Supreme Court decision disables Gramm-Rudman

stitutionally required separation of powers between the executive and legislative branches.

The law's main supporters immediately said they would introduce legislation amending the act to conform with the court's objections.

President Reagan said the decision should not deter Congress from following through with spending cuts to slash budget deficit running in the range of $200 billion a year.

In a written statement, Reagan said the decision brings the focus of compliance with the law "back to where it belongs: on the Congress."

Many say the absence of an automatic provision for cutting the bud-get will leave Congress in a stalemate.

Supporters of Gramm-Rudman say lawmakers who voted for it will have a tough time facing voters if they balk at implementing budget cuts.

In the Gramm-Rudman case, the court said the law improperly em-powers an officer of Congress, the comptroller general, to perform an executive function.

The law enpowered the comptroller general to order specific levels of deficit reduction to meet Gramm-Rudman targets.

"By placing the responsibility for execution of the (act) in the hands of an officer who is subject to removal only by itself, Congress in effect has retained control over the execution of the act and has intruded into the executive function," he said. "The Constitution does not permit such intrusion.

The court gave Congress 60 days to implement fallback provisions of Gramm-Rudman authorizing the lawmakers to vote on a deficit-reduction package themselves in the event part of the law was invalidated.

The chief sponsors of the law — Gramm and Sens. Warren Rudman, R-N.H., and Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C. — said they will seek the alternative of restricting congressional power over the comptroller general. The proposal will be attached to a bill to raise the debt ceiling to pay the nation's bills, Gramm said.

The dissenters to the court's rul-ing were Justices Byron R. White and Harry A. Blackmun.

Joining Burger were Justice Wil-liam H. Rehnquist, President Reagan's choice to succeed Burger as chief justice, and Justices William J. Brennan, Thurgood Marshall, Sandra Day O'Connor, Lewis Powell and John Paul Stevens.

Farm Aid II

Holiday concert was good, revenues not enough

By Karl Pallmeyer Battalion Music Critic

About 45,000 people braved the heat, traffic and each other on the Fourth of July for Farm Aid II, an 18-hour concert orga-nized by Willie Nelson to benefit America's farmers. Those 45,000 fans got a fantastic concert but the thousands of farmers who have fallen upon hard times weren't so lucky.

Last year's Farm Aid concert in Champaign, Ill., made over $9 million. Half of this amount hasbeen used to buy seed, provide le-gal aid and provide other rural relief programs to benefit farmers in 40 states.

Farm Aid II brought in less than $1.4 million from ticket sales and donations. Nelson said it might be necessary to have Farm Aid III.

The concert was plagued by problems from the planning stage. Originally the concert was to be held at Memorial Stadium at the University of Texas but the site was changed to Southpark Meadows, six miles south of Austin, due to problems with obtaining liability insurance.

More insurance problems caused the site to be changed once again to Manor Downs, a horse racing track east of Austin, just one week before the concert.

Some 75 acts from rock, pop and country music including Nel-son, Stevie Ray Vaughan, Step-penwolf, Arlo Guthrie, Neil Young, Waylon Jennings, the Pasek Paus Tei Mohal, the Blact Beach Boys, Taj Mahal, the Blasters, the Unforgiven, Dwight Yoa-kum, Dave Mason, David Allen
