Candelaria hopes success continues

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — John Candelaria knows about adversity. He also knows about bouncing back.

It is a tribute to his resiliency that he will start for the California Angels Friday night in Game 3 of the American League playoffs against the Boston Red Sox.

Candelaria has felt the sting of criticism from teammates and management.

He underwent surgery for arm problems that threatened his career.

And he watched his infant son die after 11 months in a coma.

"The last couple of years taught me to deal with reality," he said.

Tonight, Candelaria will deal with a different kind of reality. The series is tied 1-1, and the Angels are counting on the left-hander to put them in front again in the best-of-seven series.

It seemed an unlikely scenario early in the season when Candelaria missed the first three months because of elbow problems. But he went 10-2 with a 2.55 earned run average after coming back in July.

His return, speeded-up because of a need for another starting pitcher on the staff, helped the Angels win the American League West. He did, however, have to take off a couple of weeks in September because of elbow soreness.

"If I would've taken my time and come back in August, I wouldn't have had the problem," Candelaria said. "I'm not putting the blame on anybody. I was trying to rush, too."

Candelaria, who will be 33 next month, teamed with Mike Witt, Kirk McCaskill and Don Sutton to give California a solid rotation on a team that finished second in the league in pitching.

Witt beat Boston 8-1 on a five-hitter in Game 1 of the playoffs, while the Red Sox prevailed over McCaskill 9-2 in the second game on Wednesday.

Candelaria will be opposed by Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd, who was 16-10 this season.

Tonight's game will begin at twilight to accommodate television. That is not a hitter's favorite part of the day.

"It's tough at the time, especially picking up the ball," Boston designated hitter Don Baylor said.

The Red Sox will be facing the 6-foot-7 Candelaria, who said, "I think I'm throwing it better now than I have in seven or eight years."

Most of that time was spent in Pittsburgh, where he pitched in the playoffs in 1975 and 1979.

In August 1985, the Pirates traded Candelaria, a lifelong starter who had been used exclusively in relief for the first time in his career. The change in scenery was exactly what Candelaria needed, and he went 7-3 for the Angels during the rest of the year.

"I don't know what that will be like," Candelaria said. "I've never pitched a 5:30 start in Anaheim."

"I feel it's time for my talent to come out," he said with a smile. "I don't know if it will."

Cowboys, Redskins to renew old rivalry

Battered players may miss game

IRVING (AP) — The unbeaten Washington Redskins can put the defending NFC Eastern Division champion Dallas Cowboys on the ropes Sunday with a victory at Texas Stadium in a clash of two old rivals who could be missing some key players.

The Redskins are off to a 5-0 start for just the third time in their 50-year history while the crippled Cowboys are 3-2.

"To start 5-0 for us is a dream," said Washington Coach Joe Gibbs. "We have 13 first-year players. We've made a lot of changes. We've fought hard every week and we're very pleased."

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said he hadn't projected such a quick blitz by the Redskins.

"I'm a little surprised," Landry said. "You have to be awful lucky to start 5-0. They are an excellent team and very well coached but you have to have a little luck."

Landry is 30-20-2 against Washington, including a series sweep last year.

Gibbs is 4-6 against the Cowboys, including a 44-14 loss in Texas Stadium last year.

However, both teams are so bruised up it could be the noon kickoff before starting lineups are determined.

Three of Dallas' shining stars, quarterback Danny White, running back Tony Dorsett, and defensive tackle Randy White nursed injuries.

Quarterback Steve Pelluer, who subbed for Danny White in a 29-14 loss to Denver last week, was ready for his Texas Stadium NFL starting debut if White's pulled groin refused to respond. Dorsett, who gave way to Herschel Walker last week while resting a sprained knee and ankle, could play with a knee brace.

Don Smerek, who has missed all of the season with a sprained knee, was activated to start for Randy White should a pulled hamstring become too painful.

The Redskins also have had their share of injury misfortune.

Linebacker Mel Kaufman is lost for the season and outside linebacker Monte Coleman's hamstring injury will not allow him to play against the Cowboys.

Middle linebacker Neal Olkewicz got a twisted knee in last Sunday's 14-6 victory over New Orleans and might not be 100 percent.

Landry said he thought Washington was a playoff caliber team.

"With a 5-0 streak, I'd say Washington is a cinch for the playoffs," Landry said. "Our timing (with injuries) couldn't have been worse."

Landry refused to say the game was a "must" for the Cowboys although a three-game deficit would be hard to overcome.

"I remember once we trailed by three games with four to play and ended up winning the Super Bowl," Landry said.
