East dominates basketball competition at U.S. Festival

HOUSTON (AP) — The East, led by Pittsburgh's "unguardable" Jerome Lane, moved into the favorite's role in U.S. Olympic Festival basketball Monday with a 96-89 victory over the West.

In women's play, the South beat the North 74-71 as Tennessee teammates Sheila Frost and Bridgette Gordon each scored in the final minute. The South, winner of four straight Festival titles, is 2-0, the North 1-1. A&M sophomore Donna Roper scored two points and added two assists for the South.

The third day of Festival action featured play in 18 sports in hot Houston, where the temperature climbed to 99 degrees. If anyone was hotter than Lane and the weather, it had to be Mary Lou Ramm of Chula Vista, Calif., who threw a no-hitter in a 9-0 victory by the West over the South in women's softball.

It was the first no-hitter of the season for Ramm, an elementary school teacher. She walked six and had two of the West's nine hits.

The South had only one hit in two games, losing 3-0 to a one-hitter by Tracy Compton of the North in the afternoon.

Lane, the sharpshooting sophomore forward, hit for 24 points to boost the East's record to 2-0. Lane had 18 in the second half.

"Today those guys just lost track of me," Lane said. "They just didn't want to guard me and I was open every play."

East Coach Gary Williams of Ohio State knows about Lane from Big East play when Williams was coaching Boston College.

"I thought Lane was a pretty good player who played well some of the time," Williams said. "Now he is starting to realize he can be a real good player if he puts his mind to it."

Villanova sophomore Doug West added 17 points for the East. Steve Thompson, a Los Angeles native who will attend Syracuse this fall, led the West with 19 points.

In women's play, Deanna Tate and Monique Pompili triggered a second-half surge that lifted the East to a 74-72 victory over the West. The game was close until the East, 1-1, reeled off 13 straight points — including four apiece by Tate and Pompili — to turn a 57-56 deficit into a 69-57 lead with 6:42 to play.

The swimming was dominated by 14-year-old Vickie Vogt, a sophomore from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who won four gold medals.

Vogt was on the record-smashing South 800-meter relay team and then earned the 200-meter backstroke gold in 2:19.34. She previously won the 200-meter butterfly and was on the South gold medal medley relay team, and has a silver medal in the 100-meter backstroke.

Dante Muse of Des Moines, Iowa, also became a four-time gold medalist when he captured the 500-meter final in 54.52 seconds, then helped the North to a win in the 4,000-meter relay.

Earlier, Muse won the 1,000 and 1,500 races.

Three-time world champion Rick McKinney, Gilbert, Ariz., took a four-point lead over two-time Olympic gold medalist Darrell Pace Monday after two rounds of the archery finals. Sharon Riley of York, Pa., stormed from 10th place after the first round to take the lead in the women's event.

Aggie Notes . . . Several Aggies and a future Aggie have turned in respectable performances so far in the first three days of competition at the U.S. Olympic Festival — '86. Tricia Green is in seventh place in the archery competition after two rounds, with 297 points, 10 behind Riley. Rick Stonebreaker, another Aggie archer, failed to qualify for the third round.

In field hockey, Enrique Proano, Asif Quereshy and Syed Naved Aftab playing on a combined regional team helped their squad to a 0-0 tie with a team composed of former Olympian players and coaches. As a result, the three Aggies have been invited to various field hockey camps in Colorado and a 16-team tournament in California to be held in September.

Susan Habermas, who will join the A&M swim team in the fall as a freshman, placed third in the 200-meter individual medley with a time of 2:24.12.

Ag Polo Club grabs third

The Texas A&M Polo Club's women's team took home third place Sunday in the Midcontinental Women's Polo Tournament at the Willowbend Polo Club in Dallas.

The Aggies defeated the host Willowbend team 8-1 for the third place in the double-elimination tourney which was held Thursday through Sunday.

A&M was the only university team of the six clubs, including one from California and one from the East, to compete.

Hospital releases Howser

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Kansas City Royals Manager Dick Howser was released Monday from the hospital where he underwent brain surgery last week.

Howser, 50, will return to St. Luke's hospital Tuesday to begin radiation treatment for a malignant brain tumor.

Dr. Charles Clough, a neurosurgeon who removed part of the tumor in a four-hour operation July 22, said Howser was responding well to treatment, according to Dean Vogelhaar, spokesman for the Royals.

Howser, who guided the Royals to a seven-game World Series victory over the St. Louis Cardinals last season, was feeling good and continued to express thanks for the "kind thoughts, cards and prayers" that had been sent, Vogelhaar said.

Bias' friend surrenders

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — Brian Lee Tribble, who prosecutors say supplied the cocaine that killed basketball star Len Bias, surrendered Monday and was jailed when he couldn't post $250,000 bond.

Tribble, a long-time friend of Bias, was indicted Friday on charges of distributing cocaine, possessing cocaine with intent to distribute, possessing cocaine and possessing PCP, said his lawyer, William Cahill.

David Gregg and Terry Long, two of Bias' teammates at the University of Maryland, were served notice of their indictment on charges of possession of cocaine, but they were not required to turn themselves in, said Prince George's County Sheriff James V. Alusi.

Tribble has asked for a hearing before a circuit court judge to seek a reduction in his bail and is scheduled for a 1:30 p.m. bond hearing today.

Arthur A. Marshall Jr., state's attorney for Prince George's County, said before the grand jury returned the indictments that he believed Tribble supplied the cocaine that killed Bias.

Allegations

to the student body, the Times Herald said.

A&M Head Basketball Coach Shelby Metcalf and Athletic Director Jackie Sherrill were unavailable for comment, when The Battalion attempted to contact them Monday.

Assistant coach John Thornton told The Battalion Monday that it was the athletic department's policy not to comment on any allegations or hearsay.

Metcalf was contacted by The Bryan-College Station Eagle Saturday, and said, "I think (the accusations are) groundless, but I've been told not to comment."

The Times Herald quoted former Aggies Kenny Brown, Phil James, Tyren Naulls, Darnell Williams, Reggie Roberts and Tyrone Emerson as saying they had received prepaid airline tickets arranged by coaches to travel home from College Station.

James and Naulls are from Los Angeles, Williams is from New York, and Emerson is from Chicago, Ill.

Roberts, the Times Herald reported, said he received prepaid tickets one summer while at A&M to Fort Walton Beach, Fla., so he could visit his parents who moved there from McKinney.

Brown was quoted by the newspaper as listing several A&M violations.

Kenny Brown

Alleges several Texas A&M basketball violations.

According to the Times Herald, Brown said:

- The summer before his enrollment at A&M Metcalf gave him a plane ticket to travel to Tucson, Ariz.. Metcalf did not ask to be reimbursed for the ticket.

- Former assistant coach and recruiting coordinator John Widdicombe reimbursed him $80 to $100 per car trip he made to his home in Memphis, Tenn.

- He attended Hill College, a junior college in Hillsboro, without paying dormitory fees or tuition. He and then-A&M recruit Lowell McHenry also received small amounts of cash for meals by Hill athletic director and basketball coach Ray Roberts.

Roberts, the paper reported, denied handing out cash to players or knowledge of A&M players attending Hill without paying.

Two other A&M players, Reggie Roberts and Brian Marshall, the Times Herald reported, said they believed A&M paid their tuition while at Hill College.

The newspaper also quoted Roberts, Naulls, Emerson and former Aggie forward Al Culton as saying they could obtain rental cars through members of the coaching staff to use when recruits were visiting the campus.

Fred Burton, a forward in 1984-85 and part of last season, said Metcalf stopped supplying rental cars after one player "really took advantage of it," but he was able to borrow Widdicombe's car several times, the Times Herald said.

Burton, James, Williams and Culton were quoted as saying they sold complimentary tickets to boosters and athletic team managers.

Burton, the paper reported, said he sold his tickets for the 1985 tournament for between $400 and $500. James, the Times Herald reported, said he received about $100 for four tickets and Williams claimed he sold his tickets for about $200.
