Sherrill: A&M must regroup prep for UH run-and-shoot

By Doug Hall

Assistant Sports Editor

Texas A&M Head Coach Jackie Sherrill said Tuesday the Aggies must accomplish the three "R's" before Saturday's 2 p.m. game with Houston at Kyle Field.

Those "R's", in this instance, stand for regroup, redirect and recover.

At Sherrill's weekly press conference, the coach of the 2-2 Aggies reiterated his praise for Texas Tech Head Coach Spike Dykes, and the need for A&M to bounce back.

"They deserved to win because they made the big plays," Sherrill said, referring to Tech's punt return for the opening score of the game and two fourth-quarter interceptions.

"You are not going to win all of them," he said. "And the ball bounced right for Tech and not for us."

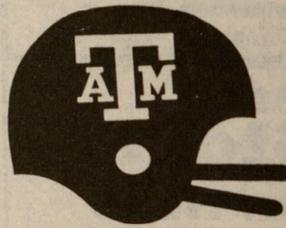

A big bounce that hurt the Aggies, the coach said, came with 5:47 left in the game when A&M faced a fourth down and three yards to go on the Tech 44 yard line.

Quarterback Craig Stump rolled right and hit Rod Harris for what appeared to be an Aggie first down. But Harris dropped the pass and Tech took over.

"If we catch that pass, then maybe we drive down the field and score," Sherrill said. "But we didn't catch the ball, ... and the game is over."

On those same lines, the sixth-year coach emphasized the Aggies' inability to convert third downs (4 of 11 on the day and 2 of 6 in the first half). Tech, on the other hand, was 7 of 8 in the first half enroute to a 24-14 lead.

The redirection, Sherrill said, must come in preparing for Houston's run-and-shoot offense, masterminded by A&M alumnus Jack Par-said. "You have to take all that we've done and throw it out. We're not going to let you hem them on the side because they'll run the ball. That's their play."

Both Southern Mississippi and Tech hampered the Aggies' aggressive defense with the draw.

"If we don't handle the draw," Sherrill said, "we're in trouble."

Three injuries in a hard-fought battle like the Tech game usually be considered an average day on the turf.

But when all three injuries are to defensive ends, with starting end Terry Price already sidelined from a practice injury (tight) spells a need for recovery, Sherrill said.

Asked what he was going to do about the situation, a straight-shooter Sherrill replied, "We're going to put out an ad for defensive ends."

Both Guy Broom and Andy Jones suffered knee injuries against Tech and are not expected back at least two weeks. Price, however, may be lost for the season, Sherrill said.

Back-up noseguard Jeff Hild, a freshman, probably will make his debut while O'Neill Gilbert (who has a bruised ankle) will handle the nose guard position.

Much like last week, Sherrill said all three quarterbacks would be playing time in the Houston game. Although freshman Buckey Richardson didn't play against Tech, the coach said he probably should have.

"We're in a situation right now where we don't have a quarterback that is way above the rest, so we play all of them," Sherrill said. "Whomever has the hot hand goes."

Switzer denies charge of OU improprieties

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer said Tuesday that published reports concerning alleged improprieties in the University of Oklahoma football program will not reveal anything new to the NCAA.

"The NCAA knows more about our program than the Dallas Morning News," Switzer said at his weekly luncheon with broadcasters and sportswriters. "I don't think they'll be surprised at anything."

Switzer answered allegations contained in a copyright story in the newspaper in Dallas on Tuesday. The newspaper said some former Oklahoma football players netted as much as $4,000 per season from complimentary tickets that were issued to them and then sold to boosters at inflated prices.

The News also said a bank that
