High court supports quotas to force affirmative action

Alabama police plan ruled constitutional

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, in an important victory for affirmative action and a defeat for the Reagan administration, on Wednesday upheld racial quotas to hasten the promotions of blacks.
 By a 5-4 vote, the justices said a court-ordered plan requiring promotion of equal numbers of black and white Alabama state police troopers is constitutional.
 The plan does not amount to reverse discrimination against whites whose promotions may be delayed, the court said, because it is a "narrowly tailored" device to correct proven past discrimination.
 In other decisions, the court:
 • Voted 6-3 to bar state and local governments from regulating high-stakes bingo games and other gambling on Indian reservations until Congress consents to such regulation.
 • Ruled, by an 8-1 vote in a Florida case, that states may not deny unemployment benefits to employees fired for refusing to work on their Sabbath. The court said such denials violate freedom of religion.
 • Ruled unanimously that the federal government may put limits on the rates cable television companies pay for attaching their wires to utility company poles.

 The affirmative action decision marks the first time the high court directly has upheld racial quotas for promotions. The justices previously upheld hiring quotas but have struck down racial preferences that protect blacks with less seniority than whites from layoffs.
 Wednesday's ruling was hailed by civil-rights groups that said it is another blow against the administration's assault on racial preferences in the American workplace.
 "Once again, the Supreme Court has rejected the Justice Department," said Clyde Murphy of the NAACP Legal Defense Fund. "We hope they (administration officials) decide it's appropriate now to support the law rather than resist what is the clear message of the Supreme Court."
 The Rev. Jesse Jackson, meeting with President Reagan at the White House to discuss black education and other matters, said, "Now that the court has spoken, I hope that the law will be enforced vigorously."
 Assistant Attorney General William Bradford Reynolds, head of the Justice Department's civil rights division, minimized the significance of the ruling.

 "Our position has been never to use racial preferences," he said. "The court has said hardly ever and has carved out narrow exceptions."
 The Alabama plan requires promotion of one qualified black for each qualified white promoted until blacks constitute 25 percent of the higher rank or until the police department adopts an approved racially neutral promotion system.
 The only time the plan, ordered by U.S. District Judge Myron H. Thompson, has been implemented was to promote eight black and eight white troopers to corporal in 1984.
 Justice William J. Brennan, in the court's main opinion, rejected the administration's argument that a 50-50 quota is too high when blacks comprise only 25 percent of the affected labor force.
 The administration "ignores that the 50-percent figure is not itself the goal; rather it represents the speed at which the goal of 25 percent will be achieved," Brennan said.

Judge halts indictment of Deaver

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge on Wednesday temporarily stopped an independent counsel from seeking an indictment against one-time Reagan aide Michael K. Deaver for allegedly lying to a federal grand jury and a congressional committee investigating his lobbying activities.
 U.S. District Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson said Deaver's raised serious questions about the 1978 law establishing the office of independent counsel, and that the public interest would be served by a temporary delay.
 Before Deaver's attorney asked for a temporary restraining order in an emergency midday court session, independent counsel Whitney North Seymour had acknowledged he intended to ask a grand jury for the indictment later in the day.
 Seymour had said he would seek a four-count indictment charging Deaver with making false statements to a grand jury and to the House Energy and Commerce investigations subcommittee.

Second witness identifies Demjanjuk as former Nazi guard Ivan the Terrible

JERUSALEM (AP) — "I saw his eyes, I saw those murderous eyes," a Treblinka death camp survivor testified Thursday in naming John Demjanjuk as the brutal Nazi guard "Ivan the Terrible."
 Demjanjuk smiled and tried to shake hands with the witness. But Treblinka survivor Eliyahu Rosenberg, who had walked across the courtroom for a closer look at the 66-year-old defendant, exploded in anger, shouting in Russian: "Terrible. That's the bandit."
 Ivan the Terrible was the name given by prisoners of the Nazi camp in occupied Poland to a sadistic guard who operated the gas chambers where 850,000 Jews were killed.
 Asked by prosecutor Michael Shaked to make an identification, Rosenberg said he wanted to see the defendant's eyes. Demjanjuk took off his glasses, stood and whispered to his lawyer, "have him come closer to me."

 Rosenberg then approached Demjanjuk, who was sitting on a bench flanked by police officers and an interpreter.
 "Ivan, I say it unhesitatingly, without the slightest doubt, it is Ivan of the gas chambers," Rosenberg, a 66-year-old Israeli, said. "I saw his eyes, I saw those murderous eyes."
 Rosenberg was the second camp survivor to identify Demjanjuk as Ivan the Terrible. Demjanjuk is accused of being one of the operators of the gas chambers at Treblinka.
 Demjanjuk, who was stripped of his U.S. citizenship and extradited to Israel, has denied he was at Treblinka. His attorneys maintain the guard Ivan was slain in a 1943 uprising at Treblinka.

In his testimony, Rosenberg retraced statements he made in 1947 and 1961 that guard Ivan had been killed in the 1943 revolt.
 Rosenberg, who escaped in the uprising, told the account of Ivan's slaying was "a story, a mere boast. It was a matter of boasting to people who wished this had taken place."
 Rosenberg, whose mother and three sons died at Treblinka, told the court that he saw Ivan, wielding "a short iron pipe, a whip, a holster, a sword... would beat, whip, slash, stabs as they entered the gas chambers."
 Rosenberg, who was among workers who moved corpses from the gas chambers, testified Nazi officer once stopped Ivan from forcing to rape a dead woman. "Afterward Ivan said to me, 'You will pay for this,'" he said.

Gorbachev: Tough domestic reforms ahead

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev said Wednesday the toughest stage in his drive for domestic reform lies ahead and accused the West of going on the offensive to block the changes.
 In a wide-ranging speech to the Congress of Soviet Trade Unions, the Soviet leader also cautioned his country's workers that tangible benefits of the new Kremlin policies would be awhile in coming.
 "Many want a speedy social and material return," Gorbachev told the Kremlin gathering of delegates representing 188 Soviet labor organizations with 140 million members.
 "Let us be frank, comrades: We can achieve better quality for our entire life in only one way — through effective and highly productive work," he said.
 "Yes, indeed, the reorganization is affecting our short-term interests," he said. "But it meets the vital long-term interests of our working people. We ought to understand that."
 Gorbachev said the West, led by the United States, opposed the reforms.

"Imperialism and reactionary forces are doing their utmost to hinder, come what may, our onward development and compel us to remain on the tracks of military confrontation," he said.
 The Soviet leader noted that a year ago to the day the Communist Party convened its 27th congress to endorse the leadership's campaign for economic efficiency and more openness in society.
 He said the first steps have been taken but, "The main thing, and hence the most difficult, still ahead.

 "Up to now, we have been preparing for reorganization. Now it is time to get the reorganization actually moving."
 Gorbachev's remarks appear clearly directed at winning support among union leaders and the rank-and-file, while cautioning porters that the reforms would be quick fixes whose results would immediately felt.
