DA says winning 3rd Brandley trial would be difficult

GALVESTON (AP) Clarence Brandley a third time for capital murder in the 1980 death of a 16-year-old girl may be hard, Montgomery County District Attorney Peter Speers conceded Satur-

"It's obvious that, given all that's happened since the last trial, it would be extremely difficult to put together a sound case," Speers said. On Friday, retired State District

Judge Perry Pickett concluded at the end of a nine-day evidentiary hear-ing that he would recommend that the state Court of Criminal Appeals order a new trial for Brandley, who is currently on death row.

Brandley's first trial for the 1980 rape-slaying of Cheryl Fergeson ended with a jury hung 11-1 for conviction. A second trial in 1981 resulted in a conviction and death sen-

Defense attorneys have argued that Brandley, 37, was singled out for prosecution by Montgomery County officials and that racial prejudice played a role in his conviction. At the end of Friday's hearing, Pickett strongly criticized the handling of the case.

"The litany of events graphically described by the witnesses, some of it chilling and shocking, leads me to the conclusion the pervasive shadow of darkness has obscured the light of fundamental decency and human rights," Pickett said.

Speers refused to assess the prospects for a third Brandley trial, but did outline some of the obstacles that might be faced by the prosecution.

"(It would) be a problem even if the exhibits and physical evidence hadn't disappeared and even if the witnesses hadn't been messed around with to the extent they don't even remember . . . and are telling different stories," Speers said.

After Pickett's announcement Firday, Brandley smiled briefly and stood stunned by the defense table, nearly speechless when confronted by reporters.

One of his attorneys, Don Brown, was in tears while about 200 supporters — many of them wearing T-shirts and buttons proclaiming "Free Clarence Brandley" — cheered in the courtroom.

"I'm very thankful for what happened," Brandley said quietly. "I appreciate the judge. I'm very thank-

New Agent Orange bill proposed by lawmaker leaves vets skeptical

FORT WORTH (AP) - Some veterans are skeptical of a congress-man's proposed bill to force the Veterans Administration to compensate Vietnam vets who were exposed to

Agent Orange. About three dozen veterans told U.S. Rep. John Bryant that they welcome the legislation he plans to introduce this week. But at a Saturday meeting in Fort Worth, they asked Bryant what would make it any different from laws already on the books that so far have failed to help

Agent Orange, a herbicide that contains dioxin, was used to strip jungle foliage in Vietnam. Agent Orange has been blamed for a variety of serious health disorders.

'For the Veterans Administration to continue to deny compensation to veterans who were disabled by Agent Orange while fighting for their country is a national outrage," said Bryant, a Dallas Democrat and a member of the House Armed Services Committee.

Several veterans complained of being treated poorly when they mentioned Agent Orange and of being required to produce much evidence when seeking medical care.

Bryant said the comments were typical of several meetings he has held across the state last week.

More than 29,000 Vietnam veterans have filed claims with the VA for Agent Orange disabilities, but none has received compensation, Bryant

About 253,000 veterans have filed claims with the Agent Orange Set-tlement Fund, established to collect and distribute the $180 million in damages that seven manufacturers were forced to pay victims.
