Texas' bid for earlier primary Ok'd by Justice department

AUSTIN (AP) — The U.S. Justice Department has approved Texas' plan to join other Southern states in holding the "Super Tuesday" presidential primary in March 1988, state election officials said Monday.

Secretary of State Jack Rains said federal officials had given clearance required by the Voting Rights Act for the shift.

Texas and about a dozen other Southern states are moving their primaries and caucuses to the second week in March in a bid to lure more presidential candidates to the South to talk about issues of importance to the region.

Backers of the idea, which was approved by the Texas Legislature during its special session last summer, said the change should give the South — and Texas as its largest state — considerably more clout in choosing the Republican and Democratic party presidential nominees.

Texas has held its primary on the first Saturday in May, with runoffs in June.

Under the new plan, statewide primaries will be held on the second Tuesday in March, with primary runoffs held in April.

For 1988, the primary will be held on March 8.

Rains said approval was sought from the Justice Department so that his office could continue planning for the new date.

Rains noted that financing the primary will account for a large portion of his office's budget, which is being considered by the Legislature this session.

According to the Southern Legislative Conference, which has been a driving force for the Super Tuesday effort, 13 states have scheduled their primaries and caucuses for that week.

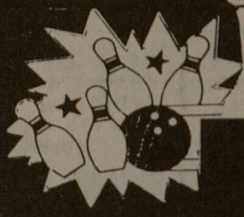

Those states account for more than one-fourth each of the total number of delegates who will be selected to attend the Republican and Democratic national conventions.

States so far scheduled to participate in the Southern super primary on March 8, 1988 are Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas, the SLC said.

In addition, Virginia plans to hold delegate selection caucuses on Saturday, March 12, as do South Carolina Democrats.

"CELEBRATE BLACK HISTORY"

presented by

ALPHA KAPPA ALPHA SORORITY, INC.

Tribute

To fling my arms wide
In some place of the sun,
To whirl and to dance
Till the quick day is done.
Then rest at cool evening
Beneath a tall tree
While night comes on gently,
Dark like me—
That is my dream!

To fling my arms wide
In the face of the sun,
Dance! Whirl! Whirl!
Till the quick day is done
Rest at pale evening...
A tall, slim tree...
Night coming tenderly
Black like me.

Langston Hughes
