Blackhawks to look for new coach

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Blackhawks, embarrassed by losing four straight games in the NHL playoffs to Detroit, are in for an overhaul that includes a new coach.
 "I think we will have a major shakedown," team owner Bill Wirtz said Tuesday. "Our fans deserve better than they got at the end of this season."
 The Blackhawks fell in a three-game sweep to Toronto in the playoffs last season when the first round was best-of-five. This season, they lost four consecutive games in the best-of-seven format to the Red Wings.
 Wirtz said Bob Pulford, who compiled a 158-155-62 coaching record during parts of the past six seasons, will stay on for an 11th season as general manager but will not return as coach. Pulford had announced earlier he did not want to remain behind the bench.
 "Bob coached this year with the understanding it would be his last year as coach," Wirtz said.
 The Blackhawks owner said he did not think the dual role of coach and general manager bogged Pulford down, and said he still considers Pulford "one of the top three coaches" in the league.
 "Bob doesn't have to prove himself," Wirtz said. "It takes 20 players to win in the playoffs."
 Wirtz said he plans to look outside the organization for a new coach — a move that would seem to eliminate current co-coach Roger Neilson and Hawk captain Darryl Sutter.
 "There are a lot of coaches who won't get out of their contracts until after the playoffs," Wirtz said. "We've started making a list of people we'd like to consider."
 "We have been disappointed with the goaltending the past two seasons," Wirtz said. As for the possibility of trading other players, he said, "there are no sacred cows."
 The Blackhawks haven't had much help from their recent draft choices. Their first-round 1985 pick, Dave Manson, finished the season with nine points and Everett Sanipass, the top 1986 choice, played in only seven games.

Parker attributes Reds' quick start to contributions of young players

ATLANTA (AP) — Dave Parker looks at his Cincinnati teammates and sees a lot of young talent fighting for a spot on the field — "which is a great problem to have."
 Those battles have propelled the Reds to a fast start and early talk of a division championship.
 "We've got guys here sitting on the bench who could be starting somewhere else," Parker said. "But hopefully, we'll keep them here and win the West."
 The Reds have won five of their first six games, including Monday's 7-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves, whom they faced again Tuesday night.
 The quick start is in contrast to a year ago, when Cincinnati opened with a 5-16 record and ended 10 games shy of Western Division champion Houston.
 "We lost the title last year with the bad start," Parker said, "so we wanted to get off to a good start this year."
 And the Reds have, keyed by the hitting of youngsters such as center fielder Eric Davis, left fielders Kal Daniels and Tracy Jones, shortstops Barry Larkin and Kurt Stillwell, and the timely hitting of veterans Parker, Buddy Bell, Bo Diaz, Terry Francona and Dave Concepcion.
 Davis, the Reds' fleet center fielder, raised his average Monday from .440 to .447 with three hits and the game-winning RBI.
 "Tracy got three hits and Kal has five extra-base hits in his first five games," Manager Pete Rose said.
 "Terry and Dave have been doing a good job, and Larkin was hitting until he got hurt and Stillwell replaced him and got two hits," Rose said. "Bell has also been hitting well and Diaz is close to leading league in RBI."
 "They're tough and they're here," said Atlanta Manager Chuck Tanner, shaking his head in admiration. "But it took them about five years to get going through that year right now. We've got some ones in Triple-A and Double-A, won't be long until we've got just like the Reds do now."
 Rose thinks the Reds are a challenge for the National League.
 "We're a lot more grown up this year. We were ready in spring training," he said. "We were 13-12 last 17 spring games and we're doing anything different now."
 "It doesn't matter to me who as long as we win. Whether it's Tracy, Stillwell or Larkin, it's Terry," Rose said.

Moyer's near no-hitter was family affair

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The only thing better than pitching a no-hitter would be doing it before your family and friends. And that's almost what happened to Jamie Moyer.
 The Chicago Cub's left-hander, who grew up in nearby Souderton, held the Philadelphia Phillies hitless through eight innings Monday night before yielding a clean single to Juan Samuel leading off the bottom of the ninth.
 It would have been the first no-hitter ever pitched at Veteran's Stadium, which opened in 1971.
 When Samuel came to the plate, virtually everyone in the stadium, including Moyer's parents and a multitude of friends, was cheering for the 24-year-old. In fact, Samuel's single was followed by emphatic but good-natured booing.
 Moyer's only other appearance in Philadelphia was last June, a week after he had been recalled by Chicago. He was rocked for six runs in 2 2-3 innings as the Phillies went on to a 19-1 victory.
 "I wanted to prove to my teammates and to all of my people that were here that I could pitch in Philadelphia," Moyer said. "After my last start here, there might have been some doubts."
 Moyer, who was 7-4 last season, was pitching in his 18th major league game. He struck out 12 and walked six. After Samuel's hit, a walk and another hit followed and Lee Smith came in to save the 5-2 victory.
 "I was thinking about it in the eighth and eighth innings," Moyer said. "But I felt fine going out in the ninth. I was a little upset with it because I got the pitch to Samuel a little. It's a guessing game. Samuel guessed right."
 He said he was getting a lift since it was his first start of the season.
 "But I thought I'd just keep after them and see what happens," he said. "It was kind of funny and fun to hear the crowd cheer for me."
 Moyer's popularity in Philadelphia was best summed up by a spoiler, Samuel.
 "That's the first time I've been booed in Philadelphia for hitting a hit," said the second baserunner.

"Thanks to Greenleaf, I was able to share my secret."

"I felt completely out of control around food. I would eat everything in sight and then purge, by vomiting or taking laxatives. I was so obsessed with being thin that I exercised until I literally collapsed. I was irritable, depressed and self-conscious. Then I found out about Greenleaf's intensive four-week treatment program for people suffering from Bulimia or Anorexia."

Anorexia, the excessive pursuit of thinness, can result in malnutrition, loss of hair, low blood pressure, irrational thinking and even death.
Bulimia, compulsive eating binges followed by the purging of food can lead to severe dental problems, kidney failure or cardiac arrest.

Greenleaf's ABL Program (Anorexia and Bulimia Learning Experience) can help you regain control of your life. The 4-week program is scheduled to coincide with school and work vacations.
 Session 1: June 1-26
 Session 2: July 13-August 7
