

707 TEXAS • 2305 CAVITT

4¢ COPY CENTER

707 Texas • 693-COPY 2679
2305 Cavitt • 823-COPY

"We Honor Competitors' Coupons!"

707 TEXAS • 2305 CAVITT

Marines

We're looking for a few good men.

Captain R. Mahany
Class of '77 846-8891/9036

AM/PM Clinics

Minor Emergencies
10% Student Discount with ID card

3820 Texas Ave. 401 S. Texas Ave.
Bryan, Texas Bryan, Texas
846-4756 779-4756

8a.m.-11p.m. 7 days a week
Walk-in Family Practice

Lutheran Collegians

Lecture Series

Presents

Rev. Silas Krueger

"Martin Luther: The Tallest MAN IN HISTORY?"

The Most INFLUENTIAL Person Since The Time of Christ

Wed. Oct. 8, 7 p.m., Rudder 504

$5.00 off any regularly priced shoes. With this coupon now through Oct. 11.

Stadium $89

Black, Taupe

We have your size!

4-11B
6-9AA

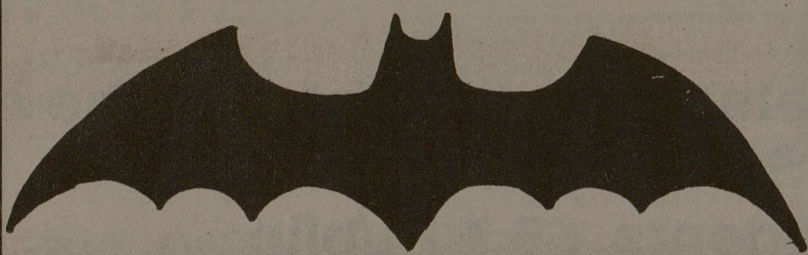

Special orders available. Slightly higher for oversize.

RED CROSS SHOE SHOP
The shoe store with more! Sizes...service...selection.

Post Oak Mall
Use Wyatt's Entrance

MSC Cepheid Variable
presents

BATMAN

Thursday, October 9 $1.50
7:30 and 9:45 pm 701 Rudder

Sherrill says Aggs will need discipline

By Homer Jacobs
Assistant Sports Editor

Texas A&M's televised game with Houston should be a three-"D" affair.

For the Aggies, it'll be "D" as in discipline on defense in the Dome when the game kicks off at 12:04 p.m. Saturday on Raycom TV.

At least that's what A&M Coach Jackie Sherrill said at his weekly press conference Tuesday.

Last week, Sherrill said A&M could play more reckless defense against Texas Tech because of the Red Raiders' pass-oriented game plan.

This week the Aggies will face Coach Bill Yeoman's traditional veer offense that will require Aggie defensive players to "stay home" in their assigned zones.

"We're going to have to discipline ourselves a lot more," Sherrill said.

Sherrill said he does not want a repeat of last year's game at Kyle Field when the Cougars took a 9-0 lead after the Aggies made some early mistakes.

"We're going to have to be more consistent and certainly start out better offensively," Sherrill said.

In a telephone hookup with local media Tuesday, Yeoman said his team will have problems with the Aggies if Houston continues its error-prone ways.

"(A&M is) blessed with tons of good football players," he said. "They've got an excellent football team. We can't go around turning the football over, or we won't have any chance at all."

However, Houston may have a better chance than people might think, because history is on the Cougars' side — A&M hasn't won in the Astrodome since 1952.

"We're just probably a little luckier there than any other places," Yeoman said.

Sherrill said Houston may not be the biggest team the Aggies face this season, but the Cougars more than make up for their shortcomings with speed.

A&M linebacker Johnny Holland (11) drags down Texas Tech running back Ervin Farris by his jersey as free safety Kip Corrington (10) prepares to lend a hand in the Aggies' 45-8 win.

Houston's largest player on the defensive front weighs in the 240-250-pound range, while A&M's offensive line has the likes of a 340-pounder in right tackle Marshall Land and a 285-pounder in left tackle Louis Cheek.

"You'd probably rather play a team that's big and can't move, rather than a team that can move," Sherrill said.

He said Houston's defense is known for an intensity that's present on every snap.

"They play well because the chemistry is there," Sherrill said. "They're excited to play."

Could there be a problem with the Aggies looking ahead to the showdown with Baylor?

"We're not, and I don't think Baylor is, either," Sherrill said.

Sherrill was definitely pleased with the development of the kicking game so far this year.

"I feel good about our kicking," Sherrill said. "I feel good about what we did in the punt return, and about putting pressure on their (Texas Tech) punters."

"We're going to have a football team that will block some punts," said Slater.

Slater did not kick off in the Texas Tech game because of a pulled groin muscle, but he is expected to handle the kickoff duty on Saturday.

Trade works for Hernandez

HOUSTON (AP) — When Keith Hernandez was traded from the St. Louis Cardinals to the New York Mets, he cried.

The Cardinals had won the World Series the year before; the Mets had been last in the National League East.

At the time, Hernandez never would have believed that, three years later, he would have another chance to be in a World Series.

"I was pretty down. I didn't like the idea of the trade at all," said Hernandez, who was obtained by the Mets on June 15, 1983 in a deal that sent pitcher Neil Allen to St. Louis. "Who could have guessed?"

"Here was a club that lost 90 games six or seven years in a row, a team that was in fifth and sixth place six or seven years in a row. And they turned it around to win 90 games, then 98 and now, 108 this year."

The Mets, champions of the NL East, take baseball's best record, 108-54, into the first game of the best-of-seven NL playoffs Wednesday night against the Houston Astros, who won the NL West with a 96-66 record, best in their history.

Dwight Gooden, 17-6, will start Game One for the Mets, with Mike Scott, 18-10, going for Houston.

"They've got a great club, and Davey Johnson has done a great job as manager," Astros Manager Hal Lanier said. "But we've had a pretty good season, too. We were in a fight to win our division, and I've got to be pretty satisfied with the way things turned out."

Both clubs finished the season with five-game winning streaks. The Mets clinched their title on Sept. 17 and won 14 of their final 18 games.

The Astros clinched on Sept. 25 when Scott pitched a no-hitter to beat San Francisco 2-0. The no-hitter came in a stretch during which the Astros won six of eight games, all by shutouts.

Bob Knepper, Lanier's Game Three starter, made his final tuneup for the playoffs by pitching five perfect innings against Atlanta before being taken out in Sunday's season finale.

The Mets third-game starter, Ron Darling, combined with Sid Fernandez on a four-hitter to shut out Pittsburgh on closing day.

While the Astros' pitching staff finished on an up-note, it was the Mets' hitting that got hot as the regular season ended. Darryl Strawberry, Gary Carter and Ray Knight hit home runs in the 9-0 finale.

A&M grabs 7th in tourney

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Texas A&M's women's golf team finished seventh in the third round Women's Intercollegiate Tournament at the Colonial Country Club Tuesday.

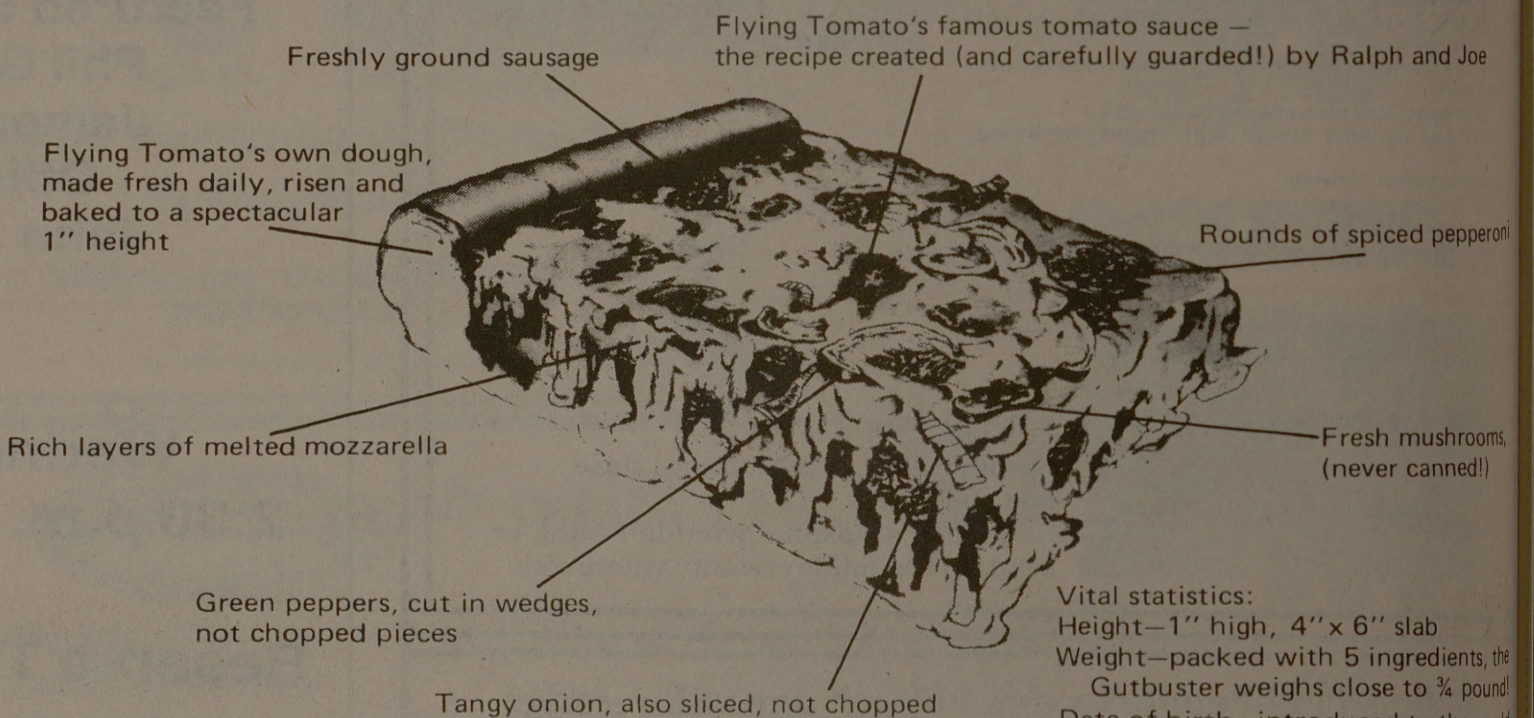

A&M ended up with a stroke total, 60 behind tournament champion Duke.

Fiona Connor led the Aggies' individual play with a tournament total of 236 strokes, good enough for a tie for 12th. Mariana Oyangueren finished with 238.

Adriana Penuela shot a 29 while Hollie Frizzell turned in a 250; and Caroline Basarab finished with a 258.

Everything You've Always Wanted to Know About Flying Tomato's Gutbuster Slice*

A GUIDE TO COLLEGE STATION'S FOREMOST & FINEST PAN PIZZA BY THE SLICE

Vital statistics:
Height—1" high, 4" x 6" slab
Weight—packed with 5 ingredients, the Gutbuster weighs close to ¾ pound!
Date of birth—introduced to the world in 1971
Place of birth—Garcia's Pizza in a Pan, Champaign-Urbana, IL

*But Were Afraid to Ask

Flying Tomato
PIZZA & PAN
303 W. UNIVERSITY • 846-1616