

Rams blast faltering Cowboys 29-10

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Jim Everett, playing in just his fourth pro game, completed 14 of 25 passes for 229 yards and a touchdown Sunday night to lead the Los Angeles Rams to a 29-10 victory over the slumping Dallas Cowboys.

The game was marked by Dallas coach Tom Landry's being escorted to the dressing room by security officials, who said they were taking the precaution after they received telephone threats on Landry's life.

But, after remaining off the field for a brief time in the fourth quarter, Landry decided to return and was on the sidelines for the remainder of the game.

Landry, the only coach the team has had in 27 years, returned to the field wearing what appeared to be a protective vest underneath his sweater.

The Rams, 10-4, could clinch their second consecutive NFC West title with a victory over Miami next Sunday.

The Cowboys, losers of three straight and five of their last six, fell to 7-7 and saw their faint hopes for the playoffs grow even slimmer.

Everett helped stake the Rams to a 20-10 halftime lead, connecting on 10 of 18 throws for 182 yards, including a 22-yard touchdown pass to Henry Ellard.

The rookie quarterback out of Purdue also marched the Rams 82 yards in the closing moments of the first half in a drive that was capped by Mike Lansford's 27-yard field goal with eight seconds remaining.

The Rams took a 7-0 lead midway through the first quarter when cornerback LeRoy Irvin intercepted a pass by Steve Pelluer and ran 50 yards for a touchdown.

The Cowboys tied it later in the quarter on Timmy Newsome's 5-yard scoring run.

Lansford put Los Angeles up 10-7 with a 37-yard field goal early in the second quarter, then the Cowboys' Rafael Septien knotted the game again with a 48-yarder, his longest of the season.

Everett threw the scoring pass to Ellard 4:53 before halftime, then guided the Rams down to Lansford's field goal in the closing seconds of the half.

The Rams padded their lead to 22-10 in the third quarter, when defensive end Gary Jeter sacked Pelluer in the Cowboys' end zone. A 41-yard touchdown run by Barry Redden in the fourth quarter capped the Rams' scoring.

Eric Dickerson gained 106 yards on 28 carries to run his 1986 rushing total to 1,629 yards. While that keeps him far ahead in the league rushing derby this season, it leaves him 163 yards behind his 14-game total of 1,792 in 1984, when he set the NFL rushing mark of 2,105 yards.

Fouts leads San Diego past Houston

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Quarterback Fouts became the third quarterback in NFL history to pass for 100 yards in his career, and the San Diego Chargers recorded their 10th shutout in six years in a 27-0 victory Sunday over the Oilers.

The 14-year veteran went past the 1000-yard mark with a 22-yard completion to Trumaine Johnson in the third period and left the Oilers in a 14-0 hole after the Chargers' final score, a 14-0 lead, midway through the final period.

Fouts completed 21 of 30 passes for 250 yards and a touchdown Sunday to run his yardage total to 10,050.

Frank Tarkenton is the all-time passing yardage leader with 47,003 and John Unitas is second with 40,239.

San Diego running back Gary Anderson, who earlier was at the receiving end of a scoring pass from Fouts, also threw a touchdown pass to close out the scoring in a flourish. He threw a 4-yard scoring pass to tight end Kellen Winslow on a halfback option with 8:25 left to play.

The Chargers' final scoring drive was set up when Houston quarterback Oliver Luck was intercepted a second time and San Diego defensive back returned the ball 30 yards to the Oiler 49.

San Diego defenders recorded six quarterback sacks and held the Oilers to 134 yards in total offense in registering their first shutout since a 35-0 victory over New Orleans on Dec. 9, 1979.

It was the seventh time in their last eight games that the Chargers held an opponent to less than 300 yards in total offense.

San Diego scored two second-quarter touchdowns within 20 seconds of each other off of Houston turnovers and added a field goal to grab a 17-0 halftime lead.

San Diego defensive back Jeff Dale's interception of a Luck pass and 24-yard return gave the Chargers the ball at the Houston 23.

Two running plays advanced the ball to the Houston 1 before fullback Tim Spencer bolted over the goal line for the game's first score with 1:39 elapsed in the second period.

On the ensuing kickoff, which was short, the ball was mishandled by Houston reserve defensive end Lynn Madsen with San Diego linebacker Angelo Snipes recovering at the Houston 31.

San Diego immediately built its lead to 14-0. Fouts threw 31 yards to Anderson for a touchdown on the first play after the fumble by Madsen.

Benirschke added a 20-yard field goal for San Diego with 48 seconds remaining in the first half. His second field goal, a 35-yarder, gave the Chargers a 20-0 lead early in the third period.

Vinny's dad 'founded' Heisman hopes in '74

NEW YORK (AP) — The building stands alongside the Downtown Athletic Club, a few hundred yards from the Hudson River and not much farther from the Statue of Liberty, almost as far south in Manhattan as you can go.

Big Al Testaverde helped build the building.

Even then, some 14 years ago, when he was the cement mason foreman for the building that stands alongside the Downtown Athletic Club, Al Testaverde knew all about the Heisman Trophy.

Al Testaverde, the 6-foot-5 senior who led the nation in passing efficiency, won the Heisman by 1,541 points over Temple running back Paul Palmer, the country's top rusher.

The only greater margin was the 1,750 points by which Southern California tailback O.J. Simpson defeated Purdue halfback Leroy Keyes in 1968.

night when Al Testaverde finally made it inside the Downtown Athletic Club. So did his 23-year-old son, Vinny, the No. 1-ranked University of Miami's record-setting quarterback and winner of the 52nd annual Heisman Trophy.

"We dreamed it together, we did it together and I'm proud to say we won it together," Vinny Testaverde said. He was standing at a battery of microphones in a roomful of media but, he was talking to his father.

Aggies

"Jordan had hurt us in the first half, and putting her down was the key."

Hickey, although disappointed with the loss, was pleased with her team's progress after losing two games in last weekend's Southern Invitational Tournament in Atlanta.

"We played well," Hickey said. "At times we did very good. We did some nice things out there. But we can't play in spurts against teams like that."

Young also was pleased with Saturday's performance, even though the Aggies fell to 2-3.

"Last weekend we couldn't do anything right," the 5-4 senior said. "We showed a lot of teamwork and we played hard, it just hasn't fallen in to place yet."

The Aggies advanced to Saturday's championship game by defeating Mississippi College 81-63 on Friday. In Saturday's consolation game, however, Mississippi bounced back to defeat Lamar 89-65 and also placed two players, Norah McDonagh and Linda Davis, on the all-tourney team.

Rounding out the six-player all-tournament team was Roper, Lamar's Jennifer Murphy and Nebraska's Ivy and Stephens.
