'Hard way' victory pleases Sherrill as SWC play nears

By Ken Sury
Sports Editor

Texas A&M beat Southern Mississippi last Saturday the hard way — just like Coach Jackie Sherrill wanted. Sort of.

Sherrill, at his weekly press conference Tuesday said, "I certainly was happy to see our players have a lot of fun. It was a game won the hard way. . . . That's the kind of game they'll remember a lot more (than the lopsided victory over North Texas State)."

The play of the A&M's defense, which held USM to 99 yards of total offense in the Aggies' 16-7 win, was reminiscent of last year's Southwest Conference-leading squad.

"Our football team is very physical when you let them fly," Sherrill said. "When you let them go full speed and splatter (the opposing players), you'll make things happen."

But Sherrill said he's still concerned with the offense's lack of scoring. "Offensively we need to improve ourselves in the red zone — inside the 30 (-yard line)," Sherrill said. "I've been pleased with how we move the ball, but we should have put 17, 24 points on the board (in the first half against Southern Mississippi). We've been making mistakes and missing assignments when we get in the red zone."

And the offense will need to improve as A&M opens its SWC season Saturday at Kyle Field when it takes on Texas Tech. The Aggies have only beaten the Red Raiders once during Sherrill's tenure. The win was last year's 28-27 victory, when Texas Tech failed a two-point conversion try in the final seconds.

The offense could be bolstered by the return of Aggie fullback Roger Vick, who Sherrill said would start Saturday. Vick missed the Southern Mississippi game after he dislocated a finger against North Texas State.

The Red Raiders always seem to play A&M tough, a fact Sherrill said the Aggies are well aware of.

"These kids have two knots (losses to Texas Tech) on their heads," he said, "while (Texas Tech) only has one."

"They (the Aggies) don't want it to get lopsided."

SMU quarterback Watters earns SWC player-of-the-week honors

DALLAS (AP) — When Bobby Watters came to Southern Methodist as a freshman three years ago, it was during the days of "The Pony Express."

It was Reggie Dupard and Jeff Atkins off guard, tackle and around end. The Mustangs lived by the run and nobody could stop it.

SMU also had somebody who could hand off, throw an occasional pass, and do some excellent running in the slippery Don King. Watters had to watch and learn for two years.

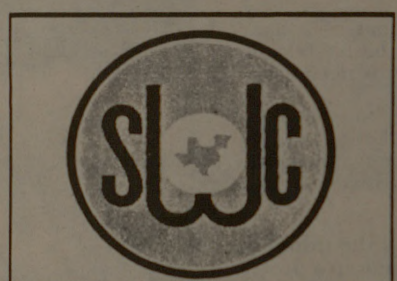

It's Watters' team now and "The Pony Express" has been replaced by a more balanced attack which features the fine throwing arm of the junior from Garland.

Watters showed what he could do Saturday in the Mustangs' 31-21 victory over Texas Christian in the Cotton Bowl.

He hit 11 of 18 passes for 187 yards, two touchdowns, ran for another score, and took the Mustangs on four long touchdown drives.

The performance earned him The Associated Press SWC Offensive Player of the Week.

Baylor's Thomas Everett was The AP's Defensive Player of the Week for the second time this season.

The Bears' free safety intercepted two passes, broke up two more passes, made 11 tackles, and hit Texas Tech quarterback Billy Joe Tolliver on a blitz that forced a short throw returned for a touchdown by Aaron Grant. The Bears won 45-14.

Everett was honored on the opening week of the season for a sparkling performance against Wyoming.

Watters completed eight consecutive passes during one stretch.

After the game, Watters dwelled more on his lone interception than he did on his sparkling performance.

"I was trying to put some touch on the ball but it slipped out of my hand," Watters said.

Baylor free safety Everett named week's defensive player

TCU's Tony Brooks returned 54 yards before he was tackled by the SMU one-yard line — by the SMU defense.

"It made me sick," Watters said. "Other than that Watters had a tremendous day. His touchdowns covered 80, 81, 80 and 74 yards."

"Balance is the key for us," says SMU Coach Bobby Collins. "Bobby shows a lot of poise there. The kid has a lot of class. He showed he can bounce back from adversity."

Watters said, "We have some tremendous receivers in Jeffrey Jones, Ron Morris and Albert Reese. It's just a matter of getting the ball to them."

Everett almost had three interceptions but dropped another way throw.

"It went right through my hands," Everett said. "You remember one you missed."

Everett, of Daingerfield, was first team AP All-America in the previous season. He struck the starter Rick Teaf. "Thomas is a unique player because he is in the right position on every play."

Graduating Engineers

Sperry will be on campus

Friday October 17

A career with Sperry will make real use of the time and energy you've put into the last four years. The result: We both profit. The more innovative our engineers, the more opportunities they create for themselves. We appreciate that. After all that's what makes us a growing company.

We're looking for B.S. graduates in electrical engineering. You may be involved in:

Electronic Engineering

Design and development of microprocessor based digital hardware, or analog circuitry for use in electronics. Applications include: CRT display systems, flight control systems, flight reference systems and helicopter avionics systems.

Systems Engineering

Avionics system analysis and design, emphasizing hardware and software integration. Applications include: Aircraft control law development, optimization of algorithms for aircraft performance, systems specifications design, flight dynamics and real-time operation.

Software Engineering

Creation, development and modification of software for real-time control. Applications include: Flight control, multiplex systems, production support equipment and validation and verification equipment.

Interested? If so, let's get together. We'd like to talk to you about our business and the Albuquerque lifestyle that offers you a vacation climate and outdoor recreation year-round.

Investigate the opportunities at Sperry by talking to us while we're on campus. We'll fill you in on our competitive salaries and comprehensive benefits. Contact your campus Placement Office to arrange to see us. If you are unable to see us on campus, please send your resume to Eric Giershick, P.O. Box 9200, Albuquerque, NM 87119. 87119.
