One of the greatest of all Greek Tragedies, this modern, stirringly poetic adaptation of Euripides' play by Robinson Jeffers is a shocking play of fire and fury; revenge and remorse; magic and murder. Medea, a chilling tale of a woman obsessed with vengeance, provides an evening of sustained suspense and horror coupled with dignity and eloquence.

The critics called Medea:

"Magnificent"
"One of the world's greatest plays!"
"A torrent of passion and terror!"

Please join us for an evening of great tragedy!

Women's tennis team splits weekend action

By Hal L. Hammons
Sports Writer

The Texas A&M women's tennis team received its first real test of the season last weekend — and was dealt its first loss.

But Friday's 5-4 cliffhanger of a loss to Louisiana State did not seem to affect the women's play, as they were able to rebound from the setback to defeat South Florida 7-2.

The Aggies are now 5-1 on the season.

The match with LSU came down to the last set of the day, featuring No. 1 doubles team Kim Labuschagne and Lisa Keller of A&M against twin sisters Dana De and De Ann Worthington of the Tigers.

The Aggies had a chance to win the match in the second set, but lost in a tiebreaker. After the match resumed play the next day at Briarcrest Country Club, LSU took command of the match, winning the first five games and coasting to a 5-7, 7-6 (7-3), 6-2 victory.

A&M Coach Bobby Kleinecke said he was disappointed in the outcome of the match, but not with his team's effort. He said the toughest thing about the loss would be convincing the players that they played well.

"I know it sounds corny," Kleinecke said, "but the only way you learn is by adversity."

He said last year's team always played better after a setback like this team received at the Tigers' hands, and he said he expected this year's team to react similarly.

Saturday's action made Kleinecke sound like a prophet. The Aggies were able to shake off the loss and play a good match against USF.

"We picked up the level of our game," Kleinecke said. "We learned from (the LSU match). This team (USF) is good but not as strong as LSU. For us to beat them 7-2 is pretty good."

The key match of Saturday's action was the No. 4 singles match between Kellie Dorman of A&M and Gina Kead of South Florida.

With the Aggies holding a 3-2 lead in the contest, Read was one game away from sending the final singles match of the day to a third set. But Dorman tied it at 6-6 and raced through the tiebreaker for a 6-3, 7-6 (7-1) victory and a 4-2 lead for A&M.

"Kellie's match game gave us confidence," Kleinecke said. "She did a great job."

The Aggies go on the road to play Utah in Salt Lake City Wednesday and will be in Provo for the BYU Invitational Thursday through Saturday.

A&M grabs 2 out of 3 in men's tennis play

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The Texas A&M men's tennis team won two out of three matches at the Oklahoma State 4-Way Indoor Tennis Tournament this weekend at Oklahoma City, Okla.

A&M defeated tennis power Trinity 8-1 and downed Oklahoma University by a 6-3 count; the Aggies' only loss in the tournament was to OSU 5-4.

A&M Coach David Kent said the Aggies could have easily come away undefeated from the weekend's action.

"We came within an eyelash of beating OSU," Kent said.

The team's only setback to Trinity came in No. 1 singles play with A&M's Dean Goldfine falling to Trinity's Mauricio Silva 6-7, 6-4, 2-6.

In other singles action, A&M's Marcel Vos (No. 2) defeated Chris Geer 7-5, 6-4; Dean Johnson of A&M (No. 3) stopped Pat Sundh 6-4, 6-1; Brent Haygarth (No.4) beat Eno Polo 6-3, 6-4; and No. 5 freshman Shaun O'Donovan handled Redek Kocek 6-1, 6-0.

In doubles play, A&M's James Frank replaced Goldfine and joined Vos to make up A&M's No. 1 team, which defeated Silva and Kocek 6-3, 7-5; Haygarth and Johnson downed Greer and Sundh 6-4, 4-6, 6-2; and the No. 3 duo of O'Donovan and Steve Kennedy defeated Polo and Chad Marsh 6-4, 6-4.

Kent was pleased with the outcome of the tournament, and especially the big win over Trinity.

"A win over Trinity is not bad," he said. "I'll take a win over them anytime."

The Aggies return to the Omar Smith Tennis Center Friday to take on Southwest Texas State, and Saturday A&M battles Arkansas-Little Rock. Both matches begin at 1:30 p.m.

Lubbock (AP) — The Texas A&M women's basketball team found out over the weekend that shooting a mere 30 percent from the floor against a good team like Texas Tech usually gets you beat.

In this case, the Lady Aggies took it on the chin 72-49 against the Red Raiders Saturday night in Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

A&M now stands at 8-14 on the year and 4-8 in the Southwest Conference. Texas Tech raises its record to 15-9 overall and 8-5 in SWC play.

The game marked the return of A&M guard Donna Roper from gall bladder surgery. She managed 10 points to tie forward Evelyn Sanders as high scorer for the Lady Aggies.

Texas Tech center Stacey Siebert caused all kinds of problems for A&M. Siebert came off the bench to block seven shots and score 13 points.

"We're really down now," A&M Coach Lynn Hickey said. "We just had a really tough time shooting tonight. We weren't making anything happen on offense."

"When you shoot 26 percent in the first half, it kills you. We got so far down that once we started moving the ball it was too late to try to play catch-up."

The Lady Aggies remained in front of Baylor for the last spot in the SWC post-season tournament by a half game and will face the University of Houston Wednesday at 5 p.m. in Hofeinz Pavilion in Houston.

'Magic' tricks lift LA. over Boston 106-103 Lakers take season series

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Earvin "Magic" Johnson scored 39 points and led Los Angeles back from a 17-point third-quarter deficit to a 106-103 victory over the Boston Celtics, giving the Lakers the best record in the NBA.

Johnson scored eight points over the final 3½ minutes, including two clinching free throws with four seconds to play, to lift the Lakers to their 38th victory in 50 games this season, one game better than the Celtics.

With the Lakers down by three, Johnson hit a 15-foot jumper and then made a spinning layup with 1:29 to play to give Los Angeles a 98-97 lead.

After the teams exchanged baskets, Johnson sank an 18-footer with 23 seconds to play to put the Lakers ahead 102-99.

After Robert Parish scored on a dunk, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar made two free throws to put the Lakers up 104-101 with 16 seconds to play. The free throws gave Abdul-Jabbar 10 points, keeping alive his streak of 743 consecutive games in double figures.

Abdul-Jabbar had only two points with seven minutes left.

A layup by Robert Parish, who scored 20 points, got Boston within a point, setting the stage for Johnson to sink the two clinching free throws with four seconds to play.

Larry Bird, who finished with 20 points, missed a desperation three-pointer at the buzzer.

James Worthy added 26 points for the Lakers, who swept their two-game series this year with Boston. The Lakers defeated the Celtics 117-110 on Dec. 12 in Boston, snapping a 48-game winning streak by the Celtics in Boston Garden.

Kevin McHale scored 23 points and Dennis Johnson added 22 for Boston.

Los Angeles, after falling behind by 17 points in the third quarter, rallied to get the lead at 86-85 when Michael Cooper hit a three-pointer with 8½ minutes to play.
