Reagan warns Japan about further sanctions

President hoping to resolve dispute soon

dent Reagan said Monday it's time to stop "hemming and hawing" about trade problems between the United States and Japan and warned he has not ruled out imposing additional sanctions against Tokyo to resolve trade disputes.

While saying he hopes to be able to lift sanctions against Japan soon, Reagan said, "We will do what is necessary to see that other nations live up to their obligations and trading agreements with us.'

Reagan's remarks, in a speech before the annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, set the stage for the opening of debate today the House on a sweeping trade bill, and meetings at the White House on Thursday and Friday with Japanese Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone.

The final answer to the trade problems between America and Japan is not more hemming and hawing, not more trade sanctions, not more voluntary restraint agreements - though these may be needed as not more unfulfilled agreements,"

Reagan said.

"The answer is genuinely fair and open markets on both sides of the Pacific," he said. "And the sooner,

Reagan said areas in which Japan's markets are more restricted than the United States' include semiconductors, supercomputers, auto parts, telecommunications, construction projects and agricultural prod-

Momentum for passage of a trade bill has been fueled by America's huge trade deficit, which hit a record $166.3 billion last year, including a $58.6 billion imbalance in Japan's favor.

An amendment sponsored by Rep. Richard A. Gephardt, D-Mo., would force countries with large trade surpluses with the United States as a result of unfair practices to reduce the imbalances by 10 percent a year or face retaliatory measures such as tariffs and import fees. On Capitol Hill, House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, supporting the Gephardt amendment, accused Reagan of "engaging in flights of rhetorical exaggeration" on the trade issue.

Wright said Reagan and Naka-sone knew months ago that the House would be voting on the trade bill this week, and Nakasone "deliberately chose to come during this week." A final House vote on the trade bill is expected Thursday.

Gephardt said the vote on his proposal, expected on Wednesday on the second day of floor debate on the trade bill, "will be close." After testifying before the House Rules Committee, which was considering ground rules for the trade debate, Gephardt told reporters: "We have to fight for every vote.

Gephardt told the panel his measure would "add teeth and accountability" to U.S. trade laws. "It is our stick in the closet," he said.

Gephardt's amendment was criticized as too restrictive by Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., but Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., chairman of the rules panel, called it "a compromise between doing nothing and protectionism."

South African police clash with students in Cape Town

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Police fired birdshot and tear gas and used whips Monday in running battles with hundreds of student protesters, both blacks and whites, at the University of Cape

It was believed to be the first clash in which police fired guns to control rioting at a predominantly white school, and it was one of the most violent campus disturbances since a national state of emergency was declared in June 1986. The violence followed a midday

Waldheim, who was the United Nations secretary general from 1972 to 1982, thus becomes the first head of state ever placed on an immigration Watchlist of 40,000 people, many of whom are excluded from the United States as undesirable aliens.

Attorney General Edwin Meese III made the decision tha found that "a case of excludabili exists with respect to Kurt Wald-heim as an individual," the Justice Department said in a statement It said he knew of and aided per secutions of Jews, other civilian and partisans.

In Vienna, Austrian Foreign Minister Alois Mock said the dec-sion produced "great dismay" and the government recalled Am-bassador Thomas Klestil from Washington for consultation Mock said it was unclear whether Chancellor Franz Vranitzky would proceed with a visit to the United States later this month.

Austrian Embassy spokesman Walter Greinert said Presider Reagan told Klestil in a meeting Monday that the decision "in no way was reflecting adverse feelings to the Austrian people."

Edgar M. Bronfman, president of the World Jewish Congres, one of the groups that had fought to keep Waldheim out of the United States, said in New York that Meese "has acted in a courageous manner, and has sent a geous manner and has sent a clear message: Nazis are not we come here. . . . Magazine: Houses infested in Moscow's mall

MOSCOW (AP) — Rat-infested apartments with crumbling walls and collapsing ceilings are hidden behind the pretty pastel facades of the city's first pedestrian mall, a Soviet news magazine says.

The slum-like conditions along trendy Arbat Street include burst pipes and a frequent lack of hot water in crowded apartments shared by several families, the weekly Ogonyok said in its April 24 edition.

The fronts of the buildings along Arbat Street, the city's old cultural center, were restored in 1984-85 during construction of the mall, which stretches for about a half-
