Meese porn report to be published by Christian group

WACO (AP) — A federal report on pornography will be printed in paperback by a Christian publishing company that wants the public to know what pornography really is like, company officials said.
"We don't want this to be perceived as some kind of right-wing religious crusade," Charles "Kip" Jordan, executive vice president of Word Publishing, said. "But what is chronicled in this report goes well beyond what most people would ever imagine."
The federal report is the finished product of a 14-month study by the U.S. Attorney General Edwin Meese's office.
An 11-member panel appointed by Meese last year read and viewed samples of pornography, visited adult-oriented businesses and listened to testimony from those who said they were pornography victims.
The final (July 9) draft of the report contains 93 recommendations for controlling pornography.
Jordan said the $9.95 paperback will be available Sept. 5, and will contain 2,235 separate magazine titles and 725 books found in pornography shops. Word will distribute the book to both Christian and mainstream bookstores.
He said Word expects some feedback from Christian bookstores, but added that the "emphatic outcry" against the findings of the attorney general's commission advanced its publication command Word to distribute the report.
"All we're saying is that the First Amendment applies to both left-wing and right-wing organizations," Jordan said. "Certain groups at publications have sought to impose their own censorship on the findings of this committee. We just want it to be submerged."
Jordan said major publishing houses refused to distribute the report, which prompted Word to publish it in a condensed version.
The book will be sealed in a plastic covering and contain the words "Warning: Contains extremely explicit sexual content."
It will include no photographs or illustrations.
"There is no doubt that the report will contain material that is extremely offensive to most people," Jordan said. "... we want them to have the opportunity to draw their own conclusions."

Dallas' projected shortfall could cost hundreds of jobs

DALLAS (AP) — A projected budget shortfall of more than $60 million could cost hundreds of municipal employees their jobs and sharply cut services, a bitter setback for a city used to being a glittering notch in the prosperous Sun Belt.
Dallas is studying a budget plan that would eliminate 600 jobs and raise most fees by 20 percent in an effort to meet a state law that requires cities to operate with a balanced budget.
If the plan were adopted by the City Council, all city swimming pools would be closed next summer, the summer playground program would be eliminated and the central library would be closed evenings.
Dallas' woes come at a time when state lawmakers are fighting a fiscal crisis caused by the collapse of oil and gas prices. The Legislature is considering various plans to attack a deficit that Comptroller Bob Bullock said will grow to $3.5 billion by Aug. 31, 1987, unless taxes are raised or spending is cut.
Dallas City Manager Charles Anderson unveiled his $1 billion budget Monday, recommending nearly $20 million be cut from services such as park programs, health and human services and city building security operations.
The shortfall, estimated at $60.3 million, is due to planned spending increases in the police and fire departments and in street repair, coupled with flagging sales and property tax revenues, Anderson said.

Gang kills teen 'to see him suffer'

HOUSTON (AP) — Five members of a gang planned for three weeks to torture a friend to death just to watch him suffer, a prosecutor said at the trial of one of the members.
"They took turns beating the victim," prosecutor Jim Peacock told jurors Monday during the first day of testimony in the trial of Harold Glenn Smith.
Smith, 18, is accused in the Aug. 6, 1985, beating death of Dennis Keith Medler. Medler's body was found eight days later near a north Harris County cemetery by a man tending cattle.
Peacock said Medler was lured out in the early hours of August on the pretense of hunting mushrooms.
He said the gang took Medler to a remote field, tied him up and used a pipe to beat him and a knife to stab him.

Mandela invited to speak, won't ask for OK to visit U.S.

DALLAS (AP) — Organizers of the National Association of Black Journalists convention said Tuesday that Winnie Mandela accepted an invitation to speak to the group but later decided not to apply for permission to leave South Africa.
The conference, to be held in Dallas today through Sunday, focuses on freedom of the press domestically and in South Africa, convention chairwoman Alexis Yancey said.
Mandela, wife of jailed apartheid opponent Nelson Mandela, had accepted an invitation to speak at Thursday's keynote luncheon, Yancey said.
Dallas journalist Mark August, who originally is from South Africa, said he talked to Mandela by telephone and she indicated she was interested in giving the speech.
However, he said, Mandela decided not to apply for permission to leave her home in Soweto, South Africa.
Between 1,200 people and 1,500 people are expected to attend the convention, the group's 11th.
The Rev. Allan Boesak, president of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches and founder of the United Democratic Front, will speak at the Thursday luncheon. Boesak probably will bring a message from Mandela, August said.
Major-General Joseph Garba, the chairman of the United Nations Committee Against Apartheid, also will speak at the luncheon, and Alan Rosenthal, executive editor of the New York Times, will speak at a preliminary session about the difficulty of covering South Africa under the government-imposed state of emergency.
