Herzog steering 1st-place Cards around major league obstacles

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The "White Rat" continues to live up to his nickname by scurrying through mazes. Manager Whitey Herzog of the St. Louis Cardinals demonstrated his abilities to find a way through a twisted path again Tuesday night. With his worn pitching staff facing the first of two double-headers in as many nights, he steered St. Louis to two victories.

"We haven't hurt ourselves," Cards slugger Jack Clark said in explaining how St. Louis finessed a double-header sweep of the Los Angeles Dodgers, both by 5-4 scores, to run their winning streak to five games.

"Whitey does a good job with the bullpen and the bench. I think that's the key," Clark said.

Herzog played the role of a juggler in keeping the Cards afloat in a sea of 22 hits by Los Angeles batters during the double-header.

He reached into St. Louis' bullpen, selecting Rick Horton for his first start of the year in the opener. Horton was followed by two relievers. In the nightcap, Lee Tunnell was the first of four Cards pitchers.

Nor did Herzog confine his thinking to the games at hand as St. Louis held onto its eight-game lead in the National League East.

With an eye toward Wednesday night's second double-header, also against the Dodgers, he reached down to the minor leagues for reinforcement. This time, he tabbed Dave LaPoint, a pitcher banished in April to Louisville of the American Association, for another chance to start.

"Davey's pitched well down there; he's completed his last four starts," Herzog said of the performances at Louisville that earned LaPoint another look.

"If I forced (Danny) Cox, I've got to force (Greg) Mathews," Herzog said of three-day rests between starts those two otherwise would have had. "I needed a pitcher tomorrow night. That's why we brought up LaPoint."

Herzog has been able to coax the most out of a pitching staff that started Tuesday night with a 4.06 earned run average.

Todd Worrell has headed the relief corps but has received help. In addition to Horton, the St. Louis bullpen leaders have been Bill Dawley and Ken Dayley. The relievers, through 78 games, had an NL-leading total of 29 saves.

Herzog, the inventor of the double-switch in making late substitutions, frequently brings in one of his pitchers to face only one batter.

Blue Jays rally to down Rangers 5-2

TORONTO (AP) — Reliever Jeff Russell walked in the top run on four pitches to the batter he faced, and Tony Fernandez drove in the go-ahead run with a groundout in the ninth inning as the Toronto Blue Jays rallied to beat the Texas Rangers 5-2 and sweep a three-game series.

Rangers starter Bobby Witt, 4, the only Texas pitcher to be hit in Toronto at Exhibition Stadium since 1985, had a two-inning 2-1 lead through six innings. He hit Willie Upshaw, who walked Fred McGriff and Ken Leach with one out in the ninth.

Russell then walked Garth Iorg to force in the tying run, and Fernandez followed with a chopper grounder to second to score McGriff.

Toronto, which had only five hits, scored a pair of insurance runs in the eighth on an RBI single by Ernie Whitt and a base-loaded grounder by McGriff.

Curtis Wilkerson and Ruben Sierra hit solo home runs in Texas off John Cerutti, who lasted 6 1/2 innings, giving up two hits. Jeff Musselman, 7-2, got the victory with 2 1/2 innings of one-run relief, and Tom Henke got the last out for his 16th save. Henke saved all three games of the series.

Sierra's two-out solo homer was the first, his 11th of the season, gave Texas a 1-0 lead. Toronto tied it in the bottom of the inning. Fernandez walked, stole second, took third on a groundout and scored on Rance Mulliniks' double to right.

Wilkerson hit his second homer of the season and third of his career in the fifth to put the Rangers in front 2-1.

Howe reinstated in minor leagues

DALLAS (AP) — Steve Howe, the former Los Angeles Dodgers pitching star whose career was derailed by drug use, has been declared drug-free and reinstated in the minor leagues, his attorney said.

The reinstatement, which goes into effect Sunday, clears the way for Howe to sign with any major-league team, attorney John Lence said Tuesday.

The Texas Rangers have been most actively pursuing Howe since he returned last month from Mexico, where the one-time National League rookie of the year pitched 23 innings, allowing four hits and no runs for the Tabasco Banana Pickers.

"This is the go-ahead we've been waiting for," Lence said in a telephone interview from his home in Kalispell, Mont.

Howe would need the approval of Baseball Commissioner Pete Ueberroth before returning to the major leagues, but that is not expected to be a problem, Lence said.

But an aide to Ueberroth said that such approval would not be given immediately.

"If Steve Howe can demonstrate compliance with a drug-treatment program over a reasonable period of time and does not show any indications of a resumption of drug use, the office of the commissioner will, with proper safeguards, allow the assignment of his contract to a major-league team," said Ed Durso, secretary treasurer and executive vice president of the commissioner's office.

Major-league contracts must be approved by the Player Relations Committee.

Howe went through several drug-treatment programs with the Los Angeles Dodgers before being released on July 3, 1985.

He later signed with Minnesota, but was released later in the season when he was given permission to appear on a television show and failed to return to the team.

Howe was suspended from American baseball for the second time last year after he failed a drug test while pitching for San Jose in the Class A California League.

Rangers president Mike Stone said the Rangers are still "investigating" Howe.

"No contract parameters or terms have been discussed," Stone said. "We are continuing to gather information about him, and we have talked to the commissioner a couple of times. He wants some assurance to prevent what happened before."

"If we do sign him, we have to have reasonable assurances for the good of both parties," Stone said. "We want to make sure that the things that have affected him in the past don't affect him again."

Lence said Howe has taken more than 60 urine tests since January and passed them all.
