bengochea of Argentina 6-4, 6-2, 6-1, while Jelen eliminated Curren, the 11th seed, 6-4, 6-7, 2-6, 6-4, 12-10 just before a heavy rain interrupted play.

The matches on all courts were suspended by the weather, with the exception of Centre Court, where second-seeded Mats Wilander of Sweden defeated American Scott Davis 7-6, 6-4, 6-4.

Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia, the No. 1 seed, was leading Leonardo Lavalle of Mexico 7-6, 1-0 on Court 1 when rain stopped play. After a long delay, the match was suspended.

On opening day last year, a cloudburst washed out the entire program except for Court 1, where Lendl, slipping on the wet grass, defeated American Mel Purcell, then erupted with anger when he discovered his was the only match allowed to continue.

Wimbledon

Other first-day winners in men's play before the rains fell at the All England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club included Americans Paul Anacone, Jay Lapidus, Marcel Freeman and Tom Gullikson; Andrew Castle of Britain; Sweden's Peter Lundgren and Jan Gunnarsson; Czechoslovakia's Tomas Smid; and Israel's Amos Mansdorf.

The honor of being the first winner at this year's Wimbledon went to American Terry Phelps, who defeated Britain's Amanda Grunfeld 6-2, 6-0 in women's singles. She advanced into the second round at 1:24 p.m. London time, 28 minutes before Denmark's Tine Scheuer-Larsen stopped American Lea Antonoplis 6-2, 6-4, and 36 minutes before Becker took to Centre Court in the traditional 2 p.m. beginning.

He started right where he left off a year ago, booming 10 aces in overwhelming his Argentine foe who is ranked 105th in the world, 99 places behind the red-haired, 18-year-old West German.

Bengochea dropped his serve to begin the match and never was in contention. The first set took just 29 minutes to complete.

After his victory, Becker donated his first-day earnings — approximately $6,100 — to the United Nations Children's Fund, of which he is sports ambassador.

Only 19 of the 64 scheduled matches were completed, with another 16 suspended by the rain.

Among the 29 matches that were scheduled but never began were those involving the two No. 3 seeds — Connors, seeking his third Wimbledon men's singles title, and Czechoslovakia's Hana Mandlikova.

The women's top seeds, No. 1 Martina Navratilova and No. 2 Chris Evert Lloyd, are scheduled to begin play on Tuesday, traditional "Ladies Day" at Wimbledon.

Bias probe centers on cocaine use

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — A preliminary investigation indicates "that cocaine was involved in the death of Len Bias," a state prosecutor said Monday.

Arthur Marshall, state's attorney for Prince George's County, said he was convinced that cocaine was present in the dormitory room where Bias collapsed early Thursday morning, just two days after he was selected by the Boston Celtics as the second player taken in the NBA draft.

Marshall said field tests showed that a glassine envelope found in the car of the 22-year-old University of Maryland basketball star contained cocaine. He said the test, while not admissible as evidence in court, is usually accurate.

Marshall also said he has been told that traces of cocaine were found in a urine sample tested at the hospital where Bias was pronounced dead last Thursday.

The prosecutor said, however, that he doesn't know what caused Bias' death and doesn't know if cocaine was a contributing factor.

Marshall said at a news conference held on the steps of the county courthouse that he will go ahead with a criminal investigation into the events surrounding Bias' death and will begin presenting evidence to the grand jury next Tuesday.

The investigation will initially focus on who supplied illegal drugs and who used them as Bias, his teammates and friends spent the early morning hours celebrating the realization of his dream to play with the Celtics, Marshall said.

If the state medical examiner determines that cocaine was responsible for the cardiac arrest, the prosecutor said it is possible that he might bring manslaughter charges against the person who supplied the drugs.

Marshall conferred Monday with Alan Goldstein, a lawyer who represents David Gregg and Terry Long, two teammates who were with Bias in the dorm room the morning he died.

Goldstein said Long and Gregg will appear before the grand jury if they are issued subpoenas and will testify if they are granted immunity.

He would not say whether they will testify voluntarily.

Marshall said he is not prepared to grant immunity to anyone yet, but that he wants to talk to the two players and has discussed it with Goldstein.

He said police are trying to locate Brian Tribble, a longtime friend of Bias, and Tribble's roommate, Mark Fobbs.

Some of Bias' teammates have said that he and Tribble drove to northeast Washington several hours before his death.

A police official acknowledged that there were reports Bias had been seen early that morning in an area known for its on-the-street drug sales.

Marshall described Tribble as "a man who has been around for some time on the campus." He said Tribble has a criminal record involving minor theft, but does not have any recorded involvement with drugs.

Marshall said there may have been a delay of 15 to 30 minutes before an ambulance was called, but that he doesn't know if a delay contributed to Bias' death.

He confirmed that the room was unusually neat, saying that everything was in place, all the beds made and "not a beer bottle to be found" when the room was checked.

"I don't think there is any question that the room where Bias died was sanitized," he said.

Drug paraphernalia was found in a garbage bin outside the dorm, Marshall said.

He said University of Maryland officials "have not been as cooperative as law enforcement officials would like them to be."

Marshall said he wants to talk to Lefty Driesell about a meeting the Maryland basketball coach had with his team hours after Bias died.

There have been reports that Driesell instructed the players how to respond to questions from police and reporters.