Faculty Senate to discuss study facilities

The planning committee of the Faculty Senate will discuss the problem of adequate study facilities at a Faculty Senate meeting at 3 p.m. Monday in 701 Rudder. Dr. Donald Dyal, chairman of the planning committee and head of special collections at Sterling C. Evans Library, said there isn't enough adequate study space for students on campus. "We would like to see study lounges available — even empty classrooms at night," Dyal said. The Senate agenda also includes further discussion of the core curriculum and reports from standing committees. Also on the agenda, the bylaws committee is scheduled to ask outgoing chairmen of all standing committees to serve as ex-officio members to provide continuity in the committees, said Dr. Barbara Thomas, a member of the bylaws committee.
