

Rangers shut out A's, 3-0

ARLINGTON (AP) — Edwin Correa and Jeff Russell combined on a four-hitter and Pete Incaviglia hit his 29th home run as the Texas Rangers beat the Oakland A's 3-0 Monday night.

Correa, 12-13, went six innings and allowed one hit, a two-out single by Rusty Tillman in the second. The rookie right-hander ran his consecutive scoreless inning streak to 23 1/3 before leaving the game complaining of stiffness above the right elbow.

Russell came on at the start of the seventh, gave up a single to Bruce Bochte, the first batter he faced, then pitched shutout ball the rest of the way to earn his second save.

Oakland left-hander Curt Young, 12-9, took the loss despite giving up only three hits. Two of the runs against him were unearned.

With one out in the Ranger first, Oakland second baseman Donnie Hill dropped Ruben Sierra's pop for a two-base error and one out later, Incaviglia homered.

Incaviglia is now one home run short of the Ranger record for homers in one season, 30, set by Jeff Burroughs in 1973. Incaviglia's last four hits — in 36 at-bats — have all been home runs.

Correa walked three and struck out eight. He also uncorked a wild pitch, giving the Ranger staff 91 for the season, a major league record. The Houston Astros set the old record of 90 in 1970.

Don Slaught drove in the third Ranger run with a sacrifice fly in the seventh following a walk to Larry Parrish and a single by Mike Stanley.

tenders — Redskins (4-0), Giants (3-1), 49ers (3-1), Rams (3-1) and Cowboys (3-1) and a couple of still unproven upstarts — the Falcons (4-0) and Vikings (3-1).

The Vikings, whose record may be a factor of playing the inept Steelers and Packers back-to-back, play the Bears twice and 49ers in the next three weeks and also have the Redskins and Giants coming up. The Falcons, who barely got by Tampa Bay after upsetting Dallas, play the Eagles this week, then face an eight-week stretch of reality: Rams, 49ers, Rams, Patriots, Jets, Bears, 49ers and Dolphins.

In the AFC, Denver (4-0) slowly is becoming a dominant team as John Elway slowly becomes a dominant quarterback. The 27-20 win Sunday over the Patriots made the Broncos the clear standout for the first quarter-season but they still have the bulk of their division games to go plus the dangerous NFC East threesome of the Cowboys, Giants and Redskins. Lined up behind the Broncos are the Patriots (2-2) plus the Seahawks (3-1) and Jets (3-1). The Raiders and Dolphins, off to 1-3 starts, lurk in the shadows and Cincinnati and Cleveland at 2-2 are the best of the still somnambulant Central Division. But can anyone beat the Bears? Not according to the gentleman who coaches them. "The finest hour," Mike Ditka said after Sunday's game, "is yet to come."
