Texas A&M University

Fall 1986

Howdy!

Welcome to Sterling C. Evans Library. As the major information resource for students and faculty at Texas A&M, the Library has more than 1.6 million volumes available for your use. But we're more than books. From films to federal documents, from maps to microcomputers, Evans Library offers a wide variety of materials to meet the demands of users in a changing society.

Technology is changing the way people find and use information, making computerized data retrieval a necessity in today's library. At Evans Library, our users not only search printed sources and indexes, they also use the latest laser disk technology to retrieve information within seconds or search hundreds of online databases providing access to literally millions of sources.

This array of materials, services, equipment and policies may seem overwhelming. But learning to use the library is a skill, and like any skill, once you have a knowledge of the basics and practice a bit, it can be mastered. Hopefully, this guide will serve as a first step in acquiring those skills. This brief introduction to Evans Library includes basics of library use, descriptions of special services, library hours and the location and telephone numbers of the different departments. Tours, lectures and hundreds of other instructional handouts are also available. Your success as a library user depends on your ability and perseverance to find just the information you seek. We want you to be a success at Evans Library!
