

Maryland names new head coach

BALTIMORE (AP)—Bob Wade, coach and athletic director at Baltimore's Dunbar High School, was named basketball coach at the University of Maryland Thursday, replacing Charles "Lefty" Driesell.

Maryland Chancellor John B. Slaughter, who made the announcement, said, "The University of Maryland has had a dearth of happy events over the last several months. Today represents a major change in our fortunes."

Driesell, under pressure to give up his coaching post following the June 19 cocaine-induced death of basketball star Len Bias, resigned Wednesday and accepted a job as assistant athletic director at the university.

Wade, 41, who was accompanied by his wife and one of his two sons, said his elevation to college basketball coach represents "something we looked forward to all of our lives."

A graduate of Morgan State in Baltimore, Wade has posted a 280-19 record during 10 seasons at Dunbar.

"It couldn't have happened to a better guy," said Lake Clifton High School Coach Woody Williams, a long-time friend of Wade's.

Wade has had a running feud with Driesell through the years. Wade claimed the Maryland coach would not recruit in Baltimore, while Driesell complained that Wade directed his best players to Georgetown University in Washington.

Pete Pompey, coach at Edmondson High School, said Wade never prevented Driesell from recruiting at Dunbar. He said Wade also has a strict philosophy about his players' academic performance and use of drugs.

"He made a commitment a long time that his kids were going to get an education," Pompey said. "He's disagreed with some of the things that he (Driesell) did."

But Pompey said that Wade feels Len Bias was an adult and he made a decision to take the cocaine that killed him.

"He has made a statement that he would be tougher on (drug use)," Pompey said.

The state prosecutor investigating Bias' death charged that Driesell did too little to discourage drug use and gave insufficient attention to the academic needs of his players.

Hurricanes play with fear of losing

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — Part of the reason the Miami Hurricanes are 7-0 and atop the national rankings is they enter every game expecting to win and play as if fearing to lose.

"We can't go into any game thinking that we're the better team," star quarterback Vinnie Testaverde said, "because we don't know if the other team knows that we're a better team."

The Hurricanes waste little time proving their point. They have outscored their opponents 105-3 in the first quarter.

The Hurricanes' least impressive performance came in the opener against Florida, the one team they always are fired up to play. Miami won that game 23-15 although Testaverde was slowed by a nasty cold.

Three weeks later, the Hurricanes manhandled then-No. 1 Oklahoma 28-16 in the Orange Bowl. Only a last minute touchdown by the Sooners made the score respectable.

Equally impressive have been lopsided victories over teams Miami should beat easily — 61-11 over Texas Tech, 34-0 over Northern Illinois, 58-14 over West Virginia, 45-13 over Cincinnati.

That easy part of the schedule ends Saturday when the Hurricanes face 20th-ranked Florida State, 4-2-1, in the Orange Bowl. Then they play at Pittsburgh, and close with Tulsa at home.

Defensive tackle Jerome Brown sometimes ruffles Coach Jimmy Johnson with his outlandish statements, but he sounds like a coach's dream when he explains Miami's ability to play well every time out.

"Every game is tough for us," he said. "We don't treat anyone any differently than we did Oklahoma."

"Sometimes we see younger players jacking up practice and we have to remind them we've got to do."

Johnson said he has a lot to instill that attitude in his players. He suspects the team's 35-7 loss to Tennessee in the Orange Bowl last New Year's Eve was a national title on the line.

"This group has the ability to do anything around," he said.
