do. You try to balance yourself up, but yet have one strong point, and that's the throwing game to set up the other. We're not there yet.

Q: Can you assess Bucky Richardson's performance to date?

A: Sure. I think he's been a guy who has a lot of confidence in his ability, which overflows to our players, because our players believe that he's going to make something happen on offense some kind of way because he has a lot of confidence. I think he has done a lot of things for us because we were searching for a guy to come to the front and be a leader. I think he has done that.

I think he is a tough individual, and I'm talking about his strengths as far as... he really believes in the "rah-rah" game, and he fires our guys up. I think he's done that for us. I think he's done everything we've asked him to do without any work to the point that we've taken the pressures of reading the coverages and all those things off of him. He's done a great job for us, and I'd have to say that he's been exceptional for us in the last three games that he's played in.

Q: Did you expect him to come along as fast as he has?

A: No... Two things we were hoping—we were hoping that a guy like Kevin Murray would be our starter, and a Lance Pavlas could be brought up gradually to the point where the pressure of the game wouldn't be on him. Secondly, we thought we could red-shirt Bucky Richardson a year so that he could have fun in school for a year, learn the ropes, gradually learn how to throw the football because he was a wishbone quarterback. Those two things were what we were hoping for.

When Murray decided to go pro and not play his last year, then all of a sudden the pressure of the game went to an 18-year-old young man named Pavlas. We tried to do some things he couldn't handle—the reading the defenses, the coverages. Then we had some injuries, and he couldn't handle those things, so we had to go to the other thing. Then Richardson came along and gave us the option guy, the second plug that we needed was a guy to run the option, and he did that for us...

Q: A few weeks ago you told me you thought Lance Pavlas was the quarterback of the future.

A: I still do... What I'm saying is he's good enough to play. And as soon as he learns that there's other people surrounding him that are going to help him, as soon as he learns how to read coverages and be relaxed in the game and throw the ball with confidence—that's 90 percent of it, throw the ball with confidence—then he's going to be a really good quarterback.

Richardson's gonna be a good quarterback because he's already got the toughness in him, now he's got to learn how to throw. So there's two different kind of guys: one can throw the ball, but he's got to have more confidence in what he's doing; the other one's got to learn how to do it. So we're fortunate that we're going to have two good ones here from now on.

Q: What about Craig Stump? He was everybody's No. 1 quarterback before the season.

A: I think the great thing about Craig is... two things. I think he's a coach on the sideline. I think Craig didn't give us the strength in the arm that we were hoping he would have, but he's a coach on the sideline. He helps our young guys. He coaches them... And I told him, "There's a lot of guys in your position that would have felt that things were not fair."

But he's an exceptional person because he wants to be a part of this club to the point that he has taken a guy like Bucky Richardson under his wing and has told him the do's and don'ts of what to expect in the game, and that's a plus for him. And I would say that without him, we'd be a step backwards. I mean that. He may not be playing a down but he's done more on the sidelines than, probably, playing because he's taken a guy like Bucky and controlled him on the sidelines after a series. And that's a great thing to say about a young guy. And he's going into coaching and I hope someday he can go to coach for me, because he's that kind of guy.

In Thursday's issue, Amedee will discuss A&M recruiting.

Rozier in alcohol rehabilitation near Houston, reports TV station

HOUSTON (AP)—Houston Oilers running back Mike Rozier is undergoing treatment after checking himself into an alcohol abuse treatment center, a Houston television station reported Tuesday.

Rozier, the 1983 Heisman Trophy winner at Nebraska and the Oilers leading ground gainer this season, was at the Orchard Creek Hospital in Rosenberg, west of Houston, television station KHOU reported.

A woman who answered the telephone at the hospital said it was against hospital policy to identify patients. She refused to identify herself and hung up. The hospital deals with patients suffering from alcoholic, chemical dependency and psychiatric difficulties.

Oilers spokesman Chip Namias said he had no comment on the broadcast report.

"He (Rozier) definitely has an injured foot. He has had an injured foot for a couple of weeks," Namias said as to why Rozier missed Sunday's 27-20 Houston loss at San Francisco.

The Oilers were off Tuesday and would resume practicing Wednesday, he said.

"Tomorrow we'll see what kind of shape he's in and how he's feeling," to determine if Rozier will play in Sunday's game at Pittsburgh, Namias said.

Rozier ranks fourth in the AFC with 417 yards rushing on 86 carries and two touchdowns.

The team announced last week that Rozier, 26, would be sidelined because of a bad foot but was expected to be ready the game at Pittsburgh.

Irish have tough schedule ahead; Aggies climb up one spot in poll

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame finds itself staring down the barrel of a season-ending schedule that could dampen the good feeling stemming from the Irish's continued climb in the Associated Press college football poll.

Notre Dame vaulted from ninth to seventh in the rankings announced Tuesday after rallying to beat Boston College 32-25 Saturday.

Texas A&M moved up a notch to 19th while Arkansas, the Aggies' opponent this Saturday in a crucial Southwest Conference game at Kyle Field, moved into the 20th spot after a three-week absence.

UCLA, Syracuse and Georgia joined the Irish in moving up two places while Oklahoma, Nebraska, Miami and Florida State again held onto the first four positions.

The Irish, 7-1, face a final three games that will test the talents of Coach Lou Holtz and top players such as All-American flanker Tim Brown.

"We've talked all season about the difficulty of these last three games against Alabama, Penn State and Miami," said Holtz. "But if you're a good football team, you should be prepared at this point in the season for teams of that caliber. It's an old cliché, but people remember what you do in November."

Holtz has deliberately kept a damper on emotional playing, despite the temptation to get charged up against tough opponents, in order to avoid a letdown before the next game.

Oklahoma's 29-10 victory over No. 12 Oklahoma State cost the Sooners the services of quarterback Jamelle Holieway and fullback Lydell Carr for the rest of the season. It did, however, earn the Sooners 36 of 60 first-place votes and 1,164 of a possible 1,200 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Nebraska, which has been second to Oklahoma in every poll this season, defeated Iowa State 42-3 and received 15 first-place ballots for 1,137 points. Last week, Oklahoma led 38-15 in first-place votes and 1,173-1,137 in points.

The other nine first-place votes and 1,111 points went to Miami of Florida, which is No. 3 for the seventh consecutive week after defeating Miami of Ohio 54-3. Last week, the Hurricanes had seven first-place votes and 1,108 points.

Oklahoma two weeks ago led Nebraska 40-13 in first-place votes and 1,176-1,134 in points. The previous week, it was 42-12 and 1,179-1,134.

Florida State, following its 34-6 rout of No. 6 Auburn, received 1,021 points. The Tigers fell to 12th place.

Louisiana State also suffered its first setback this season, losing to Alabama 22-10, and fell to 10th from fifth place.

UCLA moved up from seventh to fifth with 943 points by defeating Oregon State 52-17. Syracuse jumped from eighth to sixth with 902 points by downing Navy 34-10. Georgia rose from a 10th-place tie with Clemson to eighth with 694 points by beating Florida 23-10.

Clemson, a 13-10 winner over North Carolina, is ninth with 646 points and LSU rounds out the Top Ten with 632 points.

The Second Ten consists of Alabama, Auburn, Michigan State, South Carolina, Penn State, Indiana, Oklahoma State, Tennessee, Texas A&M and Arkansas.

Walker may start Sunday for Pokes against Patriots

IRVING (AP)—Herschel Walker could start at tailback for the Dallas Cowboys against New England on Sunday, but the first-team quarterback will still be Danny White, Coach Tom Landry said Tuesday.

Landry reiterated that he would yank White out of a game if he thought the team was playing well and the quarterback wasn't.

"If the quarterback is the only one playing poorly then you make a change," Landry said. "Danny White has a lot of courage and is tough mentally. He has overcome a lot. But I will make a change in a game if I don't see him throw better."

He said backup quarterback Steve Pelluer looks sharper in practice. "Steve looks better than this summer," Landry said. "I'm anxious to see what he can do. But I think White can still win football games for us."

Walker sputtered. Walker also played half the game at tailback.

Both players have expressed unhappiness with the way they are being used. Walker said he doesn't understand his role, and Dorsett said Landry "needs to settle on one running back to deliver the mail."

"I have to do what's best for the team and it's only natural that every runner wants to be the No. 1 tailback," Landry said. "But we have to use the talent we have."

He denied that Dorsett, who has rushed for 3 and 24 yards in his last two games, has lost a step. "Tony is not a big, strong back like Herschel and has to explode to daylight," Landry said. "Herschel can break tackles to get his yards but Tony isn't that strong."

Correction

In Tuesday's analysis (Cotton Bowl chase a four-team race) a mistake was made in tabulating A&M's chances to go to the Cotton Bowl in case of losses.

The Aggies can lose to Texas Christian and still go if they win the rest of their games and if Texas beats TCU and then loses to Baylor.

The three-way tie between A&M, Arkansas and UT would send the Aggies to the bowl since they would have beaten each of the other teams.

A&M can wrap up a Cotton Bowl berth before the game against Texas, and thus could lose to the Longhorns, if TCU and Baylor each beat UT and A&M wins its games against the Razorbacks and Horned Frogs.

In such a case, the Aggies would be in a tie with TCU and Arkansas, having beaten them both. Two of our readers called the error to our attention Tuesday, and the sports staff appreciates the correction.

The Battalion regrets the error.
