Restaurant Report

By Mike Sullivan
Staff Writer

The restaurants listed below were inspected Oct. 1 through Tuesday by the Brazos County Health Department. The information is based on food service establishment reports.

SCORED 95 OR ABOVE:
• Vortex at Post Oak Mall was inspected by Mike Lester. Score — 98. One point was subtracted from the report because some flash plates were missing and some jumbled ceiling tiles needed to be reset. One more point was deducted on the report because there was a leak in the plumbing under a handsink in the men's bathroom.

• Eastgate Live at 109 Walton Dr. in College Station was inspected by Mike Lester. Score — 96. Four points were deducted on the report because a rear door was not self-closing.

• The Roxz at 313 S. College Rd. in College Station was inspected by David Pickens. Score — 96. Two points were deducted on the report because some mixers weren't covered. Two one-point violations were cited in the report because a water valve needed repairing and some ice-scoop hooks needed to be installed.

SCORED BETWEEN 80 AND 85:

• Ramada Inn at 410 S. Texas Ave. in College Station was inspected by David Pickens. Score — 85. Four points were subtracted on the report because a kitchen hand sink was inaccessible. Two two-point deductions were made in the report because there was a grease buildup under a griddle and there was some food on the floor. Another two points were deducted on the report because some pallets in a walk-in cooler needed to be raised six inches off the floor.

Five one-point violations were made in the report for the following: a floor under a busing station needed to be cleaned; some ice machines that were not in use needed to be removed; some rotting wooden shelves needed to be replaced; an area under a preparation counter needed to be cleaned; some leaking plumbing needed to be fixed.

Double Dave's Pizza at 2314 S. Texas Ave. in College Station was inspected by David Pickens. Score — 80. Five points were subtracted from the report because some poisons and cleaning products were stored incorrectly. A four-point violation was cited in the report because a rear door was not self-closing. Two two-point violations were subtracted from the report because a bathroom door was not self-closing and a garbage can was too full.

A total of five points was deducted on the report because there was some food splatter and dust on the kitchen floors, shelves, equipment and walls. Two one-point deductions were subtracted from the report because some ice scoops and some single-service items were being stored incorrectly.

David Jefferson, a registered sanitarian at the department, says restaurants with scores of 95 or above generally have excellent operations and facilities. Jefferson says restaurants with scores in the 70s or low 80s usually have serious violations on the health report.

Scores can be misleading, Jefferson says, because restaurants can achieve the same score by having several major violations or an abundance of minor violations. He says the major violations might close the restaurant down while some minor violations can be corrected during the inspection.

Jefferson says the department might close a restaurant if the score is below 60, the personnel has infectious diseases, the restaurant lacks adequate refrigeration, a sewage backup exists in the building, the restaurant has a complete lack of sanitization for the food equipment.

Point deductions, or violations, on the report range from one point (minor violation) to five points (major violation). The department inspects each restaurant about every six months.

Sometimes a follow-up inspection must be made, usually within 10 days. Jefferson says a restaurant might require a follow-up inspection if it has a four- or five-point violation that cannot be corrected while the inspector is still there, or there are numerous small violations. Inspectors at the department are registered sanitarians.

Dallas drills on p's, q's for star-studded gala

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas residents are practicing their manners and polishing their city in preparation for the Princess Grace Foundation Awards Gala, a benefit that is attracting the rich, the royal and the famous from all over the world.

Planes loaded with movie stars, government leaders and European royalty begin arriving Thursday, the start of a four-day festival on behalf of the Princess Grace Foundation, an organization named for the late Grace Kelly and designed to aid young performing artists.

The staff of the Loews Anatole Hotel, the festival headquarters hotel, has been preparing for the event for 18 months. The 1,600 hotel workers have attended workshops to learn such things as how to pronounce the name of His Serene Highness Prince Rainier III (it's Ren-yay) and how to coordinate the arrival of 500 guests arriving at the airport on 250 separate flights.

One hundred-twenty waiters, wine servers and bartenders went through intensive training to prepare for a $1,500-per-plate dinner on Saturday night.

The servers, said Anatole manager Randy Gantenbein, all "had to become certified to work the party."

The hotel also has given special training to 30 room service waiters, 50 housekeepers, 40 valet parkers, 15 bellmen, three seamstresses and 40 security people who will cater to the needs of the famous guests.

Expected guests include the royal family of Monaco, Prince Rainier, Prince Albert and Princesses Stephanie and Caroline, singer Frank Sinatra, and film stars Cary Grant, Joan Collins, Gregory Peck, Robert Wagner, Stefanie Powers and Brooke Shields. From the government will be Navy Secretary John Lehman Jr.

Only an official photographer will be allowed inside for the Saturday dinner — and an army of security personnel are trained to keep out gatecrashers.

The guests will also be treated to a rodeo, a cocktail party, a fashion show, and a horse show.
