Restaurant Report

By Curtis L. Culberson
Staff Writer

The College Station restaurant listed below was inspected April 6 by the Brazos County Health Department. The information is based on a food service establishment inspection report.

SCORED BETWEEN 90 AND 95:
Sticky Chin's Ice Cream Parlor at 305 University Drive was inspected by David Pickens. Score — 92. Four points were subtracted in the report because a fly-proof screen was needed over some vents and a rear-door threshold needed weatherstripping and repairing. Two two-point violations were cited in the report because ice used for beverages was uncovered and a cup was being used in place of an ice scoop.

David Jefferson, a registered sanitarian at the department, says restaurants with scores of 95 or above generally have excellent operations and facilities. He says restaurants with scores in the 70s or low 80s usually have serious violations in the health report.

Scores can be misleading, Jefferson says, because restaurants can get the same score by having several minor violations or a few major violations. He says the minor violations can be corrected during the inspection. Point deductions, or violations, in the report range from one point (minor violation) to five points (major violations).

Jefferson says the department might close a restaurant if: the score is below 60, the personnel have infectious diseases, the restaurant lacks adequate refrigeration, there is a sewage backup in the building, or the restaurant has a complete lack of sanitization for the food equipment.

The department inspects each restaurant every six months. Jefferson says a follow-up inspection is sometimes required if a restaurant has a four- or five-point violation that cannot be corrected during the inspection, or if there are numerous small violations.

Inspectors at the department are registered sanitarians.

Texans to fund restoration of state Capitol

AUSTIN (AP) — For $300, Texans can make a concrete contribution to restoration of the state Capitol, the group responsible for refurbishing the nearly 100-year-old building announced Wednesday.

The Capitol Committee kicked off the Capitol Centennial by inviting Texans to purchase a 28-inch cement diamond to be placed in the 500-foot walk leading to the Capitol's south entrance and the walk surrounding the building. The deadline for purchasing the diamonds is June 15.

The original gray cement walk now in place is deteriorating, said Roy Graham, Capitol architect.

Purchasers' names will be sandblasted into the cement blocks in half-inch letters through the "A Walk in History" project, said Lowell Lebermann Jr., president of the Capitol Committee.

Shark-attack victim's father says he didn't realize severity of injury

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A father who beat off a shark that was attacking his daughter says he did not realize the extent of her injury until she raised her right arm.

"There was no flesh left for several inches above where the elbow would have been," Robert Voglino of Kingsland said Tuesday. "I grabbed the stump and told her, 'let's go to shore!'"

His daughter, April Dawn Voglino, 16, began running the 75 feet toward shore Saturday evening but the 5-foot-long shark followed them through the chest-deep water, he said.

"It was getting closer, and I had the impression it was going to attempt to swim past me and go for her again," her father said. "I grabbed one of its fins sticking out of the water and attempted to hold it while she got to shore."

"I had the fin in one hand, and was trying to get a hold on it underneath with the other hand. I held it, I think for about 20 seconds and then it jerked out of my hands and swam to deeper waters."

"By this time, April was in shallow water. We both collapsed on shore from exhaustion. By now, Beth and the girls realized that something was wrong and that we weren't just playing out in the waves."

Beth Voglino, April's mother, said, "I ran down to April and Robert. Robert was still holding on to her arm, but he was very weak. From that point on I used everything I had learned in a first-aid class I had taken about three years ago."

The girl was flown by U.S. Coast Guard helicopter to Memorial Medical Center, where doctors operated for 45 minutes to control bleeding and amputate the part of the bone still protruding, Voglino said.

The attack occurred in the Gulf of Mexico off Mustang Island.
