Rally in 7th gives Mets World Series crown

NEW YORK (AP) - Ray Knight the general avail have transponder models that do information. gnited a three-run rally in the seventh inning with a home run, climaxing another New York comeback and sending the Mets to their second World Series hampionship with an 8-5 victory Monday night over the Boston Red er restricted a

The Mets scored three runs in the ixth inning, two on a single by Keith Hernandez, to chase two-game Se ies winner Bruce Hurst and tie the core 3-3. Hernandez capped the inning with a sacrifice fly for a 6-3 lead.

The Mets still had one last obstacle to overcome as the Red Sox rallied for two runs in the eighth on Dwight Evans' double, and had the tying run on second with no one out.

But Jesse Orosco came out of the bullpen and got Rich Gedman on a line drive to second, struck out Dave Henderson and got pinch-hitter Don Baylor to ground out to short. He pitched a perfect ninth for his second save of the Series. Darryl Strawberry led off the eighth with a homer off Boston reliever Al Nipper. Orosco, batting for only the fourth time this season, singled in Knight with the eighth New York run.

Winners of a major league-leading 108 games during the season, the big question about the Mets was how they would hold up under pressure. They had never been tested.

But they won their third National League pennant in a tense six-game playoff with Houston, culminating in the longest postseason game in history, a 7-6, 16-inning victory in the Astrodome.

The Red Sox came back with Hurst on three days' rest, taking ad-vantage of a rainout of Game 7 on Sunday night. He worked six innings and gave up three runs on seven hits in Game 5 of the American League playoffs. The Red Sox won that game 7-6 in 11 innings to begin a comeback from a 3-games-to-1 deficit against California. This time, the Red Sox couldn't quite make it all the way back

And thus continued the sad saga of the Red Sox, losers of four straight seven-game World Series — 1946, 1967, 1975 and 1986. In fact, the Red Sox have not won a Series since 1918, when Babe Ruth was still with the club.

In Game 6, they were one out away from winning it all, leading 5-3 with two outs in the 10th inning. But the Mets came back to score three runs on three straight hits, a wild pitch and an error by first baseman Bill Buckner.

Hurst then walked Tim Teufel on five pitches to load the bases, bringing up Hernandez, who had only one RBI in the previous six games. Hernandez took one strike, then hit a slicing line drive into left-center, easily scoring two runs and sending Teufel to third.

Hurst came out for a pinch hitter in the seventh. He worked six innings, giving up three runs on four hits. The winner of Games 1 and 5, he worked a total of 23 innings in the Series, giving up five runs on 18 hits.

Mets' Knight gets series MVP award

NEW YORK (AP) — Ray Knight, the man the New York Mets didn't want, turned out to be the one they needed the most, and was named most valuable player of the World Series on Monday night.

Knight, who batted .391 with nine hits in 23 at-bats, hit the seventh-inning home run that broke a 3-3 tie and sparked the Mets to an 8-5 victory over Boston in the seventh game.

Knight was being fitted for goat horns in Game 6 after his throwing error gave Boston a lead that could have ended the Mets' season. But he came back to score the winning run in the bot-tom of the 10th inning of Saturday night's 6-5 victory, and then played the hero in Game 7.

"I was so down the other night because of the error," Knight said. "Just goes to show you, if you keep fighting, anything can happen. I don't hit too many home runs but I knew that one was gone."

In spring training, the Mets tried hard to trade the veteran third baseman, who was coming off a disappointing, injury-plagued season during which he batted only .218. The only reason he stayed with the club was that General Manager Frank Cashen could find no takers for a 33-year-old infielder whose best days seemed behind him.

seemed behind him. "I'm a positive thinker," Knight said. "But the last two years, I did nothing to think I could be an integral part of this club, especially after spring train-ing. My wife kept saying, 'You can win the third-base job.' I said, 'no way.' It shows you that hard work and diligence paid off. I thank Davey Johnson. It's unbe-lievable that I'm up here."

Red Sox say they're hurt, but not ashamed

Boggs' face said it all. As the New York Mets cele-brated their World Series championship on the field at Shea Stadium, the American League batting champion sat in the dugout and cried.

The 8-5 loss to the Mets in Game 7 Monday night left the Boston Red Sox hurt and disap-pointed, but not ashamed, they said.

"There's nothing to be sorry about, it was a great Series," Boston first baseman Bill Buckner said.

"We gave it a good shot, but those guys hit when they had to," slugger Jim Rice said.

"We don't have anything to hang our heads over," said utility man Dave Stapleton. "I don't feel as if we lost the Series tonight, anyway. Coming so close and then losing the other night was what did it." Boggs, Boston's third baseman, appeared to be taking the defeat the hardest. He sat in the dugout,
