Cambridge Buskers travel from street to concert hall with humorous show

By Karl Pallmeyer

The Cambridge Buskers took their music from the streets of Eu-rope to the stage of Rudder Auditorium to entertain a crowd of about 2,100 Thursday night. If they had passed the hat after their performance they might have doubled the amount they received from ticket

The MSC Opera and Performing Arts Society brought the Cambridge Buskers, a duo consisting of Michael Copley and David Abraham Gillespie (Dag) Ingram, to Texas A&M for the first concert of the new year. Copley and Ingram play classical music on accordion and a variety of wind instruments. With that type of orchestration you don't expect the evening to be too serious. The duo's humor made the evening delightful. For the trio section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forgary" Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forgary" (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forgary") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forgary") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forgary") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forgary") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forgary") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forgary") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forgary") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forgary") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes Forgary") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes") (Corlease to the section of John Philip Sousa's "The Stars and Stripes") (Corlease to t

Throughout the evening the Cambridge Buskers performed pieces with such unlikely titles as "Vivaldi's Concerto for a Small, Black, Japanese Recorder" (actually Vivaldi's second and third recorder concerts) "Johann Sabastica Back's concertos), "Johann Sebastian Bach's Theme from the Film 'Phantom of the Opera'" (Bach's Toccata and Fugue in D minor) and "Morris Ravel and Bo Derek Present 'Bolero' (Rav-

The fact that Beethoven wrote nine symphonies is well-known, but what wasn't so well-known (until the Buskers did it) was that the third movements of all nine symphonies can be played in 30 seconds. The fourth movement of Beethoven's ninth symphony got a more ex-tended treatment later in the pro-

Ingram introduced Aaron Co-

pland's "Hoedown" with a warning that it tends to become "very west-ern." The Copland piece was combined with the themes from "Dallas, "High Noon," "The Good, the Bad and the Ugly" and "The Magnificent Seven," along with a few "yee-haas" from Ingram. Lawmaker predicts nuclear waste dump location to change

EL PASO (AP) — An El Paso lawmaker said he'd be willing to bet a few paychecks that area residents have defeated a proposal to put a low-level nuclear waste dump in Hudspeth County.

State Sen. Tati Santiesteban, who opposes the dump, said he was reassured by a discussion Wednesday with the general manager of the Texas Low-Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority.

"In my opinion, we have beaten them," he said. "Let's put it this way: Right now, I think I'd bet a couple months' pay (that the site will be moved)."

Both of the authority's final site choices are in Hudspeth County one near Dell City, about 60 miles from the El Paso County line, and the other near Fort Hancock, about 13 miles from El Paso County.

Both sites are on state-owned land, but Land Commissioner Garry

Mauro has told Santiesteban that he will allow the dump site on land he controls only under the direct order of the Legislature.

The Hudspeth County sites would be eliminated if the state-owned lands are ruled out, authority general manager Rick Jacobi said.

We'd be dead in the water," said Jacobi. "It's just that simple."

Jacobi told Santiesteban that pri-vate landowners have offered several sites. But negotiations have not gone far, Jacobi said, "because we're in the fix now to where the people that are approaching us are interested in making a tremendous profit on their property.

Santiesteban, a Democrat, speculated that the dump site would end up on private land. The dump should be situated hundreds of miles east of El Paso to eliminate hauling to West Texas, he said.

Bio-ethics seminar to be held Saturda

By Carolyn Garcia Staff Writer

Three organizations are joining forces Saturday to try and make the local community more aware of their personal rights when faced with today's bio-ethical decisions.

Congregation Beth Shalom, The Jewish Women's Club and the Hillel Jewish Student Center are sponsoring a bio-ethics semi-nar Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in 501 Rudder Tower. The first of the four topics to be covered is the financial and ethical considerations of developing an artificial heart. Dr. David Gross, A&M professor of veterinary medicine, will be the Gross will be followed by William Hyman, A&M professor of industrial engineering, who will speak about informed consent and patient rights.
