

"Police Academy 4 — Citizens on Patrol"
 Directed by Jim Drake
 Starring Steve Guttenberg, Bubba Smith, G.W. Bailey and Bob Goldthwait

 There is only one reason to see "Police Academy 4 — Citizens on Patrol" and that is Bob Goldthwait.

It used to be a Hollywood trend that if a movie was good it would spawn a sequel. That trend has been broken by the "Police Academy" series. "Police Academy" should never have been released in the first place, much less "Police Academy 2 — Their First Assignment" or "Police Academy 3 — Back in Training." Now there's "Police Academy 4 — Citizens on Patrol," the worst yet.

In the new movie, the retiring police commandant (George Gaynes) wants to train volunteers from neighborhood watch groups to be police officers. A group of little old ladies, high school dropouts and screwballs show up for training. Capt. Harris (G.W. Bailey) doesn't like his department being muddled by the civilians and tries to make the program fail. Mahoney (Steve Guttenberg) and the rest of the officers decide to help the civilians make Harris look bad.

As in the first three movies, the plot is simple and the jokes are dumb. The movie is predictable, childish and silly. The only saving grace is Bob Goldthwait.

Goldthwait joined the series in "Police Academy 2" as the leader of a motorcycle gang. In "Police Academy 3" Goldthwait went straight and joined the force. Although most of his scenes and lines are stupid — e.g. a goldfish eating and an attempt to save a drowning victim — he is able to pull them off with his maniacal delivery. It's not what he says, it's how he says it.

Hopefully Goldthwait will be absent when "Police Academy 5" hits the screen. He deserves a movie that is fun to watch even when he's not on the screen.

Get a grip. Redstone doesn't have all that. Redstone DOES have the lowest rent on two bedroom apartments of any comparable complex in town. And with an annual lease you save even more. Redstone is less than a mile from campus, on the shuttle bus route and near dozens of shops, banks and restaurants. Redstone has a volleyball-pool, new jacuzzi with sun deck, security patrol and on-site maintenance.

No apartment complex gives you more than Redstone. (Even if we don't give you a 27-story parking garage with valet service.)
