Careers vs. Jobs

If you just spent four years getting a college degree, you're looking for more than a job.

We're offering careers with the Kinney Shoe Corporation.®

We don't just talk about promoting entry level people to management. For those who have a true entrepreneurial spirit, we do it. And reward them accordingly.

The opportunity to move up quickly, to manage your own store-and-more-is real, whether you start out at Foot Locker®, Kinney Shoes®, Lady Foot Locker® or Susie's.®

Kinney representatives will be on campus October 9th. Check with the Placement Office for details.

12 honored by Aggie Democrats

By Elaine Gruy
Reporter

The atmosphere was cheerful and the laughter was loud at Rudder Tower Saturday when the Aggie Democrats hosted a reception for several of the group's outstanding alumni.

Twelve people were chosen as the first members of the Aggie Democrat Alumni Association.

Chris Efird, Aggie Democrats' president, said the association is a support group which supplies valuable resources to the organization.

"These people have information and connections that we as students just do not have," Efird said.

Eight of those honored attended Texas A&M: state senators Kent Caperton, Chet Edwards and John Sharp; state Rep. Rick Perry; Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro; Justice C.L. Ray and attorneys Greg Laughlin and Don Mauro.

Others chosen were Pete Geren, who is campaigning for the 6th Congressional District seat, state Rep. Clint Hackney, College Station Unitedbank Chairman Calvin Guest and former state Rep. Neeley Lewis.

Efird said that while most of the people chosen did attend A&M, it wasn't necessarily a factor.

"The people we chose are dedicated to the idea of the Democratic Party and want to help keep an Aggie organization going," he said.

Although he stressed financial support as an important factor, Efird said the people chosen also bring insight that the Aggie Democrats need from the community to the campus.

Efird said he hopes the association will show that the Aggie Democrats no longer can be taken lightly.

"We haven't had the experience, the ideas, or the money," Efird said. "Now we can make our presence be known."

Carolyn Foster, vice president of programs for the Aggie Democrats, said the 12 were chosen from a group of about 50 Democrats directly involved in politics.

Aggie Parents of the Year honored at football game

By Lesley Mann
Reporter

William B. "Bill" and Joan Heye got a big surprise last April when they came to Texas A&M for Parents' Weekend. They were named Aggie Parents of the Year.

Saturday afternoon, in a brief ceremony before the football game, the Heyes were honored for this distinction.

The Heyes said that being named Parents of the Year came as a big shock. The Heyes have four children. Three currently are attending A&M, and one son, Bill, graduated from A&M in 1983. Pat, Kathy and John Heye decided last spring to nominate their parents for the award.

"We decided to do it because we thought they deserved the recognition," Pat said. "They had put a lot of effort into supporting their kids through college, and we wanted people to know about it."

"It was our way of paying them back."

The Heyes live in Richardson, where Mr. Heye is vice president and general manager of AirBorn Connectors, Inc., and Mrs. Heye is a part-time substitute secretary for the school district.

"Being with the young men and women here at school and getting to know them better is my favorite thing about being at A&M," Mr. Heye said. "There is a certain wholeness, maturity and responsibility among the students here."

"Our involvement is at its peak while the kids are here. But it will continue even after they're gone."

Mrs. Heye said, "A&M has given us a lot more than we've given them, so anytime they call on us, we'll help."

Mr. Heye is a founding member of the Corps Development

Council, and serves on its executive committee. He was a guest speaker at Muster in 1982 and has led a roundtable at the Student Conference on National Affairs. Mrs. Heye is secretary of the Dallas A&M Mothers' Club and has been an official observer of SCONA for two years.

Loeffler files to divorce wife of 16 years

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — When U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler gave up a seat in Congress to run for governor, he said much of the reason was that he wanted to spend more time with his family in Texas.

But little more than a year after disclosing his decision to give up his position as the third-ranking Republican in the U.S. House, Loeffler is divorcing his wife of 16 years, the San Antonio Light reported Sunday.

Loeffler filed for divorce in Kerrville Sept. 18 because the "marriage has become insupportable," his divorce petition states.

Not long after Loeffler lost the gubernatorial primary, rumors about a possible divorce surfaced in San Antonio.
