

At Ease

CONTENTS

Being in a band isn't all it's cracked up to be. For example, The Hollow Men, pictured on our cover, have to practice in a rented storage warehouse because the neighbors didn't quite understand concept behind "louder is better."

But it ain't all bad. This issue features a behind-the-scenes look at local bands and their music.

At Ease Staff

Editors Bill Hughes
Marybeth Rohsner
Staff writers Tony Cornett
Karen Kroesche
Nancy Neukirchner
Reviews Karl Pallmeyer
Photographer Bill Hughes
Production Randy Marquardt

Features

Local Bands _____ 6

So, ya wanna be in a rock 'n' roll band? So did Sneaky Pete. That's him in the lower left corner of the photo, along with the Neon Madmen.

Sneaky Pete also wanted to be a cell biologist. He's one of several local professionals-turned-musicians we included in our list of people who keep the music scene alive and kicking in College Station.

Departments

Previews _____ 3

MSC Committee presents a Madrigal Feast

Reviews _____ 3,4,5

Album Reviews: "Rock for Amnesty"
Robert Cray's "Strong Persuader"
Movie Review: "Star Trek IV"
Movie Scene: Showing around town