Landry: Hill not in condition may be released from tean has si next ransf DEFENSIVE DRIVING TICKET DISMISSAL. IN-SURANCE DISCOUNT, YOU'LL LOVE IT!!! 693-1322. 170t8/14

IRVING (AP) - Veteran wide receiver Tony Hill ceiver Tony Hill — perceived as overweight and out of shape — may be released before the Dallas Cowboys report to Thousand Oaks, Calif., Sunday for the start of pre-season training camp, Coach Tom Landry said Wednesday.

"He has not demonstrated he has been losing weight and getting back into the shape he needs to be in to help the Cowboys," Landry said at a news conference.

Landry said he would call Hill in for a meeting in the next day or so and decide on his future with the club "on the basis of what his reac-tion is" when asked why he has not been active in the Cowboys' off-season training program. When a team falls on losing times, as the Cowboys did with their 7-9 record last season, "the only thing you can do is work harder than you have been," Landry said.

In 10 seasons with Dallas, Hill has been to two Super Bowls and three Pro Bowls and holds the Cowboys record for yards receiving. But last season, he was bigger and slower and a less vital part of the offensive attack.

Landry said that Hill, who is now 31 and up to about 230 pounds, has not appeared to have heeded his warning that more would be expected this off-season of Cowboys veterans than ever before.

"I think you can assume people's intent on what they do," Landry

Reporting along with Cowboys rookies and first-year players Sunday will be 17 veterans, including eight signed as free agents after playing with other National Football League teams.

Chances are "slim to none" that the Cowboys' No. 1 and 2 draft choices will be on hand Sunday, Landry said, because of continuing contract negotiations.

"But that's not critical if they're not on hand for rookie camp," Landry said. "If they miss the first week or two of veterans' camp, that's when it becomes critical, because we put in all our offense then, and the rest of the time we're just fine tuning

In a statement, Carter said, "I re-gret the actions I took that make it necessary for Ohio State to declare me ineligible. I did not realize at the time the consequences that would result or the pain I would cause. Carter's name had come to light in COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Cris had no choice but to declare Carter Carter, the all-time leading receiver at Ohio State, was declared permanently ineligible Wednesday for accepting money and signing a contract with an agent. Ohio State athletic director Rick Bay, speaking at a news conference, said Carter admitted that on May 1, Carter, a 6-foot-3, 194-pounder said Carter admitted that on May 1, 1986, he had signed a representa-tion agreement and a $5,000 prom-issory note with Lloyd Bloom and Norby Walters, agents of World En-tertainment and Sports, Inc.

In addition, Carter, who had one season of eligibility remaining, received $150 per month for almost a year after signing the contract, which was postdated to Jan. 2, 1988. Bay said Carter looked upon the payments as a loan against future earnings but that it was still an infraction of NCAA rules, which carries a penalty of immediate ineli-

Twilight thwarts AL batters in 2-0 loss in All-Star Game

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - If American League batters must expe-rience the indignity of being shut out in All-Star competition, they would prefer suffering after dark or even in broad daylight.

Anything but twilight time, the handicap that hitters battled again Tuesday in baseball's third All-Star game played on the West Coast in the 1980s. The television networks plan on East Coast prime time and maximum potential audience, which means 5:40 p.m. California starting times.

There were only 14 hits in Tuesday's game, six by American Leaguers. The last three hits — sin-gles by Ozzie Virgil and Hubie Brooks, followed by Tim Raines' - came after the sun had triple gone down in a 13th-inning rally which gave the National League a 2-0 victory

'The ball was awfully tough to see early in the game. I suppose it got easier about the 10th inning," said Boston's Wade Boggs, who was 0for-3 before leaving the game in the sixth.

"You couldn't pick up the spin (of the ball) or the rotation," said Phila-delphia's Mike Schmidt. He singled off Detroit's Jack Morris in the fourth but said later, "If he didn't throw me a fastball in, I never would have gotten my hit." Morris said, "Catfish Hunter told me this is the time of day that he threw his perfect game." Hunter, the former Oakland pitcher who will be inducted into the Hall of Fame this summer, served as the American League's honorary coach

Three years ago at San Francisco's Candlestick Park, AL batters totaled seven hits in a 3-1 loss. They also had seven hits in a 4-2 loss at Los Angeles in 1980.

The California Angels are the front runners to host the All-Star game in 1989, which would mean another twilight starting time unless baseball and television executives change policy.

They should either start at a normal time, after 7 o'clock, or go earlier, something like 2:30, when it's played on the West Coast" said Boggs, who will resume the regular season Thursday night with a major league-leading .375 average.

"But they've got to sell those TV commercials," said the Yankees' Dave Winfield, the only player to play all 13 innings in the second longest All-Star game in history. Raines' triple, a line drive into left-center field off Oakland's Jay Howell, was the third extra-base hit of the game which wound up as the National League's 26th victory in the last 30 games. The other two extrabase hits, ironically, were doubles by Winfield and the NL's Andre Dawson in the first two innings.

Raines, named the game's Most Valuable Player, was 3-for-3 batting and noted later, "That gets me up to .300." The Montreal star was 0-for-7 in six previous All-Star games.

The All-Star batters came into the game with a total of 560 homers, but only two balls reached the Oakland Coliseum's warning track

"I think they changed the ball on us," Winfield joked.

Mark McGwire, the Oakland rookie who leads the majors in homers with 33, was out on a drive into the right field corner enth, and the Kansas City Kevin Seitzer backed Willie to within a few feet of the field fence in the 10th.

The Cubs' Lee Smith was ning pitcher in the fifth shutout in history, game two hits and striking out fou three innings, and the New Mets' Sid Fernandez pitched 13th for a save. Mike Scott, R cliffe, Orel Hershiser, Rick R John Franco and Steve Bed lowed a total of four hits or first eight innings. After loser Howell, Bedrosia probably the least effective of pitchers used.
