217 hijacking survivors arrive in West Germany

FBI agents meet plane to question victims

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — A special Pan Am jumbo jet landed in Frankfurt Sunday with 217 survivors of a hijacking in Karachi, Pakistan, which killed at least 15 people, including three Americans.

FBI agents investigating the day-long Friday hijacking were at the airport to meet the plane and talk to the 44 Americans aboard "if they have evidence to present," said State Department spokesman Michael Austrian.

The plane landed at 7:10 p.m. An Indian man was the first to come into the airport lounge, where soft drinks, coffee and cheesecake awaited survivors.

"It was a harrowing experience," said the man, who refused to identify himself.

"We had a horrible time."

After a brief stopover, the plane was to fly to London and New York. Pan Am officials said 72 passengers would leave the plane in Frankfurt, 18 in London and 127 would go on to New York.

Four hijackers, believed to be Palestinians, seized a Pan Am jetliner with nearly 400 people aboard at Karachi airport early Friday and demanded to be flown to Cyprus, where they wanted to free jailed Palestinian terrorists.

The hijacking ended 17 hours later when the lights went out aboard the plane and the hijackers fired at the passengers. Pakistani security forces were in control of the plane half an hour after the shooting began.

The Justice Department on Sunday issued arrest warrants for the hijackers, charging them with murder, hostage-taking, attempted air piracy and aircraft sabotage.

White House officials said the warrants were issued as a precautionary measure and emphasized that the Pakistani government is in charge of the case.

Austrian said Federal Bureau of Investigation agents also wanted to talk to passengers to learn how to prevent similar hijackings in the future.

Families anxious for hijack victims' U.S. homecoming

(AP) As survivors of the Pan Am flight seized by Arab terrorists in Pakistan dispersed around the globe Sunday, relatives in the United States waited impatiently.

Some families in Texas and across the nation had to endure agonies of suspense before learning the fate of their loved ones in the 17-hour ordeal that ended in gunfire with at least 15 people dead, including three Americans, and 127 wounded.

Asha Reddy, mother of 12-year-old Siddhartha Reddy, in Sugar Land said, "It's hard for me to wait. I slept a few hours last night, and I feel really sick and tired."

Her son was among 400 hostages taken Friday on the Boeing 747 at the airport in Karachi, Pakistan, but was unhurt after the plane's lights went out and the terrorists opened fire with grenades and automatic weapons.

Reddy said she had booked a flight to New York to meet her son, but that he might be flown to Houston. "Tell (my mother) I love her and I'm coming home soon," the youth said in a telephone interview Saturday night from Karachi.

Dave Allison, 37, was among those passengers who fled from the plane's escape hatch Friday after the terrorists opened fire and Pakistani commandos stormed the plane.

His fiancée, Charlotte Moore, in Houston, said, "He jumped from the wing to the ground and when he landed he twisted his ankle. Then he couldn't stand up, so he had to roll from under the plane."

She said, "He told me not to worry if I saw pictures of him on TV with blood on him — that he had not been hit, but that it was a real mess."

She said she would fly to West Germany to join Allison, who was flown to the U.S. Rhein Main Air Base in Wiesbaden.

Deev Bhandari of Houston said he plans to fly to New York to meet his brother, Dr. Y.S. Bhandari, a New Jersey neurosurgeon who sprained his back fleeing the plane after the shootout.

In Newark, N.J., Dharmesh Patel said he learned Sunday that his younger brother, Mrugesh, had survived the shooting and was hospitalized in Bombay, India, with a leg injury.

The younger Patel, who was returning to the United States for his senior year of high school, had spent the summer with his parents in India. Dharmesh said calls to Pan Am and the State Department yielded no information on Mrugesh's whereabouts, but his parents learned where their son was and called Newark.

Pan American World Airways officials said 44 Americans, most of Indian or Pakistani ancestry, were aboard but that the list was not definitive.

John Paul II: Terrorism must end

COURMAYEUR, Italy (AP) — From an alpine peak beside Mount Blanc, Pope John Paul II on Sunday said bloody terrorism attacks on a jetliner in Pakistan and a synagogue in Turkey had turned hopes for peace into anguish.

"It is necessary, without delay, to do everything possible to put an end to the incessant escalation of hatred and terrorism," the pontiff said during his noon blessing from the 7,687-foot-high rocky peak of Mount Chetif.

From his pulpit facing the nearby cloud-covered snowy peak of Mount Blanc, Europe's highest mountain at 15,711 feet, John Paul said he was praying for the souls of the more than three dozen people killed in the two terrorist episodes.

The pope said the terrorists took the "blood of traveling brothers, the blood of brothers gathered in a place of prayer."

"In the face of these horrendous and almost unbelievable events, the yearning for peace turns into anguish," the pope said during his blessing.

Earlier Sunday, he flew by helicopter to the Brenva Glacier on Mount Blanc's southern face.

Wearing a white ski jacket over his cassock, a cap with ear flaps and white snow boots, the pope strolled alone on the glacier for about 20 minutes.
